Horticultural Association Tours York, Lancaster Orchards

Richard Haas, left, shows off the cherry crop to Bill Kleiner, regional fruit extension agent, during the summer tour of the State Horticulture Association of Pennsylvania. Haas and his son Tom, who operate Cherry Hill Orchards, have one of the biggest cherry operations in the state.

NEW DANVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — Luscious sweet cherries matured this week just in time for members of the Pennsylvania Horticulture Association's tour of area orchards.

Richard Haas of Cherry Hill Orchards said that while the crop looks good, his 60 acres of cherries produced only 50 percent of the hoped-for crop.

According to most other orchard growers on tour, the cherry crops in other counties were averaging only 20 percent.

The smaller crop statewide is blamed on warm weather in March followed by cooler weather.

About 100 tour participants admired Lancaster County's Cherry Hill Orchards and Kauffman's Fruit Farm and Market on Tuesday, and on Wednesday, York County's Brown's Orchard and Farm Market, Barton's Fruit Farm, Shaw's Orchard, and Naylor Wine Cellars, Inc.

"The idea is to see how others are doing it. We are looking for ideas to take back to our own orchards," one participant said of his purpose for attending.

Haas explained how he and his son Tom, who is in partnership with him, plant and manage the orchard. In addition to 60 acres of cherries, the Haas operation includes 50 acres of apple, 50 acres of peach and nectarines, 10 acres of pears, and one each of apricot and plum. Vegetables and plots of pumpkins are also scattered throughout the orchard.

Tour participants were intrigued that pumpkins were sowed in straw, rye, barley and corn stubble after the crops were harvested.

Late Blight Diagnosed In Lancaster County

TIMOTHY ELKNER

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — On Thursday, June 15, the presence of late blight was confirmed on a potato plant from a farm in Lancaster County.

Dr. Seong Kim, a plant pathologist with the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, identified the blight as strain US8, which is resistant to metalaxyl (Ridomil). This strain of late blight will also attack tomato plants.

Farmers in Lancaster County will need to be especially vigilant both in scouting their fields for symptoms of blight as well as in

SCC Approves Proposing Rulemaking For Nutrient Management

VERNON ACHENBACH, JR.

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The State Conservation Commission (SCC) on Thursday unanimously approved for proposed rulemaking a set of regulations to carry out the state's Nutrient Management Act.

The action came during the SCC's scheduled meeting in the Rachel Carson State Office Building in Harrisburg, which serves as DER headquarters.

The proposed regulations were created after almost two years of work by the 15-member Nutrient Management Advisory Board to the SCC, and the SCC staff.

Presenting the package to the SCC were George Robinson, chairman of the Advisory Board; William Brubaker, chairman of the Board's Manure Management and Stormwater Committee; Ron Meck chairman of the Board's Financial Assistance and Administration Committee; and Mike Krempasky, executive secretary of the SCC.

Almost the entire board was present for the meeting, as were members of the standing DER Agricultural Advisory Board, a standing board to DER that is to review all considerations for regulations.

The work is heralded as a true example of the "Reg-Neg" (regulatory negotiation) approach to creating regulations.

Reg-Neg has been promoted in recent years as a way to create regulations that not only can work to achieve the intended goal, but which are crafted under direct consultation of those to be regulated.

The SCC is a Department of Environmental Resources commission created to oversee, support and administer conservation district programs.

Its nine voting members consist of the secretary of environmental resources, the secretary of agriculture, four farmers, two members of the general public, and the dean of the Penn State College of Agriculture.

Next Generation Continues Yoder's Heron Run Family Farm

GAIL STROCK
Mifflin Co. Correspondent

MCALEVY'S FORT (Huntingdon Co.) — Willard "Will" Yoder of Huntingdon County said he believes good dairying begins in the field.

"There's no substitute for good haylage. It's been proven to us over and over again," he said. "You get into poor quality haylage and try to balance the ration, (then the cows) seem to drop off some (on milk production)."

Good quality feed is just one of several important ingredients that come together at Heron Run farm in McAlevy's Fort, home to Will's family — his wife Betsy "Bets" and their four children, Nicole, 7, Janelle, 5, Joshua, 3, and Marchus, 5 months; his parents Willard Sr. and Lois; his brother Joe and his wife Lisa.

Willard Sr. retired in 1989, though still helps with field work, while brother Joe works full time and owns 20 cows in a joint venture with Will. Joe and Lisa milk every other weekend when Will and Bets take Sunday off.

Additionally, the farm employs a full-time worker and one part-time worker.

The farm currently milks 145 registered Holsteins twice per day, on a 4:30 a.m./4 p.m. schedule in a double-six parlor with automatic take-offs. It takes them an average of three hours to milk. The cows are kept in freestalls and spend a lot of time on slotted concrete.

According to the farm's end-of-year 1994 report from the Pennsylvania Dairy Herd Improvement Association (Pa.DHIA), Heron Run averaged 19,755 pounds of milk, 755 pounds of butterfat, and 628 pounds of protein, on 183 cows.

In addition to good quality forages, good breeding principles, and starting calves right, are also key factors at the Yoder farm.

The result has been longevity — both for the cows and the farm.

Will said he credits his father for implementing a good breeding program.

"There's no question I learned about farming from my Dad. I give Dad credit for the quality cows he originally bred. We had a good herd to start from," Will said.

T-Shirts Promote Beef At Ballpark

ANDY ANDREWS

READING (Berks Co.) — In front of a near-capacity crowd, Roxanne Kirst, Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Queen, delivered the first pitch at the start of the Reading Phillies game against the New Haven Ravens on Monday evening.

She also got to keep a ball, autographed by all the R-Phils, a minor league team of the Philadelphia Phillies, which they presented to her.

Roxanne, together with Tammy Balthaser, representative for the Pennsylvania Beef Council, handed out about 2,000 T-shirts to about 5,000 who attended the game.

The T-shirts were adorned with logos from the Beef Council, the Berks Southeast Cattlemen's Association, and the Berks Farm City Counil, in addition to the farm team logos of the Philadelphia Phillies.

Balthaser said the promotional efforts provide a "great opportunity" to promote beef.

The Beef Council also provided

Delmarva Broiler

JUNE 22, 1995

Percent of ready-to-cook whole birds was light to fair. Seller offerings were adequate to fully adequate and in the closer balance on 3 pound and smaller sizes. Live supplies were mostly moderate; weights were desirable to heavy. Processing schedules were very heavy. Less than trucklot asking prices were unchanged at 56 to 67 cents. Trade sentiment was steady. In the parts complex, bone-in breasts were in tight supply. Wings were adequate and generally cleared well. Boneless-skinless breasts and leg quarters were fully adequate.

National Egg Market

ATLANTA, GA

JUNE 22, 1995

Prices were unchanged to higher in the Northeast and Midwest, unchanged elsewhere. The market tone was steady to firm, strongest on the large sizes. Demand remained mixed, mostly moderate, and retail specials sometimes enhanced cartoned egg movement Supplies of the large sizes were tight to adequate, and light weight eggs were at least adequate. Breaking stock supplies were adequate for the mostly moderate demand, and prices continued to trend higher. Light type hen offerings were at least adequate for the light demand.

TIPS TO IMPROVE EGGSHELL QUALITY...

Dr Milton Scott
Nutritional Consultant

"Let's get specific"

Check specific gravity of eggs on a regular basis to monitor shell quality The percent "floaters" and "eggs in transition" in a room temperature solution of 1.08 sp gr is a good bench mark

A 10 gal. bucket, a hydrometer, and an individual egg scale is all the equipment you need Used with breeder guidelines, this test can help you fine-tune the level of oyster shell needed at each stage in the laying cycle

For details on sp. gr. tests and the use of oyster shells, contact The Fox Co., PO Box 708, Newfield, NJ 08344. FAX 609/697-1692, Phone 800/257-7022

National Grain Market

ST. JOSEPH, MO
JUNE 21, 1995

Wheat bids rebounded as export demand improved. Corn bids jumped slightly higher due to strong wheat demand and indications that Russia may be back in the market soon for US grain. Soybean bids were slightly lower on scattered Midwest rains reported overnight. Wheat 6 to 10 cents higher except Portland 20 to 24 cents lower. Corn 1 to 3 cents higher. Sorghum 2 to 4 cents higher. Soybeans 1 to 5 cents lower except Kansas City 1 to 2 cents higher. Sharp advances in wheat pits were due to overnight purchases from Africa and Egypt. Indications China may also tender soon for US wheat, underpinned bids. Fund buying pushed futures to new highs late in the day. Portland wheat fell lower, however, as nearby export needs this week have been filled. Spillover strength from wheat pushed corn bids upward. Some rain fell in the Corn Belt areas overnight but were scattered and most places remain a dry. This has been a good week for export corn demand. Soybean bids were slightly lower as unexpected rains in southern and central Illinois overnight were reported heavy. However, forecasts now call for less than expected moisture the rest of the week which limited gains.

The OLD FARMER'S THIS WEEK WITH ALMANAC

CANADA DAY, JULY 1.

DOMINION DAY IN CANADA

Called variously Canada Day, Dominion Day, or Confederation Day, July 1 in Canada celebrates the date in 1867 when the provinces to our north were united in Dominion The Maritime Provinces were initially reluctant to join, hoping to unite among themselves, but Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island were convinced early on. (Newfoundland held her ground until 1948, then joined.) It took until 1931 before Canada was proclaimed a self-governing Dominion within the British Empire. As recently as 1982, Canada took a final step toward its independence by securing the right to amend its constitution.

The course of true anything never did run smooth.

TIP OF THE WEEK

FRESH PEA SOUP

4 cups shelled peas (about 4 pounds fresh unshelled, peas)
4 cups water
1 teaspoon sugar
salt and pepper to taste
1/2 cup dry, white wine (optional)
4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour

Cook the peas in the water and sugar for 30 minutes. Blend, or press through a sieve. Season with salt and pepper, and add wine if desired Melt the butter in a small saucepan and gradually stir in the flour. Add a cup of the soup to the butter and flour; mix well, then combine this with the rest of the soup. Heat gently, stirring often, until thickened.

Makes 4 servings.

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

If the first of July be rainy weather, 'Twill rain more or less for four weeks together.

Rain on St. Mary's Day (July 2) means rain for a month.

Thunder curdles cream; lightning sours milk.

The AGCO Allis 4600 Series offers more versatility, more features, and less maintenance. Go from field work to haying, and save time and operating costs to boot. Because the 4600's are the most advanced chore tractors in farming today. At 40 and 52 PTO hp, they have state-of-the-art features like synchronized transmissions, all-wheel drive, wet disc brakes, and convenient controls that add to your productivity. The advanced air-cooled diesel eliminates 40% of the parts that cause engine downtime, for longer life, hassle-free maintenance and lower operating costs. And the 4600's are backed by a strong AGCO warranty – four years or 4,000 hours as standard. See your local AGCO Allis dealer today, and ask about flexible Agricredit financing. OPINION

National TV Commercials Dairy Promotion Milestone

The dairy promotion industry is maturing.

After viewing the series of dairy promotion commercials that are to be part of a national television milk promotion advertising campaign starting September, our opinion is that this should significantly benefit the industry through increased milk sales.

If nothing else, it moves the dairy promotion industry out of the amateur ranks and into true competition with the marketing of all other beverages and foods in the United State.

Thanks in large part to the efforts of the farmer-leaders and dairy promotion industry leaders who pushed to get greater cooperation in the spending of dairy promotion dollars, the industry has stepped up onto a plateau that it has long been climbing to reach — a single national message that makes sense to the non-farmer.

From our perspective, the growth of the dairy promotion industry has been healthy.

We trace the development of the dairy promotion industry in sort of the way a new plant variety might be established:

- the original grass roots efforts have some effect (noticing the potential in wild plants);
- the effort to establish a producer-supported generic dairy advertising funding base is approved and reinforced (establishing a climate for growth for a potential new plant);
- the additional startup of local programs and those within certain federal milk marketing orders (allowing as many varieties within the species to grow);
- competition between programs to attract greater support of dairy promotion dollars (the selection process to further establish the direction of the development of the plant);
- and, finally, the widespread distribution of a focused message (marketing the seed of the new variety).

Just as the harvest of a new plant variety depends on the inherent characteristics of the original stock and how well the entire development process has been carried out, the credit for the advent of this singular national message goes to all who have been involved in dairy promotion and its growth.

And just as a continued desirability of a plant species depends on continuing all the above processes, dairy promotion efforts can't afford to let up. This may well be a tough act to follow, but it must be followed.

Understandably, it shouldn't be necessary to recreate the intensity of the early development stages in dairy promotion, though intense attention must be paid to every step.

The establishment of the Dairy Management Inc. (DMI) by the the National Dairy Promotion and Research Board and the United Dairy Industry Association to jointly achieve national access to higher quality marketing and promotional programs, and the common sense and willingness of those within the dairy promotion industry to put aside personal differences, has resulted in a greater return on the producer promotion dollars.

Further, the California Milk Processors Association (CMPA) which was the agency that originally purchased, approved and sponsored the commercial series, is to be commended.

To Learn About Marketing

Marketing continues to be the key to farm profits. The president of the company I worked for always said "You do not make a profit until the product is sold."

As agriculture matures as an industry, farmers must assume more responsibility for marketing. It is the farmer's responsibility to make sure he has a market and profitable price for his product before he produces it.

It is not the government's, Penn State's, or someone else's responsibility to find markets for farm products. As we continue to consolidate farms, the farmers who remain in business must develop a business mentality. This includes managing people, money, and resources. Also, farmers need to make an investment in reading, attending meetings, and in their continuing education.

Farmers must take a more active part in marketing and investing in research and development for new products. The recent NAFTA and GATT treaties have created a new world marketing game. We need to explore creating new demand for our commodities by creating new products and developing international trade. Thus, the farmer needs to be more active in marketing because he has the most at risk and the most to gain.

To Never Trust A Bull

When working around bulls, you need to be very careful. They are animals you cannot trust regardless of their age. Here are some concepts to keep in mind.

Never underestimate a bull's strength. Expect sudden temper changes. Use a nose ring. Use extreme caution if a bull is near cows or heifers.

Never turn your back on a bull. Always have a planned escape route. Two people should handle mature bulls. Get rid of a bull the first time it acts aggressively. A mean streak rarely goes away.

If you use a bull for cleanup service, try a beef breed, which tend to be more docile. Never tie a bull with just a rope on the bull ring. If he becomes frighten, he may break the ring or tear it out of his nose. Hanging a short chain on the nose ring may help in catching the bull and may make him less likely to charge.

To Handle Animals Properly

A basic understanding of animal behavior may help farmers handle cattle more safely.

Beef and dairy cattle generally are color blind and have poor depth perception, making them extremely sensitive to contrasts. A shadow across a walkway may look like a deep hole to the animal. This is why cattle often hesitate when passing through unfamiliar gates, barn doors, or chutes.

Farm animals have difficulty moving from dark places to brightly lighted places and vice versa. Give animals time to adjust from one light situation to another. Rushing them will cause them to balk.

Cattle have good hearing and will try to move away from the direction or source of unfamiliar or unpleasant noise. They are calmest when surrounded by familiar sounds. Animals draw on past experiences when reacting to a situation. So animals that are chased, slapped, kicked, hit, or mistreated will have a sense of fear around humans.

Anyone who owns livestock should use a restraining chute to handle animals at close range to reduce risk of injury.

WHAT DO YOU DO WITH GOOD NEWS?
June 25, 1995

WHAT DO YOU DO WITH GOOD NEWS?
June 25, 1995

Background Scripture:
2 Kings 6:24 to 7:20
Devotional Reading:
I Thessalonians 5:8-18

This is an interesting, if somewhat puzzling story. When King Benhadad and the entire Syrian army besiege Samaria the northern capital of Israel, a terrible famine falls upon the land. The King of Israel learns that some of his people have been reduced to cannibalism and for some unapparent reason he blames the prophet Elisha for this calamity — "May God do so to me, and more also, if the head of Elisha the son of Shaphat remains on his shoulders today" (6:33) — even though the prophet and the king have been on good terms.

When a messenger from the king arrives to inform Elisha, the prophet also reacts with surprising vehemence: "Do you see how this murderer (the king) has sent to take off my head?" (6:32). But, by the time the king arrives at Elisha's house, the king realizes that the Lord is responsible for the calamities. "This trouble is from the Lord!" He proclaims to Elisha. "Why should I wait for the Lord any longer?"

DOUBTING THE GOOD NEWS

But the prophet counsels patience and prophesies an end to the famine by the next day (7:1,2). One of the king's most trusted captains scoffs: "If the Lord himself should make windows in heaven, could this thing be?" (7:2). One of the problems with good news is the reluctance of people to believe it. We become so conditioned to bad news — TV, newspapers, magazines — that we resist believing good news, including the best news of all, the gospel.

The story shifts abruptly to the gate of Samaria and four lepers. Starving, they decide to throw themselves on the mercy of the Syrians. But, arriving at the Syrian camp, they find it utterly deserted. The writer of 2 Kings explans that the Lord had tricked the Syrians into thinking they heard sounds of a great army coming out against them.

The four lepers seize the opportunity and begin to loot the deserted camp of food, drink, silver, gold and clothing. But, after they have hidden their loot, they realize that, although they as lepers are shunned by their fellow Israelites, they nevertheless must go back and share with them the good news: "We are not doing right. This day is a day of good news; if we are silent and wait until the morning light, punishment will overtake us; now therefore come, let us go and tell the king's household" (7:9).

SHARING GOOD NEWS

Once again we can see how doubt and cynicism get in the way of faith. Going to the court of the king they share their good news, but the king, suspecting a Syrian trap, refuses to accept this confirmation of Elisha's prophecy. Only when a reconnaissance party returns confirming the good news do the king and his people go out to see for themselves.

You and I care little about the invasion and flight of the Syrian army. What was good news to the people of Israel is to us just a footnote in Biblical history. But, we can apply the principle concerns of this story to our own lives. We have a good news that is infinitely better than the good news the four lepers brought Israel. Like them, because of our conditioning with hourly bad news, it is often difficult for us to believe the good news of Jesus Christ.

And, like the four lepers of old, we must realize that the only thing we can do with good news is to share it. That's what being a Christian is all about — living and sharing the good news of God's redeeming love revealed in Jesus Christ.

OK City Feeder Cattle

OKLAHOMA CITY, OK
JUNE 21, 1995

Compared to last Monday: Feeder cattle steady to 2.00 lower, with heifers and over 850 lb steers at greatest declines. Feeder market opened 1.00-2.00 lower and improved toward steady as the market progressed. Demand turned very good by 1:00 P.M. Monday's increase in corn futures is thought to be caused by China's entry to the corn market over the weekend. This had an adverse affect on opening feeder cattle futures. However, feeder futures and the live market fought back to near steady as COF report's high May placements left questions as to how many yearling feeders will be available this summer. Steer and heifer calves 2.00-3.00 lower in a light test; farmers busy themselves with harvest and have little interest in receiving calves at this time. Feeder flesh condition rather attractive to buyers with most in slightly thin to medium flesh. Weigh conditions average to many full and similiar to past two weeks. Quality plain thru attractive, mostly plain to average. Slaughter cows firm to 1.00 higher. Slaughter bulls steady to 1.00 lower. Slaughter demand remains good with northern buyers continuing to dominate the market. Total of 370 cows and bulls sold with 65 percent to packers.

Receipts this week 12,400; last week 9,544; last year 7,892.

Supply included 84 percent yearlings over 600 lbs; 13 percent calves under 600 lbs; 3 percent cows and bulls.

Feeder Steers: Medium and Large 1 few 400-450 lbs (422 lbs) 79.00-82.00 (80.80); few 450-500 lbs (462 lbs) 73.50-81.50 (80.05); 500-600 lbs (550 lbs) 70.50-75.50 (73.25); 600-700 lbs (650 lbs) 68.00-74.00 (70.96); 700-750 lbs (724 lbs) 66.00-69.75 (68.17); 750-800 lbs (772 lbs) 64.25-68.75 (66.47); 800-850 lbs (826 lbs) 63.25-67.75 (65.23); 850-900 lbs (872 lbs) 61.50-64.50 (63.39); 900-950 lbs (921 lbs) 60.00-63.50 (61.61); 950-1000 lbs (975 lbs) 58.25-61.50 (60.73); 1005 lbs 57.00.

Scholarship Winners Announced

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.)—The Lancaster County Chapter of the Penn State Alumni Association has announced that it has awarded Pennsylvania State University scholarships to four Lancaster County high school seniors.

The 1995 scholarship recipients were Phillip Bower, Manheim High School; Andrew Brown, Penn Manor High School; Kerry Frey, Cocalico High School; and Anastasia Mitchell, Garden Spot High School.

Phillip, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bower, Manheim, ranked third in his graduating class. He plans to enroll in geo-environmental engineering.

Andrew, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Brown, Conestoga, ranked second in his graduating class. He plans to enroll in the engineering department.

Kerry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Frey, Adamstown, ranked first in her graduating class. She plans to enroll as a communication disorders major.

Anastasia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Mitchell, Narvon, ranked first in her graduating class. She plans to enroll in the engineering department.

Emu Growout Facility

BLOOMSBURG (Columbia Co.) — Preliminary plans are under way here at Longview Emu Farm, to begin the construction of a 250-bird unit growout facility.

Longview Emu Farm, owned and operated by David and Joanne Long, has been breeding emu for more than two years, and is now in a position for a transition to the commercial market.

In addition to Longview produced emu, they will begin taking contracts from private emu farms to grow out chicks to commercial age. Approximately 95 acres will be set aside for use as growout areas, with initial set up utilizing about 25 acres. Growout contracts will be on a first-come, first-served basis. Emu must be a minimum of 60 days old and must have current inoculations.

The emu is now being raised nationwide in the U.S. as well as in Canada, France, U.K., Spain and other parts of the world. The American Emu Association has more than 6,000 members in 48 states involved in the emu industry. By-products of the emu include a red meat similar to beef, oil rendered from fat being used in cosmetic products with research under way for medicinal applications, hide used for leather, and egg shells and feathers used for crafts and jewelry items.

For contract details or information on emu farming, call (717) 437-9185.

Plastic Flooring

Sanitation - Constructed of solid plastic material. Some plastic floors are foamed. As these floors wear down their micro air pockets fill with bacteria which make the floor difficult, if not impossible to disinfect. This flooring features a triangle underside design which diminishes the need for high pressure washing from below to completely clean, as the floor can be cleaned sufficiently from above.

Outstanding Traction - Unique "High-low" finger design provides traction for pigs of all sizes, while enhancing safety and comfort.

Next Generation Continues

"We bought some 5- and 6-year-olds from Dad that are now 12-, 13- and 14-years-old. I think that's why we have heifers to sell. The cows just stay in the herd."

Will and brother Joe make the breeding selections now. For their heifers, they breed artificially once. Those that don't settle are run with a cleanup bull. The selections are based on durability and longevity.

"I like good quality cows. We breed for feet and legs, a cow that will last," Will said, adding with a laugh that, "Of course we breed for the Excellent cow."

Will said that while good quality cows are important to the success of creating and sustaining a profitably milking herd, and other aspects of good dairying — such as herd health and reproduction — are important, the most important to him is good feed.

"Everything starts with that," he said. "I'm real picky about making good quality forage. I might as well be. You spend a lot of money putting it out, and it's in the field and can be made."

Additionally, he said he thinks there's a difference between the quality of the nutrients provided through well-grown forages and those provided through supplements.

"I always felt you can't get as much milk out of bought proteins and minerals as you can out of good quality forage," he said.

Altogether, they raise 240 acres of corn, 40 acres of small grain, and 180 acres of alfalfa.

On the alfalfa, Will said he makes the first cutting during the bud stage, and after that, every 30 days.

About three-fourths of the haylage goes into two of the farm's four silos, and the rest is baled. Last year, they round-baled a lot of hay, but Will said it wasn't a typical year.

Will Yoder checks the quality of his TMR.

At the time, the herd's diet consisted of 25 pounds of haylage, 22 pounds of corn silage, cottonseed, high moisture corn and a supplement.

He currently feeds 80 pounds per day in the bunk feeder, and because he is not set up to group cows, in February 1989 he installed five computerized feeding stations. In 1991, a silo was taken down to make room for a feed mixer to make a totally mixed ration (TMR).

"I just like the idea of top dressing the higher producers," he said. "I'm glad I put the computer in first, otherwise I wouldn't have (purchased it.)

"Before, with just the computer, it didn't balance (the ration in) the bunk. The (TMR and computerized feeder) work well together."

While Will emphasized the importance of a strong feeding program, Bets priority is with raising calves. She said she believes that some new "calf condos" that were tried on the farm have been having a good effect.

"I like good healthy calves," Bets said. "Fresh air and sunshine, you just can't beat it. I haven't had a whole lot of problems since we put in the condo.

"I can get calves on grain quicker and just grow a lot better than being kept in the barn," she said, adding that it has other benefits too.

"It's the easiest way to feed calves. The children help and can play out there," she said.

The condos are three long hutches with seven individual calf pens per hutch. Bets keeps the calves there for three months feeding starter, and weans them to corn silage with soybeans and minerals after four months.

Their first condo was constructed and used in September last year, with the other two added in December.

The extra calf-raising space has also helped the farm attempt to diversify its production. After raising five Holstein steers last year, the Yoders said they plan to raise all their bull calves this year by putting them through the Tend-R-Lean feeding program and selling the lean and consistently high quality meat.

Like most other farms, the Yoders have had to work through ups and downs to find a balance on the farm.

"I believe we've been blessed," Will said. "We enjoy farming. I think it's a good way of life.

"We've been blessed wtih a good herd of cows, and for the hills we have, we have good soils and crops.

"One goal of mine is to have a 22,000- to 23,000-pound herd average with a few home-bred Excellent cows. Of course we'd all like to see higher milk prices.

"I just want to keep the family interested in farming, not bog them down with work. I want them to enjoy it."

"We try to keep it simple," Bets added. "I like it. I like the idea of raising my children on a farm. I teaches responsibility and caring for animals."

They both said they were very thankful for their entire family.

"We wouldn't be here if it weren't for both families," Bets said, referring to Joe and Lisa, "for the cows and moral support."

Talking in the farmhouse kitchen about the future, Will said, "Who knows what that holds!

"Some question whether the family farm will last or not. I don't see why it won't last."

Then, as if to prove his father's point, Joshua started making a tractor noise while playing on the living room carpet with his farm toys, practicing his plowing.

Will Yoder shows his feed preparation setup consisting of a computerized feeding system combined with a totally mixed ration (TMR) system.

Grazing Gazette

College of Agricultural Sciences in cooperation with USDA/ARS

TIMOTHY FRITZ
Extension Agent

The hectic season of pasture management should now be about over for most graziers. The spring growth explosion is behind up and hopefully excess paddocks were timely harvested for high quality winter forage or for supplemental forage to be fed during times of slow growth. Most pastures should have also been clipped at least once to remove any old growth or pasture weeds. (My definition of a pasture weed is any plant that is not normally grazed. Consequently, dandelions and many other field crop weeds are not pasture weeds.)

Management of pasture should now be shifting from attemptin to keep up with growth to slowing down the rotation to avoid overgrazing. Remember, the basics of good management of intensive grazing is to have the cows enter a paddock when it is around 8 inches (6 inches for sheep) in average height. Typical rest times for cool season grasses will vary from around 18 to 40 days depending on temperature and moisture conditions. Of course the drier the conditions, the longer the rest period. A good grazier has a sense for how fast the pasture is growing and when conditions begin to change. This sense of pasture growth is acquired over time by regular walks through the paddocks and experience. Observation from a tractor, pickup or 4 wheeler is not good enough unless you get off of it! You may also have to get on your hands and knees occasionally to really see what's happening in the paddock.

If the current paddocks in use are slowing to a point where 8 inches of growth will not be achieved, you have 3 basic options.

1) Add more paddocks to your system if available.

2) Increase forage supplementation to slow down the rotation.

3) Reduce the number of animal units.

Depending on your specific situation one or more of the above adjustments should be done before the paddocks start getting light. Grazing paddocks before they are already for harvest is like harvesting corn silage before the corn has tasseled. By slowing down the rotation, pasture yield will be increased dramatically. Remember, grass that is short grows very slowly compared to grass that is 4 inches or so tall and just kicking into gear. Don't harvest your paddocks before they have reached their full potential. On the other hand, don't rest them too long in that pasture quality goes down resulting in lower production. Harvest excess paddocks early before you would normally make hay so that they can be returned into the pasture system as needed if pasture growth slows down even further.

Flexibility and forward thinking is required to achieve good summer pasture yeilds and quality. Follow the basic rules of 1st group in at 8 inches (sheep 6 inches). Last group out when pasture is 2 to 3 inches and before grazing of regrowth occurs. By following proper rest and good grazing management, your pastures should produce high quality forage all summer long; where as, poorly managed pastures will be struggling to stay green.

Hickory Hill Farm Back In Dairy Business

LOIS SZYMANSKI
Maryland Correspondent

UPPERCO, Md. — Hickory Hill Farm, Inc. of Upperco, Maryland, is back in business! The milk business that is! The farm went out of the dairy business in 1986 with the dairy termination program, but on April 23 of this year they were back with a 250 head herd of cattle purchased from Delaware's Middessa Farms.

Owned by brothers, Wayne, Frank and John Armacost, sister Carol and mom Ellen, the farm has been in the Armacost family for six generations — over 200 years. "Our farm's original land grant was from the King of England and was made out to Christophel Armacost," says Wayne Armacost. With 375 acres on the family farm, they also farm an additional rented 75 acres, but the crops they raise, (240 acres of corn and 85 acres of soybeans) are strictly for the use of their own cattle. Mr. Armacost stresses that they are focusing on milk production now, not crop farming.

"About 45 percent of our cattle are registered," said Armacost, indicating the Holsteins at rest in the 140-foot by 490-foot barn. All are equipped with transponders to track milk production by computer, and pedometers to track activity and heat cycles for optimum breeding times. There is a 50-foot by 50-foot office and tank room set-up next to the barn and several exercise lots for the cattle. The concrete floors in the barn are hosed regularly, making for a clean and efficient set-up.

"Although my brother (John) does some machine and equipment repairs, we really are not diversifying," says Wayne Armacost of the farm's goals. "Our main focus at this point is on producing milk. We want to get the herd size back up to about 400 head," he says.

Cows will be artificially inseminated at Hickory Hill Farm. Then, in a special deal, calves born on Hickory Hills Farm will go back to Middessa Farms to be raised before coming home to Hickory Hill Farm again at milking age.

"When we decided to go back into the dairy business, we updated our barns with all new Westphalia milkers (with automatic take-offs)," Armacost says. The milking area is equipped with a Westfalia double 12 parallel, expandable to 16.

Currently, the Armacosts milk 240 cows, twice a day. They feed a total mixed ration that consists of corn silage, hominy, soybean meal, cottonseed, dried brewers, and minerals.

Help on the farm includes Wayne Armacost's immediate family: wife - Pepper, and chil-

Quality Hog Genetics Spell 'Champion' For Lancaster FFA'ers

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — Melissa Becker considers herself "lucky enough to pick the right pig" at a sale held this year by Frank Feeser.

This is the first supreme market FFA champion for Melissa, 17, daughter of Nancy and Marlin Becker, Manheim. The Manheim FFA'er showed her 256-pound Hamp/Duroc gilt cross from the heavyweight division.

Melissa said she knew it was a good pig, but was surprised when it garnered her a supreme champion trophy. Melissa, who brought a total of six hogs to the FFA show, plans to show at the Manheim and the state farm shows.

Shannon Horst, 17, son of Harvey and Marlene Horst, Narvon, showed his 238-pound medium weight champion hog, a York cross gilt, to reserve championship. This is the first time Shannon has won at the FFA Hog Show. The Grassland FFA member and state FFA chaplain brought two hogs to the contest. He said he'll be showing at several county fairs and the Farm Show.

"We had some quality breeding," said Shannon. "It really helps out a lot." He said they obtained good genetics using their own gilts and purchased commercial semen, "some really good stuff," he said, to obtain a champion hog.

At the evening sale, Hatfield Quality Meats, represented by Kenton Good, purchased Melissa's supreme market champion for $2.35 a pound, for a total of $601.60.

Kurtis Good, representing Hatfield, purchased Shannon's reserve champion for $2.20 a pound, for a total of $523.60.

Champion junior showman award went to Mike O'Handly, Penn Manor FFA. Mike, 16, is the son of Mark and Marlene O'Handly, Pequea.

Champion senior showman went to Jay Hess, Penn Manor FFA. Jay, 20, is the son of Abe and Janie Hess, Conestoga.

At the sale, there were a total of 10 registered buyers for the sale. Seven purchasers paid an average of 76 cents a pound with champions; without, 68 cents a pound.

Judge for the show was Greg Musser. There were a total of 40 hogs and 12 exhibitors. Following is a list of show placings.

Sticklin Completes Training

DAVID BIGELOW
Training Coordinator

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Enthusiastic, cheerful and hardworking are three adjectives that can best be used to describe Linda Sticklin, a 14-year employee of Pa. DHIA.

Currently Linda is responsible for servicing a 29 herd circuit which includes the counties of Tioga, Bradford and the state of New York.

Along with the responsibilities of a technician, Linda also assists Diane McIlwain, region manager. These duties include training and promoting Pa. DHIA in northeast Pennsylvania and New York.

Recently Linda completed the Westfalia Systemat training course, which was held at State College. Satisfactorily completing the training course gives Linda even more flexibility in her training duties.

One thing Linda said she enjoys most about her job is meeting people. While growing up she had the opportunity to work at a gas station pumping gas. This allowed Linda to meet many people.

Linda Sticklin

Upon graduation from Wellsboro Senior High School, Linda became deeply involved in the agricultural industry. Along with working for Pa. DHIA, Linda has been a partner in a family-run dairy for 28 years.

Some hobbies that Linda said she enjoys are bowling, bingo, gardening and just simply meeting people.

Linda is a member of the First Methodist Church, Grange and the Bowling Association.

Pa. DHIA is proud to have such a dedicated person working as part of their team. We would like to take this opportunity to thank Linda for her assistance in many past projects. We look forward to working together, even more in the future.

Please feel free to contact Pa. DHIA at 1-800-344-8378, if we can be of any assistance with your dairy operation.

Average Farm Feed Costs For Handy Reference

To help farmers across the state to have handy reference of commodity input costs in their feeding operations for DHIA record sheets or to develop livestock feed cost data, here's last week's average costs of various ingredients as compiled from regional reports across the state of Pennsylvania. Remember these are averages so you will need to adjust your figures up or down according to your location and the quality of your crop.

Pa.DHIA Promotes Mayes

DAVID BIGELOW
Training Coordinator

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The Pennsylvania Dairy Herd Improvement Association is pleased to announce that Randy Mayes of Burnham, now holds the position of help desk operator.

In this position, Randy is responsible for answering computer problem questions, oversee the computer repairs and keep an inventory on the computers.

Randy comes to us from the Mifflin County area where he served as a field technician for 18 years. He was responsible for maintaining a 30-herd circuit, which equaled 1,700 cows.

Upon graduation from Chief Logan High School in Burnham, Randy worked on a dairy farm for one year and became a DHIA technician.

Randy Mayes

Randy is an active member of the First United Methodist Church of Burnham, a member of the Blue Rock Sportsmen's Club and a member of the Boy Scout Association.

In the past, he has been a recipient of the Merit Award at Pa. DHIA. Some of the activities that Randy enjoys are playing church league softball, hunting and fishing.

When asked what he enjoys most about working at the help desk, Randy quickly responded that he enjoys working with people. The idea of just helping somebody through a problem sends a good feeling through one's body, Randy said.

Randy and his wife, Gail, have two children, Justin and Brandy.

Hickory Hill Farm

dren - Wayne II, (age 16) and Page, (age 14), as well as three part-time college students. On June 6, a herdsman from the University of Wisconsin joined the Hickory Hill Farm family.

Many plaques and awards grace the office walls at Hickory Hill Farm, some from the Holstein Friesian Association of America. Others from the Maryland Coop Milk Producers, including a Silver Quality award. These are reminders of the success Hickory Hill Farm had before they went out of the dairy business. Now that they are back in business, Wayne Armacost says that his family hopes to do it again.

"We believe there will continue to be a dairy business," he says confidently. People will continue to drink milk. When deciding what to do with the barns, we researched our options, then we decided to milk cows again. The dairy industry has had its problems over the years, but I think it still has just as much stability as any other business."

Armacost says that his faith is in the Lord. "I always think of a passage in Zachariah," he said, "that says 'Not by power, not by might, but by my spirit, sayeth the Lord'. That's what we are holding onto," he says. "All things are guided and directed by the Lord," he says confidently.

Just before leaving his office to direct a concrete truck about to pour a new section of floor, Mr. Armacost glances at the television screen that looks out over his milking area.

It is sparkling clean and ready for the 4 p.m. milking. Outside, two part-time college students fork piles of feed to the cattle. In the distance, the hum of a tractor can be heard on a hillside. The scene is peaceful . . . idyllic. Hickory Hills Farm is humming too, with the activity that comes with new life, and the production of milk!

of pumpkins and every patch is different," Haas said.

Haas said that while the pumpkin patches at this stage look a mess, the method works quite well, especially in the straw fields. It keeps the patches from being muddy and makes the pumpkins easier to harvest.

Tour members were eager to learn how others handle problems such as theft at pick-your-own orchards.

Haas said that several years ago, his orchard had a problem with theft. After endorsing a rule that all vehicle trunks must be opened, about five persons were arrested and that seem to cure the problem ever since then.

The best control for birds, Haas said, is to have lots of cherries so they can eat half of them.

Kauffman's Fruit Farm and Market, owned by the Ken Kauffman family, grow 85 acres of apples, 35 of peaches, and several acres of cherries, plums, and pears.

Kleiner said that the big difference between Lancaster orchards and those in many others counties is that a large market exists. Some counties have many orchards but few potential customers.

Brown's Orchard and Farm Market owned by Stan and Nona Brown and Scott and Brenda Brown, has expanded from 38 acres in 1948 to its present 180 acres.

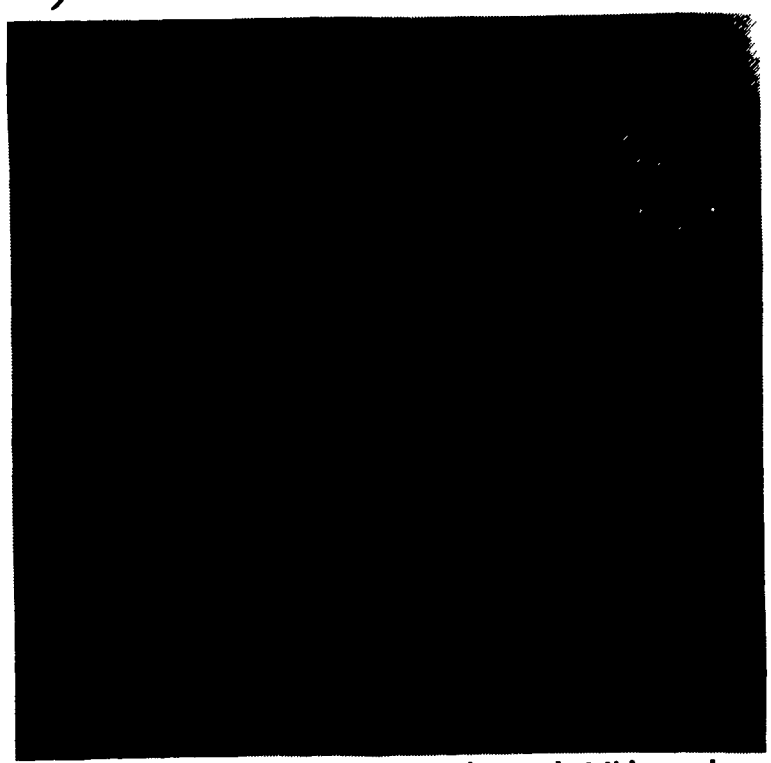
Naylor Wine Cellers, Inc. offered a different perspective for fruit growers. Richard Naylor uses 27 acres of vineyards for its wine production.

Shaw's Orchard, owned by Glenn and Mary Sue Shaw, grow strawberries, cherries, plums, and pears for the retail market and apples, peaches, and nectarines are mostly sold wholesale.

The Horticulture Association holds an annual summer orchard tour, but this is the first time in 10 years that it has included Lancaster and York counties. Tour planners select progressive orchards located not only in Pennsylvania but also other states.

About 100 persons participated in the summer orchard tour of the State Horticultural Association of Pennsylvania, which toured orchards in Lancaster and York coutles on Tuesday and Wednesday.



Mayfire nectarines also went on the market this week.

applying protective fungicides to their crops. Farmers throughout the region also need to be alert as there are suspected cases of late blight in other Pennsylvania counties as well as confirmed cases in Virginia and New Jersey.

The following are some general recommendations for prevention and/or control of late blight:

• Good spray coverage of the plant is essential. Some of the recommended protectant fungicides have no systemic action. As a result, any uncovered areas of foliage are susceptible to infection.

• During cool, damp weather, use the minimum spray intervals recommended on the fungicide labels. During hot, dry weather, the spray applications can be spread to the maximum spray intervals, as this type of weather does not favor blight development.

• When using overhead irrigation, the best time to run the system is during the middle of the day. Allow the dew to dry from the leaves in the morning before starting the system and shut the system off early enough so that the foliage has time to dry completely before nightfall. Blight infection requires a period of continuous wetting and these periods of drying should help reduce infection.

Growers of potatoes and tomatoes need to be very consistent in scouting their fields for signs of late blight infection. Since the spores can travel 20 miles or more on the wind, a blighted field does not need to be in the immediate area for infection to occur.

Symptoms of late blight can occur on leaves, petioles, and stems. The disease will also occur throughout the growing season whenever cool, humid, and rainy weather occurs.

Infections will first show up as a brownish-black spot that will expand rapidly under ideal conditions. On leaves there will frequently be a light green area at the margin between the dead tissue near the center of the lesion and the normal green tissue of the rest of the leaf. The presence of this light green area indicates active fungal growth.

An examination of the underside of an infected leaf during a period of active late blight development may actually show the fungus. It will appear as a characteristic faint white downy growth at the margin between the dead and living tissue. The presence of the lesions together with the faint white downy fungus on the undersides of the leaves is diagnostic of late blight. These same symptoms will occur on both potatoes and tomatoes.

Information on the occurrence and management of late blight can be obtained from the integrated pest management hotline at Penn State. The number is (800) 736-6476 (800-PENN-IPM).

Additional information and specific spray recommendations can be obtained from county extension agents, professional grower associations, and the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture Plant Industry Labs (717) 787-5609.

Junior Livestock Shows, Sales — The Youth, Adults, General Public

Many leaders and members of the agricultural community gained their first formal training and experiences with animals while involved in youth activities. These lessons and experiences create enthusiasm which remains throughout life and affect one's continued interest in and contributions to animal agriculture. Most recent writings about junior livestock shows have emphasized their value in the education and training of youth. Emphasis has been on overcoming the criticism of animal activists or those in agriculture who may not agree with the concept of livestock exhibitors, especially events involving youth.

In the past few years there have been several incidences of unethical behavior and practices discovered in junior livestock shows. Adult supervisors (associated with either youth training and education programs or show and sale management) and parents must recognize the imperfections of the system—and take bold steps to assure a high level of ethics and honesty in every aspect of junior programs. The shows and sales which usually culminate a year's investment by youth, adults and donors must be given more attention. All parties must be cognizant of the absolute necessity of improving and conducting programs based on honest and ethical foundations.

Brenda L. Coe

Lowell L. Wilson

Animal care and handling guidelines have been developed recently for every livestock species, and fitting and showmanship guidelines are continually revised—these efforts need to be connected and applied. The year-round educational value of youth programs must be emphasized and perhaps the "glory and glitter" aspect of the final shows and sales de-emphasized. Business principles—and business ethics—should be high priority educational objectives of our youth programs. As an example—some of the abuse which an extremely small number of adults and juniors inflict upon show animals minimize or totally eliminate the value of the animal. When illegal compounds are fed or injected there may be condemnation of the meat and other products obtained from the animal. No loss of the producer or to the reputation of the industry could be more devastating.

Different attitudes of the public toward animal use: Animal activists for many years have criticized junior livestock activities because they feel the "adult" agriculture segment teaches juniors to misuse, abuse, manipulate and profit from animals. Unfortunately, there are many people who know little or nothing about farm animal pro-

Nittany Lion Fall Classic Sale Nov. 11

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.)—The Penn State Dairy Science Club and the Pennsylvania Holstein Association will team up to sponsor the 12th annual Nittany Lion Fall Classic consignment sale Saturday, Nov. 11.

In addition to a strong Holstein lineup, this year's sale will include the addition of 10-15 high quality Jersey consignments. The Pennsylvania Jersey Cattle Association is supporting the sale.

Last year's sale averaged $1,524 on 68 Holsteins, and the 1993 sale averaged $1,963 on 70 lots. This year's sale committee is looking forward to the 1995 Fall Classic sale being the best ever. The sale managers and selection committee will be visiting Holstein breeders in the next few months to select cattle.

The goal for this year's sale is to select approximately 70 top quality springing Holstein heifers and young Holstein cows. In addition, a select group of pedigreed calves will be sold. The Club plans to select 10 to 15 top pedigreed Jersey cows, heifers, and calves. Owen Bewley of West Chester is chair of Jersey selections.

The 1995 Nittany Lion Fall Classic sale chairs are Cathy Pavelski, Susquehanna, overall sale chair and John Harvatine, Thompson, assistant chair. Chairing the selections committee are Sud Cadwallader, Salem, N.J., and Meranda Dum, Landisburg. Other committee chairs include Carrie Bryant, Honesdale, and Barry Hauck, New Berlin, advertising and publicity; Dave Fava, Bentleyville, marketing/merchandising; Charles Houp, Boyertown, finance; Marel Raub, Duncannon, reception; Lisa Stuchal, Slippery Rock, and Pam McConnell, Volant, arena preparation; Scott Longenbach, Northampton, barn manager; and Crystal Miller, Cambridge Springs, animal preparation.

Dairy Science Club members use the Fall Classic as an excellent "hands-on" educational experience. The sale provides first hand experience in selecting, financing, merchandising, preparing, evaluating and managing dairy cattle. Last year, more than 50 students were involved in the sale.

If you are interested in consigning, call Ken Raney at the PHA office at (814) 234-0364; Cathy Pavelski (717) 756-2256, or the Department of Dairy and Animal Science at Penn State and ask for Larry Muller (814) 863-4205 or Dale Olver (814) 863-3914.

LCI Endorses USDA Policy On Brucellosis Vaccinations

BOWLING GREEN, Ky.—The Livestock Conservation Institute (LCI) recently adopted a resolution endorsing the new USDA Policy on Calfhood Vaccination for Brucellosis—a six-point plan designed to further the national effort to eradicate the disease.

The LCI resolution urges the National Brucellosis Program director to immediately begin development of a plan within the USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, Veterinary Services, to phase out the use of Strain 19 vaccine, within a prescribed time line, and support development of alternative vaccines which do not cause titer problems experienced with Strain 19.

"One of the major benefits of the new USDA Policy of Calfhood Vaccination is that over time, a reduction will occur in the number of animals reacting positively to the diagnostic testing because of calfhood vaccination," said Dr. Claude Barton, National Brucellosis Program director, USDA Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, Veterinary Services.

"As of May 31, 1995, there were only 104 known, brucellosis-infected herds that were still under quarantine," Barton said. "The decision to use calfhood vaccination in most herds, especially those with little or no risk of becoming infected, should be made after evaluating the situation with the owners' veterinarian, weighing the costs against the benefits and assessing the real need on a risk basis."

"Currently, there are approximately 23 states that have rules and regulations mandating calfhood vaccination. We are taking a little time and going state by state to research the various existing rules and regulations that mandate calfhood vaccination," said Barton. "We must understand the existing rules before we can make recommendations for change."

The USDA Policy on Calfhood Vaccination for Brucellosis includes the following six key points:

- Encourage calfhood vaccination in herds and areas where there is a high risk of exposure to infection
- Encourage states to rescind laws and regulations that mandate vaccination, such as those requiring vaccination for importation or sale
- Educate herd owners and veterinary practitioners regarding vaccination so their decisions on its use will reflect the advantages, disadvantages, and appropriateness in the herd under consideration
- Not encourage routine calfhood vaccination in states and areas that are classified as free of brucellosis
- Eliminate federal funding for the purchase and application of brucella vaccine, with the exception being infected or designated high risk herds
- Emphasize the importance of proper calfhood vaccination as related to age, dosage, identification and reporting.

The LCI Brucellosis Committee, one of the organization's nine active, issue-based committees, drafted the document supporting the USDA policy, and the LCI Board of Directors adopted the resolution during the 79th Annual Meeting.

Brucellosis Committee Chair, Mr. Jon Johnson of the Texas Farm Bureau, said the resolution will further championn the eradication of brucellosis nationwide. "In order to meet the goal of being brucellosis free by December 31, 1998, we're going to have to identify and eliminate titers from the cattle herd," Johnson said.

"A preventive direction would be through vaccination of heifers within the right time frame. Vaccinate only heifers four to 10 months of age and use the proper dosage," said Johnson. "If the USDA policy is followed, it will help eliminate the titer problem."

Not only does it appear that the California dairy industry has been able to come to terms with internal forces that battled against cooperating with a national advertising campaign via DMI, but the CMPA is now a partner in the national effort.

As some dairy producers have chosen to not watch television, and may not get the opportunity to view the commercials, rest assured, they are good.

The message behind the series is widely understood — there are times when a beverage (milk) is a necessary or strongly desired complement to a food, so to be safe, keep the beverage on hand.

This message is conveyed entertainingly and directed to the non-dairy producer, as it should be. This series hits the consumer in the gut and in the funny bone.

It does not pander to the negative aspects of society at large, nor does it subjugate the dignity of the dairy industry.

Some of the commercials have been rated as some of the best in the television industry.

If this isn't convincing enough of the effectiveness of the commercials, the next time you eat a peanut butter sandwich, a rich chocolate brownie or a batch of chocolate chip cookies, see if you don't think about wanting to drink milk.

Farmers Look At Soybean Trials At BACS Field Day

SPRINGVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — On Thursday morning, about 50 farmers and agri-industry representatives visited the Hibshman Homestead Research Farm as part of the annual Brubaker Agronomic Consulting Service (BACS) Field Day.

According to Mike Brubaker, the BACS Field Day is the first of three field days planned this year to examine more than 40 one-acre plots to study herbicide-resistant corn and soybeans, varieties, row width studies, pesticides, planting dates, fertility, and tillage.

On Thursday, herbicide reaction rates in various crops, particulary Roundup Ready soybeans, were examined at the Hibshman Farm, according to Rob Kauffman, research farm manager for BACS.

The field days are set up to make the research "farmer friendly," said Kauffman. "Farmers can walk in the fields and see how the herbicides and varieties are performing."

In one trial, timely application of insecticide worked to control cutworm damage. In another, Roundup Ready soybeans were planted early in the month in a field that was in corn for four years and in pasture before that. According to Dave Mayonado, product development representative for Monsanto, research indicated that narrow soybean rows reduced the need for additional spraying to control weeds.

Also, other trials looked into using various types of herbicides from a variety of other ag manufacturers. In addition, demonstrations were given on looking into yield monitoring using the global positioning system (GPS). Also, those who attended had a chance to look at the New Holland 499 haybine.

Future field days, open to the public, are scheduled for July 19, to examine post-emergent herbicides, and variety performance on Sept 6. All meetings are to be held, rain or shine, from 10 a.m.-3 p.m. on the Hibshman Farm.

duction methods. Less than 2% of the public are involved in production agriculture, and just a slightly greater percent of the public has even a cursory knowledge about farming.

Anyone has the right to ask about animal production methods, the use of animals, and the safety and wholesomeness of animal products available to the public. Fairs and shows offer an excellent opportunity to inform and teach the public about the methods used in handling, caring for, and feeding of farm animals, and in the technological advances that have been made in producing higher-quality, safer products more efficiently.

Public support of junior activities: For those who support junior activities through purchasing livestock in sales after the shows—this is not the time to decreaes or withhold support. In fact, even more financial support should available to provide training and educational materials or to support competition in which awards are based on total project activity rather than just the show or sale endpoint. The "bottom line" should be the educational and training programs for youth and the memorable experiences gained through interactions with

It has two non-voting members — the associate dean of Penn State Cooperative Extension Service, and the state conservationist who heads the state office of the USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS).

In remarks to the group prior to presenting certificates of appreciation for their perhaps unprecedented work, State Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brosius told the group that he was amazed at the process.

He commended them for their work and said that if anyone wants to see an example of how the regulation-negotiation process can work, they should review the workings of the Nutrient Management Advisory Board and the staff of the SCC.

Secretary of Environmental Resources James Seif also commended the members of the Advisory Board and the commission staff for their work, recognizing them with certificates of appreciation, though not in connection with the proposed regulations. That board will review the proposal, however.

The Nutrient Management Advisory Board had approved its recommendations to the SCC last month.

At that time, there was some contention over whether a last-minute change in the definition of "farming resources" that would have included the "maintenance" of animals, such as at horse boarding operations.

While the definition was approved at the board meeting, a legal review of the proposal revealed that it could not be done, since the Nutrient Management Act specifically selected production agriculture livestock operations.

Planning for the control of other forms of non-point nutrient sources are to be addressed later, either through research findings and additional action on areas specified in the Nutrient Management Act, or through legislative action.

Another amendment to the proposed package of regulations had to do with review time of voluntary plans. The proposal had been for 15 days, but, at the behest of the Advisory Board, it was lengthened to 45 days.

Under the Nutrient Management Act, the SCC is to oversee the implementation of the act, the creation of regulations, and the enforcement of the act.

Local conservation districts are to be the local offices which deal directly with the public with nutrient management planning to whatever extent each local district board decides is appropriate for its own resources and area served.

The package of regulations outlines who has to have nutrient management plans, and how nutrient management plans are to be developed, reviewed and maintained.

Any non-mandatory livestock operation is eligible to adopt voluntary nutrient management plans. The benefits of doing so not only include the operator having more control and understanding over his/her own operation, but they are also to gain favorable consideration from government should related complaints be filed against that operation.

The regulations are to be published in the Pennsylvania Bulletin, which is expected to take at least six weeks from the SCC's approval.

When published in the Bulletin, the official public comment period begins.

(Extra copies of the Bulletin are to be published for better distribution of the proposed regulations. While a copy of the regulations is contained in this issue of Lancaster Farming as approved Thursday by the SCC, the "official" copies are those published in the Bulletin. Little, if any, is expected to change between the "official" regulations and those published here.)

Before the proposed regulations can be published in the Bulletin, however, they must go through a formal review by the Governor's Office of General Counsel and then by the Attorney General.

The public comment period is to be a minumum of 60 days and include four formal public informational meetings and four formal public hearings.

The difference between a meeting and hearing is that during a hearing public testimony, opinion and facts are gathered for consideration of the proposed regulations. Meetings are to be places where information is shared and questions answered.

The dates for those are to be announced, but the SCC members and Advisory Board members are to be present to help with the meetings and hearings.

In related activity, on Thursday the House of Representatives approved a final version of House Bill 1400, which is the outline for the division and renaming of the Department of Environmental Resources to Department of Environmental Protection (DEP), and the creation of a new Department of Conservation and Natural Rescources (DCNR) to oversee the operation and maintenance of the state's forests and parks, as well as other resources. (See story in June 17 issue of Lancaster Farming).

The legislation is scheduled to be signed into law by Gov. Tom Ridge June 30.

Under provisions in HB 1400, the SCC will change slightly with the executive secretary to be an appointed person not employeed by either the PDA or the DEP.

Further, the chairmanship of the SCC is to alternate annually between the secretary of agriculture and the secretary of environmental protection.

In other action Wednesday, the commission also heard reports on the progress of the Nutrient Management Certification Program, which is being organized through the Department of Agriculture; progress on the educational program, which Penn State Extension is puting together; and some requests for authorization for funding certain programs.

These regulations are not official and should not be used for technical legal interpretations. However, barring any typographical errors, or any minor changes which may occur prior to being printed in the Pennsylvania Bulletin, these are the proposed regulations created and recommended by the Nutrient Management Advisory Board to the State Conservation Commission, which the commission approved for rulemaking.

PROPOSED RULEMAKING
STATE CONSERVATION COMMISSION
[25 Pa.. Code Chapter 83—
Subchapter D
Nutrient Management

The State Conservation Commission (Commission) proposes to promulgate new regulations governing nutrient management by adding Subchapter D to Chapter 83. These proposed regulations implement provisions of the Nutrient Management Act (act) (3 P S §§1701-1719)

This proposal was adopted at the Commission's meeting of June 21, 1995.

A. Effective Date

These regulations will go into effect upon publication in the Pennsylvania Bulletin as final rulemaking

B. Contact Persons

For further information, the contact persons are Michael D. Krempasky, Executive Secretary, State Conservation Commission, P O Box 8555, Harrisburg, PA 17105-8555, (717) 787-5267; and David J Gromelski, Assistant Counsel, P O Box 8464, Harrisburg, PA 17105-8464, (717) 787-7060

C. Statutory Authority

These proposed regulations are promulgated under the authority of section 4(1) of the Nutrient Management Act (3 P.S. §1704(11) which requires the Commission to promulgate regulations establishing minimum criteria for nutrient management plans and other requirements necessary to implement the act, and Section 4 of the Conservation District Law (3 P S §852) which authorizes the Commission to promulgate rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry out its functions

D. Purpose And Background

The Nutrient Management Act was enacted in May, 1993 to improve farm efficiency and prevent the nonpoint source pollution of surface water and groundwater It authorizes the Commission, in conjunction with the Department of Agriculture, the Penn State Cooperative Extension, the Nutrient Management Advisory Board and county conservation districts, to develop a program for the proper utilization and management of nutrients Nitrogen was identified in the act as the nutrient of primary concern. The Commission is also required to provide education, technical assistance and financial assistance to the agricultural community regarding proper nutrient management

The Commission has developed this proposal in conjunction with the Nutrient Management Advisory Board (Advisory Board) as required by the act The Advisory Board, which represents a wide-ranged agriculture, government and private interests, worked hundreds of volunteer hours in an effort to develop a workable and effective regulatory proposal. The proposal was also developed with the assistance of major farm organizations, county conservation districts, the Department of Agriculture, the Penn State Cooperative Extension and the Natural Resources Conservation Service

During the regulatory development process, the Advisory Board raised concerns regarding liability protection for farmers who develop and implement nutrient management plans (See Section 13 of the act, 3 P S §1713) as well as protection from fines and penalties resulting from environmental violations if the operator is implementing an approved plan The Commission intends to clarify the liability protection for those agricultural operations which develop and implement an approved nutrient management plan with the assistance of the Nutrient Management Advisory Board

E. Summary of Proposal

These proposed regulations will directly affect the concentrated animal operations (CAOs) that are required to plan under the act as well as other agricultural operations that voluntarily plan under the act Only about 5-10% of agricultural operations in Pennsylvania will meet the criteria for mandatory planning under the act The Commission is hoping to obtain the voluntary participation of other agricultural operations in the nutrient management program The proposed regulations were developed to streamline planning and other requirements, where possible, in order to encourage maximum voluntary participation by non CAOs The Commission believes that a strong voluntary program must operate simultaneously with the mandated regulatory program in order to assure proper nutrient management

Nutrient management plans are required to be developed by nutrient management specialists certified by the Department of Agriculture Additionally, plans are to be submitted to the Commission or delegated county conservation district for approval Nutrient management planning responsibilities for CAOs and for other agricultural operations that develop voluntary plans are set forth in detail Minimum standards for the construction, location, storage capacity and location of animal manure storage facilities on agricultural operations that develop a plan under the act are spelled out Manure management procedures in emergency situations where there is an outbreak of contagious disease must be consistent with the existing quarantine requirements set by the Department of Agriculture. Existing agricultural operations may apply for financial assistance to implement nutrient management plans pursuant to the procedures herein Commission responsibilities for administering and enforcing the act and regulations may be delegated to local county conservation districts.

Most definitions contained in the proposal are drawn from the act Additional definitions contained in the proposal include "concentrated water flow areas", "conservation plan" "crop group", "erosion", "farming resources", "Manure Management Manual", "manure storage facility", "pastures", "Pennsylvania Agronomy Guide", "Pennsylvania Technical Guide", "storm water", "surface water and groundwater" and "temporary manure stacking areas"

The term "Surface water and ground water" is defined consistent with the term "waters of the Commonwealth" that is used in the Department of Environmental Resources' regulatory programs The term "agricultural operation" is defined as it appears in the act as "the management and use of farming resources for the production of crops, livestock, or poultry". However, the term "agricultural operation" is defined in terms of a general activity rather than a site specific operation. To clarify that an agricultural operation, for purposes of nutrient management planning, is a site specific operation, a definition of "farming resources" was added "Farming resources" is defined to include all facilities and land associated with production or maintenance of crops, livestock or poultry. Maintenance includes operations which board livestock.

General Requirements and Identification of CAOs (§83.211, 83.212)

CAOs required to plan under the act are those agricultural operations where the animal density equals or exceeds two animal equivalent units (AEU) per acre. An AEU is one thousand pounds of live weight of livestock or poultry animals. Specific calculation procedures to determine whether a particular agricultural operation is a CAO based on the number and weight of animals and the amount of land suitable for manure application are set forth in detail. Standard animal weights included in Appendix A are required to be used in the calculations unless the operator can justify the use of alternative weights. Timeframes for plan submittal based on when the operation came into existence are drawn from the act

Applicability of Requirements (§83.204)

This Section was included to make it easier for volunteer operations to identify their applicable requirements. It identifies the sections applicable to CAOs required to plan under the act and the sections applicable to those operations voluntarily planning under the act.

Plan Content Requirements (§§83.221 - 83.281)

The main components of plans developed under the act are 1) nutrient application procedures based on nitrogen needed for crop production; 2) utilization of excess manure; 3) proper manure management in the barnyard and 4) stormwater runoff controls The plan is also required to contain a reasonable implementation schedule that takes into account necessary management and capital intensive changes to the operation.

1. Nutrient Application (§§83.231 - 83.234)

The nutrient application component of a plan includes a determination of nutrients available to the agricultural operation, a determination of nutrients needed for crop production, determination of acceptable nutrient application rates that do not exceed crop needs, and nutrient application procedures for the proper application of nutrients. Consistent with the act, nitrogen is the nutrient of primary concern Areas where manure application is limited based on proximity to water sources are spelled out.

2. Alternative Uses for Excess Manure (§§83-241, 83.281)

The proposed regulations require the plan to contain a description of how the operation will utilize manure in excess of that needed for crop production Information required includes whether the manure will be exported off the operation and whether it will be utilized on the operation in a manner other than land application. CAOs are required to provide more detail regarding the uses of any excess manure than operations voluntarily planning under the act.

3. Manure Management (§83.251)

The plan would identify best management practices (BMPs) necessary to correct any inadequate manure handling, collection, storage and spreading practices and protect surface and ground water. BMPs are required to meet the specifications contained in the Natural Resources Conservation Services' (NRCS) Pennsylvania Technical Guide. The plan would identify appropriate areas for temporary manure stacking where necessary for plan implementation.

4. Storm Water Runoff Control (§83.261)

The proposal requires the plan to meet the existing erosion and sedimentation requirements for agriculture contained in 25 Pa Code Chapter 102 The plan would also address runoff problems associated with the barnyard and animal concentration areas.

Minimum Standards for Manure Storage Facilities (§83.311)

The proposal meets the act's requirements to establish minimum standards for the construction, location, operation, maintenance and storage capacity of manure storage facilities The standards apply only to new storage facilities and expansions of existing facilities that are part of a nutrient management plan developed under the act Manure storage facilities are required to meet the standards contained in the NRCS Pennsylvania Technical Guide. The proposed regulations also contain location standards for manure storage facilities from bodies of water, drinking water wells, open sinkholes and property lines. The purpose of the location standards is to protect water quality and prevent the off site migration of any discharge from a storage facility Waivers from the location standards contained in the proposal may be obtained from adjacent property owners or the Commission provided the applicable criteria are met.

Plan Review and Implementation (§§83.321, 83.322)

Plan review, approval and implementation procedures included in the proposal are drawn from the act Implementation provisions include requirements for annual adjustments and three year plan review Plans are to be submitted to the Commission or delegated conservation district for review and approval and have a reasonable implementation schedule Criteria for the extension of the implementation requirement are also specified

Recordkeeping and Informational Requirements (§§83.291 83.302)

Accurate records regarding the application of nutrients on the agricultural operation and manure transfers must be kept and maintained For CAOs, manure transfer records are required, in some cases, to be submitted to the Commission or delegated conservation district Operations voluntarily planning under the act are only required to keep the records and need not submit them to the Commission or districts

Operators that export excess manure off of the operation are required to provide the operations importing the manure with information on the amount, nutrient content, and, if appropriate, the rate at which the manure was applied Additionally, CAOs are required to provide the importer with manure informational packets on proper manure management Voluntary operations need only to provide the importers with information on the amount and nutrient content of manure

Plan Amendments and Transfers (§§83.331 - 83.333)

The proposed regulations include procedures for plan amendments and plan transfers, including plan amendments due to unforeseen circumstances Plan amendments due to unforeseen circumstances may be implemented prior to submission of the amendment to the Commission or conservation district for approval

Contagious Disease Emergencies (§§83.341)

Where there is an outbreak of a contagious disease on an agricultural operation, manure management operations are required to comply with the Department of Agriculture's existing quarantine procedures

Financial Assistance (§§83.351 - 83.363)

Financial assistance will be offered when funds are made available to the Commission for such purposes Eligibility for financial assistance is limited to agricultural operations in existence on the effective date of final regulations. The proposal allows for the awarding of grants, loans or loan guarantees. Grants may be awarded when the Commission determines that repayment of a loan is unlikely, based on the financial condition of the operation and the fact that the operation will be financially distressed by the implementation of the plan without a grant The minimum rate of interest on a loan is 1% and the term of loans shall not exceed ten years

Total funding limits provided under loans, grants and loan guarantees may not exceed $75,000. The maximum amount of a grant may not exceed 80% of the eligible costs of implementation or a sum of $30,000. Agricultural operations receiving grants under the Chesapeake Bay Nonpoint Source Pollution Abatement Program are eligible for grants under the nutrient management program up to a maximum of $30,000 from the combined sources. The proposal allows for Commission delegation of the financial assistance program to a fully authorized agent of the Commission.

Delegation to Local Agencies (§§83.371)

County Conservation districts are envisioned as the primary entities responsible for implementing the act. The proposal provides for Commission delegation of its administrative and enforcement authority under the act, including the review and approval of nutrient management plans.

F. Benefits, Costs and Paperwork

Benefits

The act was passed by the Legislature in response to excess levels of nitrates found in both the Commonwealth's surface and ground waters. The act and regulations are a key part of the Commonwealth's Nutrient Reduction Strategy necessary to attain the 40% reduction of nutrients entering the Chesapeake Bay. These proposed regulations will directly benefit Pennsylvania's citizens by creating, in conjunction with education, technical assistance and outreach efforts, an orderly solution to address these nutrient problems. Downstream uses of water will be protected for recreational, industrial and agricultural use. Rural citizens benefit from a reduction of nitrates in groundwater. The health of livestock will benefit from drinking unpolluted water. Improved farm efficiency will occur in many cases resulting in labor and fertilizer savings for agricultural operations.

Costs

CAOs may incur some costs for implementing nutrient management plans developed under the act. These costs may be, in turn, offset by the financial assistance program established by the act and detailed in the proposed regulations. Addi-animals. We must base these programs on a foundation of ethics and honesty, and continue to give our youth of today and tomorrow the same opportunities to develop a strong moral basis for their future.

Public Perceptions of Animal Products: We are fortunate that neither the isolated abuse of animals nor the infrequent illegal use of compounds has affected which animal products the public will purchase. Newspapers, magazines, and other media have, surprisingly, not attempted to associate these rare abuses with the animal-derived products that most of the public uses everyday. Since the abuses observed in junior shows are perpetrated by a few individuals and are not representative of the vast majority of youth project or commercially produced animal-derived products, this association should not be made. However, with the tendency for the media to report sensational and controversial information, and often misinformation, the animal industries have been fortunate.

Being a good animal exhibitor: Junior exhibitors need to be aware that they have a long-standing tradition to follow in terms of integrity, guarantees and ethis in presenting animals for show or sale. Livestock purchase or sale agreements are often made through just verbal agreement "sealed with a handshake." Although not the best basis for a business transaction, it shows the integrity that is expected and exists throughout agriculture. Integrity and ethics are expected when we make purchases and customers have the righ to expect the same. In animals used for breeding, the birth dates, breeding soundness guarantees, performance or production histories, and other traits that reflect an animal's value are expected to be honestly stated by the seller. Any known imperfections that are not apparent to the observed or to the purchaser should also be stated. This kind of traditional farming ethic must be instilled in youth involved with junior livestock activities, and also in those who advise, teach, and supervise youth. This includes parents, club leaders and those who sell project animals to youth.

Simple economics of proper animal care and treatment: Practically all of the guidelines for care, handling, nutrition, and facilities that lead to proper animal care and use have been shown to improve the economics of production. Distress to the animal can decrease rate of gain, feed efficiency and even result in a lower-quality carcass. One of the most important aspects of the educational phase of junior animal projects is to teach proper animal care and management and respect for animals including the use of practices that result in high-quality carcasses and consumer products without bruises, off-color lean, blemishes from injection sites, or chemical residues. If residues are detected through random sampling by the Food Safety and Inspection Service, the carcass is condemned with the total loss of the carcass value. A more important consideration is the use of drugs which are illegal for use in any food-producing animal. These types of non-ethical, careless, and selfish actions permanently damange the credibility of the livestock producer and the industry's reputation for proper animal care and production of safe/wholesome animal-derived products. These actions are totally unacceptable in youth livestock programs as well.

Fitting and showing guides: There are many guides available for fitting and showing of livestock—from rabbits to sheep to beef cattle to horses. Naturally, the knowledge and skills associated with the presentation of animals to the judge, the public, and to prospective buyers is important and must continue to be emphasized. This is an important part of good animal care, handling, responsibility, and sales/showmanship. However, adherence to ethical production and marketing practices must be given more attention. The following practices are not to be condoned in any situation:

- Feeding or use of illegal compunds
- Feeding or use of extra-label compounds without a prior examination of the animal and a written prescription by a veterinarian
- Not providing acceptable levels of feed, water, bedding and housing to animals at all times, including the time just prior to shows and sales
- Abuse, misuse or inhumane manipulation of animals
- Injection of any fluids or air to change to the shape of an animal or misrepresent its natural characteristics (e.g., muscling in meat animals, dairy cow udders)
- Disregarding purchase and/or possession dates required for junior livestock projects or individual show animals
- Use of professional fitter where prohibited
- Overlooking educational and skill development or placing too much emphasis on awards (either money or trophies and ribbons)
- Unsportsmanlike conduct or abusive behavior while exhibiting animals
- Adult leader not scheduling periodic farm visits throughout the project season to observe and advise on the nutrition and care of project animals.

Educationa and training materials: A wide variety of different educational, training, and skill development materials are available to junior livestock club members, parents, advisors, county extension agents, and club leaders. Historically these materials have dealth mostly with fitting and showing skills to a lesser extent with proper nutrition and handling. Within the past two years, because of the discovery of unethical feeding, fitting, and showing practices by youth and adults involved in club work, a number of visual aids and written materials about the ethics of junior livestock activities have been developed. Several states require juniors to complete educational materials pertaining to ethics as an initial step in their program.

The skills involved in selecting, caring for, fitting and showing animals are a necessary part of the educational process. But everything possible must be done to concentrate on all goals of junior livestock programs. This includes teaching the husbandry subject matter, the business aspects of animal production, ethical values, and professionalism. So many people have gained important life skills and benefited so much from junior programs based on animals that we can illafford a weakening or discontinuation of these opportunities.

tionally, the three year implementation schedule would be delayed an additional two years for individual substantial capital improvements required under an approved plan if the operator can demonstrate that the improvements cannot be financed through available funding mechanisms and a sum of $2,000,000 has not been appropriated for grants and loans to the Nutrient Management Fund within one year of the effective date of final regulations. County conservation districts that accept program delegations may incur additional costs for the administration and enforcement of the program. These costs will be offset as much as possible by funding to districts from the Nutrient Management Fund.

Many agricultural lenders are already requiring some form of nutrient management planning to finance new concentrated agricultural operations. The costs of nutrient management will be incorporated by certain producers into their operation thereby relieving state and local governments and private landowners from incurring costs associated with nitrogen pollution in drinking water.

Paperwork

The proposal seeks to reduce excess paperwork. For example, a current conservation plan meeting the erosion and sedimentation control requirements of Chapter 102 would satisfy the erosion and sedimentation control components of a nutrient management plan. Reporting requirements for agricultural operations that voluntarily plan are less than those for concentrated agricultural operations. The proposed regulations detail the acceptable format and content of plans which are designed to reduce paperwork.

G. Sunset Date

The Commission will evaluate the effectiveness of these regulations on an ongoing basis. Therefore, no sunset date is being established for the regulations at this time.

H. Regulatory Review

Under Section 5(a) of the Regulatory Review Act-(71 P.S. §745.5(a), the Commission submitted a copy of these proposed regulations on ____ to the Independent Regulatory Review Commission and to the Chairmen of the House Agriculture and Rural Affairs Committee and the Senate Agriculture and Rural Affairs Committee. In addition to submitting the proposed regulations, the Commission has provided the Independent Regulatory Review Commission and the Committees with a copy of a detailed regulatory analysis form in compliance with Executive Order 1982-2 "Improving Government Regulations". A copy of this material is available to the public upon request.

If the Independent Regulatory Review Commission has any objections to any portion of the proposed amendments, it will notify the Commission within 30 days after the close of the public comment period. The notification shall specify the regulatory review criteria which have not been met by that portion. The Regulatory Review Act specifies detailed procedures for review prior to final publication of the regulation, by the Commission, the General Assembly and the Governor of objections raised.

I. Public Comment

Interested persons are invited to submit written comments, suggestions or objections regarding the proposal to the State Conservation Commission, P.O. Box 8555, Harrisburg, PA 17105-8555. In particular the Commission is seeking comments regarding suggestions to encourage voluntary participation in the Nutrient Management Program. Comments must be received within sixty (60) days of publication in the Pennsylvania Bulletin The Commission, with the assistance of the Nutrient Management Advisory Board, will be conducting a series of formal public hearings and informal public meetings on the proposal The hearings and meetings will be evening sessions beginning at ___ p.m. as follows:

OTHER PLANNING PROVISIONS

83 381 Compliance Plans

GENERAL PROVISIONS

§83.201. Definitions.

Act - The Nutrient Management Act. (3 P.S. §§1701-1719)

AEU per acre - An animal equivalent unit per acre of cropland or acre of land suitable for application of animal manure

Agricultural operations - The management and use of farming resources for the production of crops, livestock, or poultry

Animal concentration areas - barnyards, feedlots, loafing areas, exercise lots, or other similar animal confinement areas that will not maintain a growing crop, or where deposited manure nutrients are in excess of crop needs. Areas managed as pastures or other cropland are excluded. Pasture access ways are excluded, if they do not cause direct flow of nutrients to surface or ground water.

Animal equivalent unit (AEU) - One thousand pounds live weight of livestock or poultry animals, regardless of the actual number of individual animals comprising the unit.

Best management practice (BMP) - A practice or combination of practices determined by the Commission to be effective and practicable (given technological, economic and institutional considerations) to manage nutrients to protect surface water and ground water taking into account applicable nutrient requirements for crop utilization. Best management practices include, but are not limited to:

(1) Conservation tillage.
(2) Crop rotation.
(3) Soil testing.
(4) Manure testing.
(5) Diversions.
(6) Manure storage facilities.
(7) Storm water management practices.
(8) Nutrient application.

Commission - The State Conservation Commission established by the Act of May 15, 1945 (P.L. 547, No. 217), 3 P S §§849-864, known as the Conservation District Law.

Concentrated animal operation (CAO) - Those agricultural operations where the animal density exceeds two AEUs per acre on an annualized basis.

Concentrated water flow areas - Those natural or manmade areas where storm water runoff is channeled and conveyed directly to a surface body of water. Concentrated water flow areas include, but are not limited to, ditches, waterways, gullies and swales.

Conservation district - Any county conservation district established under the Act of May 15, 1945 (P.L. 547, No 217), 3 P S §§849-864 known as the Conservation District Law.

Conservation plan - A plan that identifies conservation practices, and, at the very least, includes an erosion and sedimentation control plan.

Cooperative extension - The Penn State Cooperative Extension

Crop group - A crop field or group of crop fields that are planted to the same crop, managed as a unit, have similar levels of residual nutrients, and will produce similar crop yields.

Department - The Department of Environmental Resources of the Commonwealth.

Erosion - The natural process by which the surface of the land is worn away by the action of water, wind or chemical action

Farming resources - The animals, facilities, and lands used for the production of crops, livestock, or poultry The term includes all lands located at the animal production facility which are owned by the operator, and any lands under agreement or under the management control of the operator that are an integral part of the production of crops, livestock or poultry and the associated management of nutrients.

Fund - The Nutrient Management Fund established under Section 10 of the Act (3 P S §1710).

Manure Management Manual - The guidance manual entitled "Manure Management Manual For Environmental Protection" and its supplements developed by an interagency workgroup and published by the Department of Environmental Resources. The manual describes approved manure management practices for which a permit or approval from the Department is not required as set forth in the Department's regulations at 25 Pa Code §101 8 (relating to pollution control and prevention from agricultural operations)

Manure Storage Facility - A permanent structure or facility, or portion of a structure or facility, utilized for the primary purpose of containing raw or untreated manure The storage facility of a waste management system is the tool that gives the manager control over the scheduling and timing of the spreading or export of manure Examples include, but are not limited to liquid manure structures, manure storage ponds, component reception pits and transfer pipes, containment structures built under a confinement building, permanent stacking and composting facilities, and manure treatment facilities. This definition shall not include the animal confinement areas of poultry houses, horse stalls, freestall barns, or bedded pack animal housing systems

Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) - The Natural Resources Conservation Service of the United States Department of Agriculture, formerly known as the Soil Conservation Service

Nutrient - A substance or recognized plant nutrient, element or compound which is used or sold for its plant nutritive content or its claimed nutritive value The term includes, but is not limited to, livestock and poultry manures, compost as fertilizer, commercially manufactured chemical fertilizers, sewage sludge, or combinations thereof.

Nutrient management plan (plan)- A written site-specific plan which incorporates BMPs to manage the use of plant nutrients for crop production and water quality protection, consistent with the criteria established in Sections 4 and 6 of the Act, 3 P S §§ 1704 and 1706, and at 25 Pa Code §§83 221-83.271 and 83 281 (relating to additional plan content requirements for CAOs).

Nutrient management specialist - A person satisfying the requirements of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture's nutrient management certification program at 7 Pa. Code §§131 1-131 51 (relating to nutrient management certification)

Pastures - Crop areas managed for forage production that are harvested by livestock and/or haying, and where animal management practices assure that uncollected manure nutrients are limited to the amounts utilized by the crop.

Pennsylvania Agronomy Guide - The quick reference book published by the Cooperative Extension as a practical guide to grain and forage production, soil fertility management, pest management, and erosion control, with special reference to Pennsylvania conditions.

Pennsylvania Technical Guide - A primary reference document published by the United States Department of Agriculture's NRCS, which is used by technically trained persons to plan and apply appropriate BMPs.

Perennial Stream - A body of water that normally flows year-round in a defined channel or bed, and is capable, in the absence of pollution or other man-made stream disturbances, of supporting bottom dwelling aquatic animals.

Permanent Manure Stacking Areas - Designated, improved storage areas that are used for the long term or recurring storage of solid manure.

Sediment - Soils or other surface materials transported by surface water as a product of erosion

Sedimentation - The process by which sediment is deposited on stream bottoms

Storm water - Drainage runoff from the surface of the land resulting from rain or snow or ice melt.

Surface water and ground water - Any and all rivers, streams, creeks, rivulets, impoundments, ditches, water courses, storm sewers, lakes, dammed water, ponds, springs and all other bodies or channels of conveyance of surface and underground water, or parts thereof, whether natural or artificial, within or on the boundaries of this Commonwealth.

Temporary Manure Stacking Areas - Unimproved areas, preferably located in crop fields, that are planned to be used in unforeseen circumstances for the storage of solid manure to be used during the next growing season, or for other acceptable uses §83.202. Scope.

This subchapter specifies minimum criteria and requirements for

(1) Nutrient management plans required under the Act on CAOs

(2) Voluntary nutrient management plans developed on other agricultural operations and submitted to the Commission or delegated conservation district for approval under the Act

(3) Compliance plans submitted by any agricultural operation found to be in violation of the Clean Streams Law, 35 P S §§691 1-691 1001

(4) The construction, location, storage capacity and operation of animal manure storage facilities constructed and existing facilities expanded or repaired as part of a nutrient management plan developed under the Act.

(5) Manure handling in emergency situations where there is an outbreak of a contagious disease that poses a threat to animal or human health.

(6) The awarding of financial assistance under the Act for the implementation of nutrient management plans for existing agricultural operations

§83.203. Purpose.

The purposes of this subchapter are to:

(1) Assure the proper utilization and management of nutrients on CAOs.

(2) Encourage the proper utilization and management of nutrients on other agricultural operations

(3) Protect the quality of surface water and ground water.

§83.204. Applicability of Requirements.

(a) CAOs required to plan under the Act shall refer to the following sections for applicable requirements. §§83.211 through 83.234, 83 251 through 83.332, and 83.341 (relating to manure management in emergency situations).

(b) Agricultural operations that voluntarily plan under the Act shall refer to the following sections for applicable requirements: §§83.211 (relating to general requirement), 83.221 through 83 271, 83.291 through 83.293 (relating to record keeping and information packets for all plans), 83 311 through 83.332, and 83.341 (relating to manure management in emergency situations).

NUTRIENT MANAGEMENT PLANS

§§83.211 General Requirement.

(a) A CAO in existence on the effective date of this subchapter shall submit to the Commission or delegated conservation district, a nutrient management plan within one year after the effective date of this subchapter.

(b) A CAO which comes into existence after the effective date of this subchapter shall submit to the Commission or delegated conservation district a nutrient management plan within three months after such date, or prior to the commencement of manure operations, whichever is later. It is recommended that the CAO submit the plan for review and approval prior to construction.

(c) An agricultural operation which, because of expansion of animal units or loss of land suitable for manure application, meets the criteria for a CAO shall submit to the Commission or delegated conservation district a nutrient management plan within three months after the date of completion of the expansion or the loss of land. It is recommended that an operator who intends to expand an existing agricultural operation submit the plan for review and approval prior to expansion.

(d) An agricultural operation other than a CAO may voluntarily submit a nutrient management plan at any time after the effective date of this subchapter. It is recommended that the operator of an agricultural operation voluntarily submitting a plan under the Act, submit the plan for review and approval prior to construction.

(e) All plans and plan amendments shall be developed by nutrient management specialists certified in accordance with the Department of Agriculture's nutrient management specialist certification requirements at 7 Pa. Code §§131.1 - 131.51 (relating to nutrient management certification) The specialists shall certify that the plans are in accordance with the requirements of the Act and this subchapter

DNA Testing Has Practical Farm Use

GEORGE HAENLEIN
Extension Dairy Specialist
University of Delaware

NEWARK, Del. — DNA has been in the news recently because of the O.J. Simpson trial and the "fingerprinting" for which DNA tests are used in court.

What is disturbing is that reports about the DNA presentations in the Simpson case either treat these tests as controversial, or worse, describe jurors as "bored" by the explanations.

The message that reporters should be communicating is that these tests are the exciting frontier of science and could have impacts on all of us, our farm animals and our personal lives.

The only difficulty is that these tests are part of genetics, and judging from the responses of many of my students over the years, genetics rarely turns on the average student's interest or enthusiasm. In fact, the study of genetics turns many off.

In people, inherited disorders such as sickle cell anemia or hemophilia can be alleviated through the fruits of genetic research. And in farm animals, certain lethal and semi-lethal traits, which can be very costly, can be prevented through the study of genetics.

Remember the impact of hemophilia in the historic case of the last Russian Czar who had inherited this serious disease from both parents?

The good news is that the more DNA testing becomes part of routine testing, appreciation of genetics will follow. Farm animal breeders already make careful choices about which bull, ram, buck, stallion or boar has the best genetic traits to combine with selected females of the farm herd to produce a better next generation.

Animal breeders track down the history of genetic diseases for their animals and with good economic justification. Through national breed associations, farmers have a reporting system to identify when a genetic disease or abnormality like mulefoot or BLAD (Bovine Leucocyte Adhesion Deficiency) has occurred in newborns on the farm.

Years ago, farmers were expected to report "red" Holstein calves as something abnormal and bad. Now we know better. Red calves are not only acceptable by Holstein breeders, they are even sought by some.

What we did not know until now is which bull or which cow is a carrier for the red color in Holsteins.

Because the red color is recessive to black, it becomes visible only in homozygous animals. This means that the animals receive the red factor from both parents.

If only one parent transmits the red factor, the calf is a carrier, meaning that it looks black, but it can transmit the red color to its offspring.

Now the exciting news from researchers at the University of Goettingen in Germany is that they have developed a test to identify red-carrier calves as soon as they are born.

We no longer have to wait for a breeding test, which takes at least two years.

Before this novel test, we had to wait first for the calf in question to reach breeding age and then for its pregnancy to deliver offspring with either black or red color.

The new method from Goettingen is based on DNA testing. The procedure treats the calf's blood DNA with certain chemicals, which make the DNA unfold into certain conformation typical only for red-color calves' genes and different from black-color calves' genes.

Then the two different DNAs are separated in an electric field on an electrophoretic gel, where they can be stained for visibility.

The faster-moving band on the gel is the black gene, the slower-moving band the red gene.

The carrier calf's blood DNA has two bands, a red one and a black one, exhibited by a slow- and a fast-moving visible gene.

So here genetics has become visible for the first time thanks to DNA testing. The procedure is accurate and reliable for the early detection of red-carrier calves, which has the potential for considerable economic value in certain herd breeding programs.

Defensive Farming Video

ALBANY, N.Y. — The New York Farm Bureau Communications Department has produced a safety training video that brings the principles of defensive driving to the farm.

The 13-minute video, "Defensive Farming," focuses on avoiding the common hazards around farm machinery, including pinch points, shear points, crush points, pull-in points, wrap points and stored energy.

The video features John Pollock, executive director of the N.Y. Rural Health & Safety Council and a farm safety specialist at Cornell University.

According to Mark F. Emery, director of communications for the 25,000-member New York Farm Bureau, "Each year, there are over 9,000 injuries and many fatalities on New York farms. This video is the second in a series of training tapes aimed at reducing the number of farm accidents through preventative techniques. Like defensive driving, practicing defensive farming techniques should help make agriculture a safer industry."

To obtain a copy of "Defensive Farming," farmers/farm employers should send $7.50 (includes postage and handling) to Communications Dept. NY Farm Bureau, P.O. Box 992, Glenmont, NY 12077-0992, or (518) 436-8495. Copies can also be borrowed by contacting the NYFB Communications Dept. or by contacting your county Farm Bureau president.

§83. 212. Identification of CAOs.

(a) A CAO is an agricultural operation where the animal density exceeds two AEUs per acre on an annualized basis. In order to determine if a particular agricultural operation is a CAO which is required to develop a nutrient management plan, the number of AEUs per acre on the agricultural operation shall be calculated using the procedure set forth below.

(1) The number of AEUs on the agricultural operation shall be calculated by using the following steps:

(i) Multiply the average number of animals on the agricultural operation on a typical production day by the standard animal weight contained in Table A to equal a total weight. Non-standard weights may be used in place of those in Table A, provided there is sufficient documentation to support the use of the non-standard weights.

(ii) Multiply the total weight reached in (i)(i) by the number of production days per year, then divide by 365 days.

(iii) Divide the number reached in (i)(ii) by 1,000 to equal the number of AEUs for each type of animal.

(iv) Total the number of AEUs for each type of animal to equal the total number of AEUs on the agricultural operation

(2) The number of AEUs per acre shall be calculated by dividing the total number of AEUs by the total number of acres of land suitable for the application of manure to equal the number of AEUs per acre

(i) Land suitable, for the sole purpose of determining whether an agricultural operation is a CAO, is land in the management control of the operator that meets all of the following criteria

(A) The land is cropland, hayland, or pastureland that is an integral part of the agricultural operation, as demonstrated by title, rental agreements, crop records, or form provided by the Commission

(B) The land is, or will be used, for the application of manure generated by the agricultural operation

(C) The land is located within 10 miles of the point of manure generation

(ii) The term 'land suitable" shall not include farmstead areas or forest land

(b) Example AEU per acre calculation An operation has an average number of 10,000 medium broilers on a typical production day with an average weight during production of 2 3 pounds During the year there are six flocks with a production period of 43 days per flock This amounts to 258 production days per year During the remaining down time no manure is produced The farmstead is two acres There are three acres of woodlands and seven acres of cropland The following is the AEU per acre calculation for this operation

STEP 1 10,000 med broilers x 2 3 lb avg wt = 23,000 lb total weight

STEP 2 23,000 lb total weight x 258 production days per year divided by 365 days = 16,257 lbs

STEP 3 16,257 lbs divided by 1000 lbs per AEU = 16 25 AEUs

STEP 4 Total number of AEUs on the agricultural operation is 16 25

STEP 5 16 25 AEUs divided by 7 acres of land suitable = 2 3 AEUs per acre

CONTENT REQUIREMENTS FOR ALL PLANS

§83.221. Scope of Plan.

Nutrient management plans developed under the Act shall comply with the requirements of the Act and this subchapter

§83 .222. Content of Plans .

(a) Nutrient management plans developed for CAOs shall, at a minimum, comply with §§83.223 through 83.234 and 83 251 through 83 281

(b) A nutrient management plan voluntarily developed for an agricultural operation pursuant to the Act shall, at a minimum, comply with §§83 223 through 83 271

(c) A plan shall be organized to correspond to the appropriate sections described in subsections (a) and (b) A plan shall have a separate section for each of these sections The operator shall be consulted during the preparation of all sections of the plan

§83 . 223. Identification of Agricultural Operations and Acreage .

(a) The plan shall include an agricultural operation identification sheet which shall include the following information.

(1) Operator name, address and telephone number

(2) County(ies) of land included in the nutrient management plan.

(3) Watershed(s) of land included in the plan. The existence of any special protection waters, as identified in the Department's regulations at 25 Pa. Code §93.9 (relating to designated water uses and water quality criteria), shall also be noted.

(4) Total acreage of the agricultural operation included in the plan.

(5) Total acreage of land on which nutrients shall be applied. The total acreage shall be separated into acres of owned land and acres of rented land.

(6) Number of AEUs per acre on the agricultural operation.

(7) Name of the nutrient management specialist that prepared the plan, date of plan preparation, and date of revisions, if any.

(b) The plan shall contain maps or aerial photographs of sufficient scale which clearly identify:

(1) The location and boundaries of the agricultural operation.

(2) Individual field boundaries under the plan.

(3) Field number and acreage of each field.

(4) The identification of all soil types and slopes on the agricultural operation. An NRCS soil survey map shall be sufficient to satisfy this requirement.

(5) The location of areas where manure application may be limited based on §83.234(5) (relating to nutrient application procedures).

§83.224. Summary of Nutrient Management Plan.

The plan shall contain a summary that identifies: nutrient application rates by field or crop group and procedures and provisions for the utilization or proper disposal of excess manure. Manure management and storage practices, storm water runoff control practices or the existence of a conservation plan, and other appropriate BMPs necessary to protect the quality of surface water and ground water may be referenced in the summary but shall be covered by the appropriate section of the plan.

NUTRIENT APPLICATION

§83.231 Determination of Available Nutrients.

(a) The plan shall include a determination of the amounts, types and sources of nutrients available to be applied to the soil of the agricultural operation. This nutrient determination shall include: manure, sludges, compost, incorporated cover crops, commercial fertilizers, and other nutrients that will be applied to the agricultural operation.

(b) The amount and nutrient content of manure to be applied on the agricultural operation shall be determined as follows:

(1) The plan shall contain a table which indicates the type and number of animals on the agricultural operation.

(2) The amount of manure produced and when it is available for spreading on the agricultural operation shall be calculated based on the average number of AEUs on the agricultural operation or actual production data. Bedding, wash water, rain and runoff shall be included, when mixed with manure, in determining the total volume of manure to be applied.

(3) The nutrient content of the manure shall be determined by using accepted manure sampling and chemical analysis methods. When sampling for analysis is not feasible, properly adjusted standard book values such as those contained in the Manure Management Manual or the Pennsylvania Agronomy Guide shall be used until sampling can be done.

(c) Nitrogen available from manure shall be based on the appropriate availability factors such as those contained in the Manure Management Manual or Pennsylvania Agronomy Guide.

(d) The capacity of manure storage facilities, if present, and the timing and rates of manure and waste generation will be used to determine when the manure will be available for spreading.

(e) The residual nitrogen from legume crops and applications of manure shall be credited when determining nutrient application rates.

(f) Soil tests shall be conducted for phosphorus (P), potassium (K), soil pH, and lime requirement. Soil testing is recommended every three years, or when crops change during the rotation.

(4) The designer of the manure storage facility required by the nutrient management plan shall address the following:

(i) Verification of the minimum manure storage period and minimum manure storage volume documented in the current nutrient management plan.

(ii) Determination of the type and dimensions of facilities considering the environmental and space limitations of the site, as well as the operator's preference.

(iii) An on-site investigation to evaluate the site suitability for a facility in accordance with the standards in the Pennsylvania Technical Guide.

(b) The repair of an existing manure storage facility that is part of a nutrient management plan developed under the Act shall comply with all applicable standards in the Pennsylvania Technical Guide. The location standards do not apply to such facility repairs.

(c) The site specific design for the construction, expansion, or major repair of a liquid or semi-solid manure storage facility covered under the Act shall be done or approved by an engineer registered in Pennsylvania. The engineer shall certify that the design complies with the applicable design standards described in the Pennsylvania Technical Guide, unless an alternate design has been developed and approved by the Commission. The responsible engineer and construction contractor shall certify to the Commission or delegated conservation district that construction of the manure storage facility was completed according to the design and construction standards.

(d) In the case of a leak or spill from any manure storage facility covered under the Act, the operator shall be responsible for implementation the site specific contingency plan developed for the facility. Any leak or spill event which would result in pollution or create a danger of pollution to surface water or ground water shall be immediately reported by telephone to the Department, and if reasonably possible to do so, reported to known downstream users. It is recommended that contingency plans be reviewed with the local emergency management team that would assist during a major leak or spill event.

§83.232. Determination of Nutrients Needed for Crop Production.

(a) The plan shall contain a table which includes the acreage and realistic expected crop yields for each crop group.

(b) Realistic expected crop yields shall be based on an average of the three highest yielding years for a given field or crop group. Expected crop yields higher than historically achieved may be used if the operator provides sufficient justification for the use of the higher yields.

(c) If the information in paragraph (b) is unavailable, soil productivity information specific to the soil series in the field, or the average yield from nearby fields with similar soil type shall be used to determine crop nutrient needs.

(d) The plan shall include a determination of the amount of nutrients necessary for realistic expected crop yields.

(e) The Pennsylvania Agronomy Guide or Manure Management Manual may be used to assist in determining the amount of nutrients necessary for achieving realistic expected crop yields.

§83.233. Determination of Nutrient Application Rates.

(a) Nitrogen shall be applied only in the amounts necessary to achieve realistic expected crop yields or at a rate not exceeding what the crop will utilize for an individual crop year.

(b) The actual planned manure application rate may be any rate equal to or less than the balanced manure application rate based on nitrogen. The balanced manure application rate based on nitrogen shall be determined by first subtracting the amount of available residual nitrogen and any other applied nitrogen, such as nitrogen applied in the starter fertilizer, from the amount of nitrogen necessary for realistic expected yields and then dividing this by the available nitrogen content of the manure as determined by standard methods

(c) The plan shall include calculations demonstrating the difference between the recommended nitrogen necessary for realistic expected crop yields and any nitrogen added including, but not limited to, manure, sludge, starter fertilizer and other fertilizer A deficit may be made up with supplemental nitrogen applications. A recommended nitrogen availability test may also be used to determine supplemental nitrogen needs

§83.234. Nutrient Application Procedures.

The plan shall include nutrient application procedures that meet the following criteria

(1) Nutrients shall be uniformly applied to fields during times and conditions that will hold the nutrients in place for crop growth, and protect surface water and ground water in accordance with the approved manure management practices as described in the Manure Management Manual

(2) Intended target spreading periods for the application of manure shall be included in the plan

(3) Application rates and procedures shall be consistent with the capabilities, including capacity and calibration range of available application equipment

(4) Application rates for liquid manure irrigation shall be based on the lesser of either the nutrient plan application rates determined in accordance with §83 233(a) and (b)(relating to determination of nutrient application rates), or the rates determined to be within infiltration capabilities of the soil such as those contained in the NRCS Pennsylvania Irrigation Guide or the Mid West Plan Service, Livestock Waste Facilities Handbook

(5) Manure may not be applied in the following situations

(i) Within 100 feet of an open sinkhole where surface water flow is toward the sinkhole

(ii) Within 100 feet of private drinking water sources such as wells and springs, where surface water flow is toward the water source

(iii) Within 100 feet of an active public drinking water source, unless other state or federal laws or regulations specify a greater isolation distance

(iv) Within concentrated water flow areas, such as ditches, waterways, gullies, and swales, during times when soil is frozen, snow covered, or saturated

(v) Within 200 feet of streams, lakes, ponds, or other types of surface water conveyance where the slope is toward the channel and greater than 8% as measured within the 200 feet, during times when soil is frozen, snow covered, or saturated.

(vi) Within 100 feet of streams, lakes, ponds or other types of surface water conveyance, when soil is frozen, snow covered, or saturated.

(6) If winter spreading of manure is anticipated, the application procedures for the winter spreading of manure shall be described in the plan The procedures described in the plan shall be consistent with those contained in the Manure Management Manual . If procedures other than those in the Manure Management Manual shall be used, approval must be obtained from the Department or delegated conservation district.

ALTERNATIVE USES FOR EXCESS MANURE

§83.241. Alternative Manure Utilization Plans

For agricultural operations other than CAOs, the plan shall contain a description of the following:

(1) The estimated amount of the manure to be utilized.

(2) The intended season(s) for the utilization.

(3) The alternative manure utilization method such as:

(i) Land application by known importers.

(ii) Transfer through a manure broker.

(iii) Use on the agricultural operation in a manner other than land application

(iv) Marketing through an open advertising system.

MANURE MANAGEMENT

§83.251. Manure Management.

(a) In the preparation of a plan, the nutrient management specialist shall conduct a review of the existence of or potential for water contamination sources due to the inadequacy of existing manure handling, collection, storage and spreading practices These sources include, but are not limited to, the following about 1,000 complimentary tickets to the game.

Roxanne Kirst, Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Queen, left, delivered the first pitch at the start of the Reading Phillies game against the New Haven Ravens on Monday evening. She also got to keep a ball, autographed by all the R-Phils, a minor league team of the Philadelphia Phillies, which they presented to her. Roxanne, together with Tammy Balthaser, representative for the Pennsylvania Beef Council, handed out about 2,000 T-shirts to about 5,000 who attended the game.

Roxanne, 18, is the daughter of Roger and Fern Kirst, Fredericksburg. This was her first promotional event at the Reading Municipal Stadium.

Roxanne said she has done two promotions so far. She enjoys "being a role model for kids" and enjoys being able to meet many kinds of people to "talk about beef."

Roxanne, a sophomore in food science at Penn State, will be traveling to Pittsburgh to attend the National Holstein Association Convention at the end of the week. She will also travel to Denver, Colo. in July as part of the Cattlemen's Association meeting. While in Denver, she will be learning about food safety.

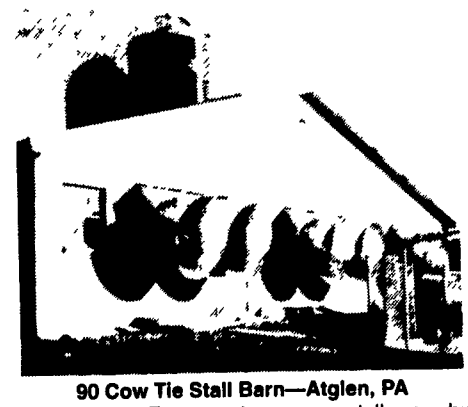
Breeze Master



90 Cow Tie Stall Barn—Atglen, PA

Lapp's Barn Equipment can install a high-performance/high efficiency tunnel ventilation system in your barn. A tunnel ventilation system will give you an even air flow throughout your barn of 2-5 mph. This gives you the advantage of better controlling temperature to give your cows more comfort which means more milk!! Also, a tunnel ventilation system eliminates circulating fans, provides summer and winter ventilation and controls fly problems! An optional unit can even automate your ventilation so you will never even have to worry about it when you're not there, so you can concentrate on other things!
At Lapp's, we sell high quality ventilation systems manufactured by Acme Engineering, Acme products feature such things as:

- Galvanized Construction
- Wide Cambered Propeller
- Rivited Blades
- Unique Captured Bearings
- Vertical Support Frame
- Screens Pre-cut
- Totally Enclosed Motors
- Optional Discharge Diffuser Cone
- Optional Belt Tightener

(i) Manure, contaminated water or nutrients leaving manure storage or animal concentration areas and directly entering surface water or ground water

(2) The inadequate control of storm water flow into manure storage facilities, manure storage areas, and animal concentration areas.

(3) Manure storage facilities overflowing or maintained at levels above freeboard heights.

(4) Manure storage facilities that are inadequately sized for production and expected application periods

(5) Leaking or unstable manure storage facilities

(b) As a part of a plan certification, the nutrient management specialist shall assure that the review required under subsection (a) of this section was undertaken in the preparation of the plan The plan will contain those BMPs that are necessary to correct identified water contamination sources and protect surface water and ground water. BMPs shall meet the specifications contained in the Pennsylvania Technical Guide unless other specifications set forth in §83 311 (relating to minimum standards for manure storage facilities) apply The plan is not required to include engineering design work. However, the implementation of the plan shall require the necessary BMP designs, and these designs shall be kept on record by the operator as a supplement to the plan

(c) The following BMPs may be used to protect water quality and to control water in farmstead, manure storage and animal concentration areas

(i) Manure storage facilities including permanent manure stacking areas. The construction of manure storage facilities is not required unless necessary to protect surface water and ground water as part of an integrated nutrient management system.

(2) Adequate collection of manure from animal concentration areas for utilization on cropland or for other acceptable uses

(3) Diversion of contaminated runoff within animal concentration areas to a storage, lagoon, collection basin, vegetated filter area, or another suitable site or facility

(4) Diversion or elimination of contaminated water sources unless required for proper operation of the manure management system.

(5) Temporary manure stacking areas provided they are located outside concentrated water flow areas and areas where manure application is restricted or prohibited based on §83 234(5) (relating to nutrient application procedures).

(6) Other appropriate BMPs acceptable to the Commission, or the delegated conservation district

(d) When temporary manure stacking areas may be necessary for the implementation of the plan, the plan shall identify those areas available for the storage of manure due to unforeseen circumstances such as adverse weather conditions. Manure shall be removed from temporary stacking areas for utilization on cropland or other acceptable uses as soon as feasible

(e) Information contained in other sections of the plan may be used by the specialist when addressing this section

(f) The siting design and installation of manure storage facilities shall meet the requirements contained in §83 311 (relating to minimum standards for manure storage facilities) and the Pennsylvania Technical Guide

§83.261. Storm Water Runoff Control

(a) Erosion and sedimentation control

(1) The plan shall include a verification of the adequacy of existing erosion and sedimentation control practices on fields, croplands, and pastures The verification may be performed by the specialist in conjunction with other individuals with erosion and sedimentation expertise such as NRCS so conservation district personnel.

(2) An erosion and sedimentation control plan for agricultural plowing and tilling that meets the requirements of 25 Pa. Code Chapter 102 (relating to erosion control) is required in order to minimize the nutrient loss associated with accelerated erosion and sedimentation A current conservation plan meeting the erosion and sedimentation control requirements of 25 Pa. Code Chapter 102 is adequate to meet this requirement

(3) An erosion and sedimentation control plan, or the erosion and sedimentation control portion of a conservation plan shall be developed based upon the information contained in the Department of Environmental Resources' Soil Erosion and Sedimentation Control Manual for Agriculture

(4) The plan included in paragraph (2) shall be attached and become part of the nutrient management plan submitted for review Engineering designs are not required to be included in the nutrient management plan when first developed However, the implementation of the plan shall require the development of the necessary BMP designs, and these designs shall be kept on record by the operator as a supplement to the plan

(b) Animal concentration areas

(1) The plan shall address storm water runoff controls in animal concentration areas in a manner that meets the provisions of §§88 251(a), (b), and (c) (relating to manure management).

(2) Runoff controls in animal concentration areas shall be designed, installed, operated, and maintained in accordance with the standards contained in the Pennsylvania Technical Guide

(3) Engineering designs are not required to be included in the nutrient management plan when first developed However, the implementation of the plan shall require the development of the necessary BMP designs, and these designs shall be kept, on record by the operator as a supplement to the plan

IMPLEMENTATION SCHEDULE

§83.271. Implementation Schedule.

A plan or plan amendment shall contain a reasonable implementation schedule The schedule shall identify when the necessary capital improvements and management changes will be made.

ADDITIONAL PLAN CONTENT REQUIREMENTS FOR CAOs

§83.281. Excess Manure Utilization Plans for CAOs.

(a) When manure will be exported to known landowners or operators for agricultural land application, the plan shall list:

(1) The name(s) and general location of the proposed importing agricultural operation(s)

(2) The estimated number of acres available for spreading manure at the importing agricultural operation(s).

(3) The estimated amount of manure that could be exported to each agricultural operation

(4) The intended season(s) for the manure transfer(s)

(b) When manure will be transferred through a manure broker, the plan shall list

(1) The broker's name

(2) The estimated amount of manure the exporting agricultural operation will transfer through the broker.

(3) The intended season(s) for the manure transfer(s).

(c) When manure will be transferred to a known importer for use other than agricultural land application, the plan shall include the following information

(1) The name and general location of the importing agricultural operation

(2) A brief description of the planned use of the imported manure

(3) The estimated amount of manure the operator plans to transfer to the importer

(4) The intended season(s) for the manure transfer(s)

(d) Where manure is to be processed/utilized on the CAO in a manner other than for agricultural land application, the plan shall briefly describe the planned use of the manure

(e) Nutrient management plans for CAOs that come into existence after the effective date of the regulations, or agricultural operations newly classified as CAOs due to expansion after the effective date of the regulations, shall provide for the utilization of manure by meeting one of the following

(1) Demonstrate agricultural land is available for application by providing the information as in subsection (a)

(2) Include written agreements with importers or brokers and follow subsections (b) or (c)

(3) If manure is to be used on the agricultural operation for purposes other than for land application, describe how the manure is to be processed/utilized as in subsection (d)

(f) Agricultural operations newly classified as CAOs due to the loss of land available for manure application, may use any of the manure utilization options described in this subsection

(g) Where manure is to be marketed from an existing agricultural operation using an open advertising system and the importers cannot be identified at planning time, the plan shall describe the proposed marketing scheme

RECORD KEEPING AND INFORMATIONAL REQUIREMENTS FOR ALL PLANS

§83.291. Record Keeping Relating to Application of Nutrients.

(a) Nutrient management plans developed for CAOs shall, at a minimum, be supported by the information required in §§83 291 through 83 302

(b) A nutrient management plan voluntarily developed for agricultural operations pursuant to the Act shall, at a minimum, be supported by the information required in §§83 291 through 83 293 (relating to record keeping and informational requirements for all plans)

(c) The operator of an agricultural operation that develops a nutrient management plan under the Act shall keep the following accurate records of the land application of nutrients, crop yields, and soil tests on the agricultural

(i) Records of soil testing results shall be maintained consistent with procedures at §83 231(f) (relating to determination of available nutrients)

(2) Records of manure testing results and testing of other nutrient sources shall be maintained consistent with procedures at §83 231(b)(3) (relating to determination of available nutrients)

(3) Land application of nutrients on an agricultural operation shall be documented on an annual basis by recording the following information for each source of nutrients

(i) The locations and number of acres of nutrient application

(ii) The month(s) of nutrient application

(iii) The rate of nutrient application for each field or crop group

(4) Annual crop yields for each crop group shall be recorded

(5) Annual manure production calculated consistent with procedures at §83 231(b)(2) (relating to determination of available nutrients) shall be recorded

(d) Records required under this subsection shall be maintained for a minimum of three years

§83.292. Alternative Manure Utilization Record Keeping.

(a) Record keeping for manure transfers

(1) A Manure Transfer Sheet shall be used for all manure transfers from land under the control of agricultural operations falling under she Act

(2) The Manure Transfer Sheet shall be provided by the Commission

(3) Computer-generated forms other than the Manure Transfer Sheet provided by the Commission may be used provided they contain the same information as, and are reasonably similar in format to, the forms provided by the Commission

(4) Record keeping related to the application of exported manure shall comply with the following.

(i) The exporter shall be responsible for the completion of Section 1 of the Manure Transfer Sheet.

(ii) Where the exporter, or person working under the direction of the exporter, applies the manure to the land, the exporter shall be responsible for completion of Section 2 of the Manure Transfer Sheet

(5) Operators of agricultural operations other than CAOs need not submit manure transfer records to the agency approving the plan but shall retain these records

(b) Record keeping for alternative manure utilization by means other than manure transfer Operators shall keep annual records of the amount of manure utilized in any manner other than through manure transfers

(c) Retaining records Records required under this section shall be retained for a minimum of three (3) years

§83.293. Exported Manure Informational Packets.

(a) When manure is exported from an agricultural operation, the exporter will provide the importer with an appropriately completed Manure

(b) If the manure is to be land applied, the exporter is encouraged to provide the following:

(1) A fact sheet allowing for quick estimation of manure application rates.

(2) The applicable sections of the Manure Management Manual.

(3) A concise educational publication describing the key concepts of nutrient management.

(4) Additional informational items as supplied by the Commission for this purpose.

(c) The Commission will provide the materials listed in subsection (b) for distribution by the exporter

ADDITIONAL RECORD KEEPING AND INFORMATIONAL REQUIREMENTS FOR CAOS

§83.301. Record Keeping for Manure Transfers from CAOs.

(a) In addition to the requirements of §83.292 (relating to alternative manure utilization record keeping), CROs shall comply with the requirements of this section.

(b) Those exporters following plans that detail the exporting of manure to known landowners, as in §83.281(a) (relating to excess manure utilization plans for CAOs), need not submit manure transfer records to the agency approving the plan, but shall retain these records for review by the appropriate agency personnel in accordance with §83.292(c) (relating to alternative manure utilization record keeping). All other CAOs exporting manure shall be required to, within one year of approval of the plan, submit to the agency which approved the plan a copy of the Manure Transfer Sheets or the Summary of Manure Transfers for all manure transfers. Submittal of these records for subsequent years will be at the discretion of the agency which approved the plan.

(c) Annual Summary of Manure Transfers. Where manure transfer records are required to be submitted to the reviewing authority, the exporter may either submit the Manure Transfer Sheets for all manure transfers within the appropriate time frame, or the exporter may summarize the information from these sheets on the Annual Summary of Manure Transfers and submit this form only.

(d) The Summary of Manure Transfers forms shall be provided by the Commission. Computer-generated forms other than the Summary of Manure Transfers provided by the Commission may be used provided they contain the same information as, and are reasonably similar in format to, the forms provided by the Commission

§83.302 Exported Manure Informational Packets for Distribution by CAOs.

(a) In addition to the requirements of §83.293 (relating to exported manure informational packets), CAOs exporting manure shall comply with the requirements of this section

(b) If the exported manure is to be land applied, the exporter shall be responsible for providing the informational materials described in subsection 83.293(b) (relating to exported manure informational packets) only if the importer/broker does not already have a current copy of the particular document.

MINIMUM STANDARDS FOR MANURE STORAGE FACILITIES

§83.311. Minimum Standards for the Design, Construction, Location, Operation and Maintenance of Manure Storage Facilities.

(a) The minimum standards contained in this section shall apply to new manure storage facilities constructed and existing manure storage facilities expanded as part of a nutrient management plan developed under the Act.

(i) Manure storage facilities shall be designed, constructed, located, operated, and maintained to prevent the pollution of surface and ground water, or the off-site migration of any such pollution, by meeting the standards contained in the Pennsylvania Technical Guide, except where these standards conflict with the provisions of this subchapter.

(2) Where standards for a particular design of a manure storage facility do not exist in the Pennsylvania Technical Guide, best available technology will be used in the planning, design, operation, and maintenance of the facility Commission or delegated conservation district approval will be required before construction of the facility

(3) In addition to the above subsections (1) and (2), manure storage facilities shall be designed and located in accordance with the following criteria

(i) Facilities shall comply with the applicable criteria in 25 Pa Code Chapter 105 (relating to dam safety and waterway management).

(ii) The location and construction of facilities to be placed within a floodplain, must be consistent with local ordinances developed under the Pennsylvania Flood Plain Management Act, which relates to the dangers and damage of floodwaters

(iii) The sides of facilities located in a floodplain shall be protected from erosion and scouring from a 25 year flood event

(iv) Facilities, except reception pits and transfer pipes, may not be constructed.

(A) Within 100 feet of any perennial stream, river, spring, lake, pond or reservoir.

(B) Within 100 feet of any water well, or open sinkhole

(C) Within 100 feet of any property line, unless the landowner(s) within the 100 feet distance from the facility otherwise agree and execute a waiver in a form acceptable to the Commission.

(D) Within 200 feet of any perennial stream, river, spring, lake, pond, reservoir, or any water well where such facilities (except permanent stacking and compost facilities) are located on slopes exceeding 8 percent or have a capacity of 1,500,000 gallons or greater.

(E) Within 200 feet of any property line, where such facilities (except permanent stacking and compost facilities) are located on slopes exceeding 8 percent or have a capacity of 1,500,000 gallons or greater, unless the landowner(s) within the 200 foot distance from the facility otherwise agree and execute a waiver in a form acceptable to the Commission

(v) The Commission or a delegated conservation district may waive the distance restrictions set forth in this section only for the expansion of existing manure facilities, or the construction of new facilities on agricultural operations that were producing livestock or poultry on the effective date of these regulations, if the following can be Demonstrated to the satisfaction of the Commission or delegated conservation district

(A) The siting restrictions contained in subparagraph (iv) would make the placement economically unreasonable or physically impractical

(B) a site investigation (including consultation with affected landowner(s) has been conducted which demonstrates that the proposed system will protect water quality and protect against offsite migration of pollution.

(C) the type, design, and contingency plan developed for the facilities meet additional criteria the Commission or delegated conservation district, in consultation with the NRCS, may require to protect water quality, and protect against off-site migration of pollution, and

(D) where a waiver from the water well setback requirement is requested, the well construction meets the criteria that the Commission or delegated conservation district, in consultation with the NRCS, deems necessary to protect water quality.

§83.321. Initial Plan Review and Approval.

(a) Plans or plan amendments required for CAOs shall be submitted for initial review and approval to delegated conservation districts or alternatively to the Commission for agricultural operations located in counties not delegated administrative authority under §83.371 (relating to delegation to local agencies) Any person performing the plan review shall be certified in accordance with the Department of Agriculture's nutrient management specialist certification requirements at 7 Pa Code §§131.1-131.51 (relating to nutrient management certification) A plan or plan amendment voluntarily developed for an agricultural operation other than a CAO and submitted to the Commission or delegated conservation district shall be deemed approved unless disapproved by the Commission or district within 45 days of receipt

(b) The Commission or delegated conservation district shall either approve, modify or disapprove the plan or plan amendment within 90 days of receipt The notice of determination to modify or disapprove a plan or plan amendment shall be provided in writing to the person submitting the same and include an explanation specifically stating the reasons for modification or disapproval

(c) Approvals shall be granted only for those plans or plan amendments that satisfy the requirements of the Act and this subchapter.

(d) If a plan or plan amendment is disapproved, the person submitting the plan or plan amendment for the first time shall have 90 days after receipt of the notice of disapproval to resubmit a revised plan or plan amendment

(e) An agricultural operation that submits a complete plan or plan amendment is authorized to implement the same if the Commission or delegated conservation district fails to act within 90 days of submittal When the Commission or delegated conservation district fails to act within 90 days of plan submission and the plan or plan amendment is resubmitted and the delegated conservation district or Commission again fails to act within 90 days of submittal, it shall be deemed approved

§83.322. Plan Implementation.

(a) A CAO required to develop a nutrient management plan pursuant to §§83 211 and 83 212 (relating to nutrient management plans) shall fully implement the plan within three years of the date the plan is approved or deemed approved or for which implementation is otherwise authorized pursuant to §83 321(e) (relating to initial plan review and approval), unless extended upon approval of the Commission for cause shown or a plan amendment The three-year implementation schedule shall be extended an additional two years for individual substantial capital improvements required under an approved plan for an operation required to submit a plan pursuant to §83 211(a) (-elating to general requirement) if

(i) The owner or operator demonstrates that the cost of all or part of the individual improvements for which the extension is applicable cannot be financed through available funding mechanisms, and

(2) A sum of $2,000,000 or more has not been appropriated for grants and loans to the Nutrient Management Fund above and beyond any Chesapeake Bay nonpoint source pollution abatement moneys that may be appropriated to the fund, within one year of the effective date of this subchapter

(b) Whatever adjustments are made in the implementation of the plan, the nutrient application rates must be balanced as described in §83 233 (relating to determination of nutrient application rates) The owner, operator or nutrient management specialist shall review the nutrient management plan at least annually to ensure that this condition is met

(c) At a minimum of every three (3) years, the plan shall be reviewed by a nutrient management specialist If the agricultural operation is still consistent with the approved plan, the specialist shall provide such notice to the reviewing agency A plan amendment shall be submitted to the reviewing agency in accordance with §83 321(a) (relating to initial plan review and approval), if the agricultural operation has changed from that described in the approved plan

§83.331. Plan Amendments

(a) In addition to the requirements of §83 322(c) (relating to plan implementation), a plan amendment is required when the operator of an agricultural operation expects to make significant changes in the management of nutrients from those contained in the approved plan Significant changes in the management of nutrients include the following

(1) A net increase of greater than 10% occurs in AEUs per acre,

(2) A change in crop management that results in a reduction of greater than 20% in nitrogen necessary for realistic expected crop yields or the amount the crops will utilize for an individual crop year

(3) For CAOs, a change in method of excess manure utilization under §83 281 (relating to excess manure utilization plans for CAOs)

(Turn to Page A35)

(b) A plan amendment is required when calculations in the plan as originally submitted are in error.

(c) A plan amendment shall be developed and certified by a nutrient management specialist and shall be submitted to the reviewing agency in accordance with §83.321(a) (relating to initial plan review and approval).

§83.332. Amendments Due to Unforeseen Circumstances.

Changes in the implementation of plans due to unforeseen circumstances shall be certified by a nutrient management specialist as meeting all applicable requirements of this subchapter and submitted to the district within 30 days of implementation. Unforeseen circumstances shall include the following:

(1) Outbreak of contagious disease. Manure management must be consistent with the procedures set forth in §83 341 (relating to manure management in emergency situations).

(2) Failures or malfunctions of equipment or storage that require a change in manure handling procedures.

(3) Other unforeseen circumstances that cause a significant change in the management of nutrients on the agricultural operation, such as:

(i) Crop failure due to adverse weather conditions,

(ii) Unanticipated loss of rented land

§83.333. Plan Transfers.

(a) An approved nutrient management plan may be transferred to a subsequent owner or operator of an agricultural operation by notification of the transfer to the Commission or delegated conservation district, unless the transfer results in operational changes requiring plan amendments) under §83.331 (relating to plan amendments).

(b) If the transfer of the plan results in operational changes requiring plan amendment(s) under §83.331 (relating to plan amendments), the plan amendments shall be submitted for approval of the Commission or delegated conservation district along with the notification required under subsection (a).

CONTAGIOUS DISEASE EMERGENCIES

§83.341 Manure Management in Emergency Situation-.

(a) In situations where there is an outbreak of a contagious disease as regulated by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, manure management will be consistent with those requirements set forth in the Department of Agriculture's Order of Quarantine issued pursuant to the Domestic Animal Act, 3 P. S. §311 et seq., and regulations promulgated thereunder.

(b) The Department of Agriculture shall notify the Commission when a quarantine is imposed on an agricultural operation covered by the Act. The Department of Agriculture shall supply the Commission and delegated conservation district with a copy of the quarantine document.

(c) Unless otherwise directed by the quarantine, an amended nutrient management plan shall be developed addressing the management of manure under the quarantine This plan shall be certified by a nutrient management specialist prior to implementation and submitted to the reviewing agency within 30 days of implementation.

(d) Where nutrients are applied in excess of crop need due to the quarantine restrictions placed on the manure, and the cropping sequence permits, cover crops shall be planted to the site to minimize the loss of these nutrients.

(e) The temporary storage of manure during the quarantine shall be done in accordance to §83.251 (relating to manure management).

(f) The application of manure during the quarantine shall be done in accordance with §83 234(5) (relating to nutrient application procedures).

(g) Standard soil tests will be required each year for crop fields where the implementation of the quarantine necessitated that nutrients be applied in excess of the original nutrient plan recommendations. In addition to the standard test, an appropriate test indicating the amount of nitrogen available for crop uptake shall be required for one year beyond the cessation of excess manure application

§83.351 Applicant Eligibility

(a) An owner or operator of an agricultural operation existing on the effective date of the nutrient management regulations may apply for financial assistance for the implementation of nutrient management plans under the Act. The owner or operator shall have legal and financial responsibility for the agricultural operation during the term of the financial assistance provided by the Commission

(b) If the applicant is a lessee/operator, the applicant shall apply jointly with the owner of the agricultural operation for financial assistance The lessee/operator and owner shall be jointly responsible for the repayment of financial assistance.

§83.352. Condition for Receipt of Financial Assistance.

Any agricultural operation approved to receive financial assistance under the Chesapeake Bay Nonpoint Source Pollution Abatement Program after the date of this subchapter or otherwise receiving financial assistance Act for nutrient management plans shall agree to develop and a nutrient management plan as a condition for receiving the assistance.

§83.353 Financial Assistance Criteria

The Commission shall consider the following criteria in reviewing applications for financial assistance.

(1) Whether the project will improve the health, safety or environment of the people of this Commonwealth and otherwise satisfy the purposes of the Act and this subchapter.

(2) The long-term financial and/or operational viability of the proper manner.

(3) The cost effectiveness of the proposed BMPs in Comparison with other alternatives;

(4) The applicant's ability to operate and maintain the BMPs in a proper manner

§83.354. Application Procedure.

(a) An application for financial assistance shall be made on forms approved by the Commission and shall be addressed to the Commission.

(b) An application received by the Commission shall be reviewed for completeness and eligibility. An application shall include a summary of the approved nutrient management plan which identifies the proposed BMPs for which financial assistance is being requested

(c) If the application is determined to be incomplete, the Commission shall provide the applicant with a written explanation of the reasons for the determination, and request the additional information needed to complete the application process

(d) The Commission shall approve or deny each application submitted. Within 45 days of receipt of all required information, applicants shall be notified in writing of actions taken on their applications and their right to appeal such actions

(e) The applicant may appeal to the Commission for review of an action taken by a delegated agent under this section within 30 days of notice of such action.

§83.355. Project Evaluation Criteria.

§83.356. Eligible Costs.

(a) Eligible project costs considered by the Commission shall be those costs necessary to implement the nutrient management plan and may include the following:

(I) Project design and engineering including plans, specifications, cost estimates, certifications, and surveys

(2) Costs associated with obtaining the financial assistance and may include loan origination and/or loan application fees, title fees, and ; fling fees

(3) Project construction, including labor, materials, machinery, equipment and site preparation associated with the project.

(4) Other costs the Commission has determined to be necessary

(b) Funds encumbered or advanced for the project which are not used for eligible costs in the project shall be returned to the fund or account from which they originated for reallocation and use in the implementation of other nutrient management plans.

§83.357. Loans.

(a) The Commission shall issue loans and set applicable terms and conditions it deems appropriate The Commission may consider factors as it deems relevant including the following:

(1) Current market interest rates.

(2) The financial ability of the applicant to repay.

(3) The necessity to maintain the Fund in a financially sound manner

(b) Loans may be based on the ability to repay from future revenue to be derived from the applicant's agricultural operation Loans may be secured by a mortgage and/or the security interest, or by any other fiscal manner which the Commission deems appropriate The minimum rate of interest to be paid on any loan made shall be one percent (1%).

(c) The term of loans shall not exceed 10 years from the day the loan agreements are executed

(d) The Commission may defer the initiation of the repayment of principal up to 12 months from the date the loan agreements are executed. The borrower may begin principal and interest payments sooner than required, if he or she so desires

§83.358. Loan Guaranteed

The Commission may make loan guarantees if the Commission determines that it is an appropriate method so accomplish the purposes of the Act or this subchapter.

§83.359. Grants.

(a) A grant will be considered when funds have been made available to the Commission and the Commission determines that the financial condition of the recipient is such that repayment of a loan is unlikely and that the recipient will be financially distressed by the implementation of BMPs without a grant.

(b) The Commission may limit individual grant awards to whatever amount it deems appropriate. The maximum amount of a grant may not exceed a maximum of 80% of the eligible project costs, or a sum of $30,000. Any agricultural operation that has received or is approved to receive financial assistance under the Chesapeake Bay Nonpoint Source Pollution Abatement Program shall be eligible for grants under the Nutrient Management Financial Assistance Program up to a maximum of $30,000 in grants from combined sources of the Chesapeake Bay Program and the Nutrient Management Financial Assistance Program.

(c) A grant will be made subject to terms and conditions the Commission establishes.

§83.360. Grants and Loans.

The Commission shall, where it deems it appropriate and to the extent financial circumstances permit, mix grant funds with loan funds

§83.361 Funding limitations.

(a) Total funding limits Total assistance provided under loads, grants, and loan guarantees for the implementation of a single nutrient management plan shall not exceed $75,000..

(b) Partial funding. The Commission reserves the right to provide funding for only a portion of the total costs of the project or only a portion of the amount requested in a financial assistance application.

(c) Least Cost Alternative. Financial assistance provided shall not exceed that amount necessary for the least-cost alternative for each BMP included.

(d) Limitation.

(1) No financial assistance will be made available that might jeopardize or compromise the Fund.

(2) Financial assistance will not be available for refinancing.

(3) Financial assistance will not be available for BMPs where construction is initiated prior to submission of an application for financial assistance, unless a Letter of No Prejudice has been issued by the Commission as provided in subsection (e).

(e) Letters of no prejudice. Exceptions to the general prohibition against initiation of construction prior to consideration by the Commission may be made when plan implementation is required to proceed before an application for financial assistance can be submitted to the Commission. In this case, a potential applicant may apply to the Commission for a letter of no prejudice wherein the Commission agrees to consider a future application for financial assistance without limitation or prejudice even if project construction has begun at that time. If the Commission issues a letter of no prejudice, project construction can begin without jeopardizing or benefiting a future application.

§83.362. Implementation and Reporting.

(a) The Commission shall develop financial assistance documents which shall, among other things, define the terms and conditions under which the financial assistance is offered, and specify other documents determined to be necessary by the Commission.

(b) Unless otherwise approved by the Commission, the applicant shall begin construction of the project, in accordance with its application within s months after approval by the Commission If the applicant does not begin implementation within the specified time period and continue work without unreasonable interruption, the financial assistance may be withdrawn by the Commission

(c) Design and construction of BMPs shall conform to the standards found in the Pennsylvania Technical Guide. The applicant may not significantly deviate from the scope, approved design or time schedule for a project unless prior written approval is given by the Commission or delegated agent The term "scope", as used in this subsection, shall mean the extent of project activities determined by the Commission to be eligible for financial assistance.

(1) A request for significant changes in scope shall be submitted in writing to the Commission or delegated agent for approval. Where changes in scope require a nutrient management plan amendment under the criteria of §83 331(relating to plan amendments), the applicant shall provide a copy of the approved plan amendment.

(2) Funding eligibility for a change in scope will be based on the criteria described in §83.353 (relating to financial assistance criteria). Consent of the Commission to a change in scope will not be deemed to increase the amount of financial assistance provided without the express approval of the Commission. Funding for changes in the scope of an assistance project will be approved only in the following circumstances·

(i) The change in scope is a result of new or revised requirements, Federal legislation, or a Federal regulation thereunder, State legislation or State regulation promulgated thereunder, The Act (3 P.S. §§1701-1719), or this subchapter, The Clean Streams Law (35 P.S. §§691.1-91.1001) or regulations promulgated thereunder.

(ii) The change in scope is necessary to protect the structural or process integrity of the facilities.

(iii) Adverse conditions are identified during the construction of the facilities which could not have been foreseen by the design engineer prior to encountering the condition.

(iv) The change is necessary to relieve emergency conditions occurring durng construction of the facilities

(d) A request for a disbursal of financial assistance shall be on forms approved by the Commission and shall be submitted on a schedule approved by the Commission.

(e) The applicant shall maintain project progress and financial records

(f) If the applicant fails to comply with this section, the Commission may withdraw the remaining funds allocated to the project, as well as take any other action which it is legally entitled to take.

§83.363. Delegation of Financial Assistance.

(a) Under Section 4(3) of the Conservation District Law (3 P.S. §852(3)) and subject to this section, the Commission may by written agreement delegate to one or more agents the administration of the financial assistance provisions of this subchapter set forth at §§83 351-83.362.

(b) To the extent delegated by the agreement, the delegations may include the authority to review and approve applications for financial assistance under the Act and this subchapter and to exercise other powers and duties otherwise vested in the Commission to administer the financial assistance program.

(b) The delegation of administrative or enforcement authority may be made to a conservation district when the distract demonstrates it has or will have an adequate program and sufficient resources to accept and implement the delegation.

(c) To the extent delegated by the agreement, the delegations may include the authority to enforce the Act and ths chapter and to exercise other powers and duties otherwise vested in the Commission to implement the Act.

(d) A delegation agreement shall:

(1) Specify the powers and duties to be performed by the delegated distnct

(2) Provide for the commitment of sufficient trained staff and resources to perform the powers and duties to be delegated.

(3) Require the delegated conservation district to maintain records of activities performed under the delegation.

(4) Provide for the monitoring and supervision by the Commission of performance by the delegated conservation district of the functions delegated under the agreement.

(e) When the Commission delegates one or more of its powers and duties to a delegated conservation district, the Commission will retain the concurrent power to administer and enforce the Act and this subchapter

OTHER PLANNING PROVISIONS

Patton Leaves Extension To Become Full-Time 'Mr. Mom'

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

MACUNGIE (Berks Co.) — "What women have been doing for thousands of years, I've just discovered," Jeff Patton said as he juggled 15-month-old Christiane on his hip while pausing to admire a stone found by 5-year-old Lee.

Patton recently resigned from his job as multicounty extension agent to become a full-time "Mr. Mom."

Better make that dad, although what Patton does is traditionally considered full-time mommy duty.

Patton did not quit his career so he could get some remodeling projects finished around the house.

He said, "My reason was to devote time to the children."

Before the switch, Patton and his wife Carol, a physician, felt the suffocating vise of tight scheduling.

"We were always rushing — always tired," Carol said of the couple's previous hassle with trying to be both perfect parents and career professionals.

Before parenthood, the Pattons had every intention of combining full-time careers with parenting. After the birth of their first child, they had little difficulty settling into a routine of dropping off Lee for child care and working full time. Also, Carol's parents were available for babysitting several days weekly.

But when Chrissy was born, the workload increased and now it was double the things that could go wrong.

"It was too stressful with both of us working full-time," Carol said. "I no longer felt, 'yes I can do this.'"

Instead, reality kept reminding her, "No, I can't do it all. I am not super mom."

The parents felt guilty awakening the children and rushing them through breakfast, then dropping them off at daycare so they could get to work in time.

"Our children are not morning people. It seems unfair to rush them through breakfast and dressing before they are schoolage." Breakfast for the parents often turned out to be a bagel or pop tart eaten in the car."

Another taxing problem was that Chrissy would often awaken three times during the night and take only a one hour nap during the day.

At work, the demands of sychronizing childcare, household duties, and day-to-day responsibilities were always on their mind. "Who was able to pick up the children that day? What needed to be picked up at the grocery store?"

The parents recalled their own relatively free childhood when a different era was in effect. Carol's mother, a secretary, was required to stop working as soon as her pregnancy showed.

They remembered carefree summertime schedules, with no set time for getting up and rushing off to baby sitters, no set schedules — just time to enjoy being a child.

Patton said, "With both of us working, we thought that our children would never know summer as a time free to be a child. And, yet, we wanted to let our kids be kids without a lot of early structure in learning."

Patton, who grew up in Ohio, described himself as a suburban kid who wanted to get into agriculture. He worked on farms, for the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau, the Pa. Dept. of Ag in market development, and as an agricultural representative for PP&L before becoming the multicounty marketing agent for Northampton, Lehigh, Berks, Montgomery, and Bucks counties.

Without the panic of rushing from one place to another, the Pattons have discovered how much fun family togetherness can be. Carol works as a doctor while Jeff resigned from his job as Penn State extension agent to provide full-time care for Lee, 5, and Christiane, 15 months.

"I loved my job — it wasn't that I was dissatisfied with it that influenced my decision to give it up," Patton said. "I told my boss that my top three reasons for leaving were Carol, Lee, and Chrissy.

"My pivotal point (in deciding to become a stay-at-home parent) was when I was at a meeting with colleagues Penn State," Patton said. The discussion centered on families and each one agreed that it was best for children to have a full-time parent at home."

It struck Patton as ironic he and Carol believed that a stay-at-home parent provided a more positive environment for a child, but didn't provide that.

"Parents and children deserve each other (time together)," he said.

Carol and he agreed that "children are more important than a career." Nonetheless, a breadwinner is also needed in the family.

After months of deliberation, the Pattons decided that it would work best if he were the one to quit his job to concentrate on full-time parenting.

"There is no longer this constant panic of hurry, hurry, hurry," Carol said. "No more mad dashes to pick up something for supper at the supermarket."

And, most important of all, is the atmosphere created that allows parents and children to enjoy each other. Lots of laughing, touching, and joy permeates throughout the family.

Both husband and wife emphatically agree that it's the best decision they made.

Although Patton is shocked to discover how hard he can work all day with very little tangible evidence to show for it, he said, "I wouldn't trade my situation."

Carol doesn't put pressure on him to do chores around the house or to have dinner made. She said, "It has taken tremendous pressure off of me by knowing Jeff is with the children. I know it's in the children's best interest. Some days if Jeff gets one load of laundry done, it is an accomplishment. I consider getting anything done around the house is an extra bonus."

On his first day home, Patton was quite pleased with his accomplishments.

He said, "By 9:15 a.m., I had ironed two shirts and one pair of pants."

But his industrious pace was interrupted when, one hour later, a bee stung Chrissy and her arm was swelling.

He called his doctor-wife for advice and dropped all work-related projects to concentrate on Chrissy's care. Four weeks later, Patton admitted, "I haven't ironed since."

The weeks have been a training ground in learning to become more efficent in parenting skills.

"I learned to start the day with Kleenex in my pocket," Patton said as he made a quick swipe for Chrissy, who foresaw the dreaded white hankie and made a squirmy getaway.

Patton has also learned to do housework in snatches. "Sometimes I'm only to sweep under half the bed before dropping it for childcare," he said.

The Pattons are grateful to have the choice of having a parent be able to stay at home.

"I'm sure that nine out of 10 fathers love their children as much as I do, but only one in 10 have a situation that allows them to stay at home," Patton said.

According to a recent Knight Ridder Newspaper article, stay-at-home fathers are declining as the economy picks up. In 1991, about 20 percent considered themselves stay-at-home fathers. That figure dropped to 16 percent in 1993.

Some of those figures reflect dads being stay-at-home fathers because they were laid off their jobs and were unable to get another one.

For Patton, it is a choice — not something he is doing because he doesn't have other options.

Nonetheless, the change hasn't been without sacrifice. After a long-term leave of absence, will he be able to re-enter the career field or will his skills be obsolete?

Also, he was eligible to take a sabbatical to earn a master's degree and have the opportunity for extension work in a foreign settings, something he had always wanted.

"Of course, one hears so much about the importance of saving for the future, of starting a child's college fund now," Patton said.

HOMESTEAD NOTES

"Men," Patton jokes, "always want to be recognized for accomplishments that women take for granted." After he became a stay-at-home father and the primary care provider for the children, it took him three weeks to finish washing this window in between child-care responsibilities. He conned his wife into pinning a medal on him for, what he considers, a notable accomplishment.

Full-Time 'Mr. Mom'

more important to spend time with the children than to have money saved for the future.

He is using the time to take the children on field trips, fishing, and to see local attractions.

"One thing that I always wanted to take advantage of is a pick-your-own farm. Every year, as the extension agent, I helped compile a list of those places, but I never had time to take advantage of visiting one. I'm looking forward to it," he said.

In his job as extension agent, a lot of talk about precut vegetables caused excitement in the industry.

"But as a shopper, I see greatly deteriorated quality in precut vegetables and I don't see them as good value," Patton said.

The Pattons own four acres, where Patton has used his horticulture interests to cultivate plants and a water garden.

"Although I'm a city girl, I've always dreamed of having a little piece of land," Carol said.

She grew up in a traditional family setting in the Allentown area. Her parents pushed education. Although gender roles were not stressed in her family, Carol's decision to become a doctor was something "I fell into instead of planned," she said.

Jeff said that he does feel a bit intimidated when he strolls past construction workers sweating on the job. His solution is to wear garden gloves while pushing the stroller. Which, he believes, gives the impression that he was sweating in the garden and only took a break to push his daughter in the stroller.

She was a biology major in college when a professor encouraged her to take the exam to see whether or not she would qualify for medical school. She did qualify. Because she loved studying and learning, she decided to train in internal medicine.

She liked working in geriatrics. Although the medical profession doesn't consider that field as prestigious as some, for Carol it has been exactly right. Being a staff doctor for a nursing home facility allows her to work regular daytime hours — a privilege in medical care.

Patton's decision to become a stay-at-home dad not only allows Carol more time to spend with the children after work but also more time to cook and bake.

Ida's Notebook

by

Ida Risser

This Saturday, June 24, my grandmother would be almost 150 years old. This fact got me to thinking of some of the stories that I've heard about her life.

She was raised on a large farm in eastern Lancaster County with an older sister and a younger brother. One tragic story tells of the older girls being given the responsibility of watching their brother. Apparently, he wandered away and fell into a small stream in their meadow and drowned. This tragedy had a profound effect on the whole family and the mother spent her later years keeping a room full of dolls that she made. These were given to all visiting children.

My great-grandfather was a farmer who liked to travel as he crossed the ocean several times to visit relatives. He also is remembered for putting a glass roof on his barn. Some of the blue, green, yellow and amber glass is still in my possession as it had to be removed because it was too heavy and made the barn too hot.

The barn on this property was burned twice. The first time was when a hired girl, who was hunting eggs, dropped her candle. Later, a simple-minded hired girl purposely set it on fire. My great-grandfather was coming home from Lancaster when he got the news. It is said that he immediately turned the team around and went back for a load of lumber to rebuild.

This farm had tenant houses, a blacksmith, a cooper, a wagon shed, pig sty, tobacco shed, and corn barn. The large brick house is still being used as a dwelling and the farm is quite productive.

My grandmother married Benjamin Landis when she was 19 years old and they moved to what is now "Landis Homes," a retirement village. That is where my mother was born.

Now that I've gone down memory lane, it is time to come back to reality and go to work in my gardens again.

Baked beans. Lasagna. Pot Pie.

Baked ham. Fried chicken. Pizza. Spaghetti.

Offerings already weighing down the long table are shuffled closer together, to make room for the growing array of mouthwatering family favorites.

Macaroni salad. Potato salad. Tossed salad. Broccoli salad.

"Cholesterol City," wisecracks a family member, plate in hand, as he lines up to select from the groaning tables of food. Greetings and laughter pervade this informal gathering of familiar and unfamiliar faces, several dozen of us, kinfolk by blood and by marriage.

Family reunions. Marked by more food than we can collectively consume, old and new photographs passed around, items of family history, whispered queries of "who is that?"—cemented together by fellowship, shared ties and memories.

Chocolate cake. Chocolate pie. Brownies.

"Guess I'll hit the dessert table," grins our son-in-law, awed that the array of sweets even surpasses the entrees. We kiddingly debate if he's safe to go ahead of me in line and chance being run over by his dessert-loving mother-in-law.

Coconut cream pie. Cookies. Jello molds. Candy. Fruit trays.

Actually, on this Sunday afternoon I'm quite content to just relax and watch while others line up for their selection of sweets. Because, the sweetest thing at this whole gathering is just inches away, snoozing contentedly in his snuggly-cushioned, infant carrier-seat.

Our new grandson.

Attending his first family gathering at two weeks of age, Joshua Andrew is oblivious to the food, the fussing over him, the barrage of questions everyone runs by his proud parents. Already at this tender age, he has experienced birth, a two-day stay in neonatal intensive care after arriving with pneumonia, phenomenal recovery after prayers from Pennsylvania to Alaska, a cross-country flight and endless attention from a barrage of adoring parents, grandparents, great-grandparents and assorted relatives and friends.

And through it all gained a pound to add to his original nine-plus.

The sweetest, most precious baby God ever made. But then, I might be prejudiced.

It's allowed, I'm assured.

Few things tighten the knots in family ties like new babies. Who does it look like? Whose nose, hair, mouth, ears, etc. does the baby have? (Daddy's, in Josh's case, right down to his abundant, dark hair.)

If it weren't for babies, family reunions wouldn't be.

Sure, we could gather to share the groaning board, but it would be just another group dinner. There would be no need to retell the funny family stories, re-look at the old photographs, rehash the "remember whens." Reunions re-establish roots—and all babies need roots.

Like most kids, Josh will probably find such family get-togethers boring once he hits elementary school age until he, too, reaches fatherhood. Then, suddenly, family roots, family history, traditions, take on a whole new meaning once you become a parent. Who we are and where we've come from are much more significant in the fast-passing course of our lives.

So, a new leaf has sprouted on our sprawling family trees. Welcome, baby Joshua!

Agri-Women Fly-In To Support Farming

Washington, D.C.—American Agri-Women (AAW) members and leaders met with key agency and congressional leaders during the organization's annual Fly-In. Areas of interest and concern included reforms to food safety regulations, the Endangered Species Act, property rights, resource management, tax and insurance laws.

Meeting with top USDA Administrators, 47 members heard updates on the USDA reorganization, trade outlook for agricultural commodities, new crop insurance programs and the Ag in the Classroom program.

Dr. Wendy Gramm, chairman of the National Policy Forum's Agriculture, Natural Resources & Energy Council, spoke about the importance of women in the policy setting process, and discussed current trade issues. Gramm noted, "The future for the agriculture sector is opening up trade and enhancing private property rights and free enterprise."

At the well attended reception hosted by AAW for members of Congress and staffers, AAW president Ardath DeWall concluded "Our work here has been most worthwhile and encouraging." Members discussed AAW's priority issues with House Ag Committee Chairman Pat Roberts (R-KS), Representative Phil English (R-PA), Representative Richard Pombo (R-CA) and Representative Helen Chenoweth (R-ID).

American Agri-Women is a national coalition of farm, ranch and allied business individuals and organizations whose livelihoods depend on agriculture. The organization's annual Fly-In to Washington, D.C. is one of many efforts to achieve its vision to be a force for truth: a reasoned, nonpartisan voice for the agricultural community to the public.

For more information about American Agri-Women or AAW's positions on issues of concern to agriculture, please contact: Ardath DeWall, AAW president, 11841 N. Mt. Vernon Rd., Shannon, IL 61078 (815) 864-2359.

Consuming Thoughts

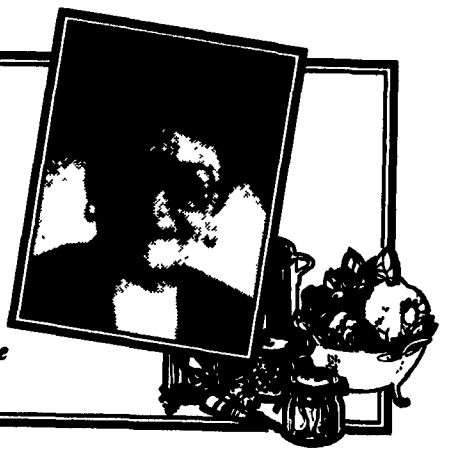
Fay Strickler

Penn State Extension Home Economist For Berks Co.



If you're looking for light, healthy meals that are quick and easy to prepare, try preparing recipes made with rice, a natural convenience food. Spending less time in the kitchen during the summer months is high on the priority list for most homemakers, so why not consider making a double batch of rice and refrigerate the extra rice to use late in the week for a salad, casserole or dessert.

Rice, a dietary staple for millions, can be a low-fat, economical, nutritious and versatile addition to many meals. Rice may be long, medium or short grain. When cooked, long-grain rice is light and fluffy and grains are separate and distinct. When short or medium grain rice is cooked, the grains are moist and tend to cling together. Here is a guide to help you understand the different kinds of rice.

Regular white rice has been milled to remove the hull, germ and practically all of the bran. Milling removes some of the vitamins and minerals. White rice has a bland flavor and tender texture.

Enriched rice is white rice, plus added vitamins and iron.

Parboiled rice is treated by a special steam-pressure process before milling. This forces the vitamins and minerals from the hull, bran and germ into the starchy part of the grain. Much of the natural vitamin and mineral content is retained after milling. Parboiled rice takes longer to cook than regular white rice.

Converted rice is parboiled rice made by a patented process.

Precooked "instant" rice is long-grain rice that has been cooked and dried. It takes less preparation time than regular white rice, but costs more.

Brown rice is whole-grain rice from which only the hull and small amount of the bran has been removed. The fiber-containing bran of brown rice gives it a nut-like flavor and a slightly chewy texture. Brown rice needs to cook longer than regular white rice.

Wild rice is not a true rice, but the seed of a grass that grows wild in shallow lakes and marshes. It is dark brown, distinctive in flavor and costs considerably more than other types of rice.

The price is right — One cup of cooked white rice offers a lot of nourishment for just a few pennies a serving. Different forms of rice vary in price. Most expensive is instant rice, which can cost up to four times as much as regular rice. Flavored rice mixes also cost more than regular rice. Similar mixtures can be prepared from scratch with little effort and less expense. A touch of any spice can spark interesting flavors in rice.

To make your meat dollar go further, combine meat with rice. Cabbage leaves or green peppers can be stuffed with a mixture of lean ground beef and rice. Make a gourmet topping for a mound of fluffy rice by stir-frying shrimp, celery and green beans. A good and easy casserole can be made from chicken, cheese, broccoli and rice.

Cooking rice — To make 3 cups of cooked rice, begin with 1 cup of uncooked regular white rice and 2 cups liquid. Bring these ingredients to a boil in a 3-quart saucepan, lower heat to simmer, cover pan with a tight-fitting lid and cook about 15 minutes. For a drier rice, fluff cooked rice lightly with a fork and let stand in covered pan 5-10 minutes to steam dry. To obtain a firmer rice, use only 1¼ cups liquid and decrease cooking time slightly. To cook brown rice use 2½ cups liquid and simmer 45 minutes.

Sticky, gummy rice occurs when the rice grains are ruptured and the starch granules are released. To avoid this problem, accurately measure the cooking liquid and avoid stirring or rapidly boiling the rice.

Cooked rice will keep for a week in the refrigerator if covered or 6-8 months in the freezer. To reheat rice, add 2 tablespoons liquid and simmer 4-5 minutes in a covered saucepan.

Homes For Exchange Students Needed

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif.—Help break the bond of international confusion and tension by helping to create a more peaceful world through intercultural understanding. By hosting an international student from Asia, Europe or Latin America, you and your family will not only be acting as ambassadors to the United States but also creating a bond that will last a lifteime. The Youth Exchange Service, a nonprofit organization, presents these students, age 15-18, to your home with excellent medical coverage and they are also enrolled in the local high school. The students arrive with their own spending money and a piece of the world. All we ask is you provide a caring and loving home, just as you would for your own children. Cream Of The Crop Recipes

This is the final installation of dairy recipes for the Cow Mania Drawing.

This is also the week that Pennsylvania Alternate Melissa Bicksler will draw the names of the winners who will receive "cow" prizes. The drawing was held too late in the week to include the winners' names in this issue. The names selected will appear in next week's issue of Lancaster Farming.

We thank each of you for helping make this annual feature a favorite of the year with many readers.

QUICK CHEESE BREAD

2 cups grated Swiss or Gruyere cheese
3 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
4 eggs
½ cup evaporated milk
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon caraway seeds

In a bowl, mix cheese, flour, and baking powder. Beat eggs and remove 2 tablespoons for brushing top of loaf later. Add remaining eggs, milk, salt, and seeds to flour. Stir mixture into a soft dough. Turn out on a heavily floured surface and knead into a smooth ball. Roll ball into a long rope, 10 inches long, and place on a greased cookie sheet. Brush with remainder of egg.

Bake in preheated 350 degree oven for 30 to 35 minutes or until golden brown and very firm to touch. Cool thoroughly before cutting into thin slices.

Ham sandwiches are great on this cheese bread.

This recipe gives us dairy and grain goodness together. My young family, with six children, ages 2 through 14, enjoys bread, so adding cheeses and milk to a recipe gets more dairy products into their diet. I love trying new recipes and make a new dish at least once a week. My husband Bill and I are active 4-H leaders and our children are in a total of eight different clubs. All four girls are learning to cook and enjoy letting their dad and two brothers taste-test their creations. We look forward to summertime when we can attend and exhibit at our county fair. This family is kept very busy with goats, chickens, and horses. Someday, I would like to own a cow or two.

RYE BOAT DIP

1 round loaf rye bread
1½ cup sour cream
8 ounces cream cheese
12 ounces corned beef
1½ cups mayonnaise
1 teaspoon seasoned salt
Pinch dill weed
Pinch parsley
1 small chopped onion

Cut out the center almost to the bottom of the bread to make a boat-like dish. Then tear the cut-out piece into small pieces and place around the edge of the boat. Mix together all ingredients and put into the boat. Use the pieces of bread to dip in with, and then the sides of the boat until gone.

I am a small dairy farmer with my husband Don and our two kids Charlie and Sheri Kibbe. We have 40 milk cows and 30 starter heifers. We like to eat and we eat country. Beef, chicken, and rabbit are what we raise and eat. We all go to the country fair and show dairy, market steers, and commercial rabbits. We do pretty good and even if we did not it would not matter because we like what we do.

This recipe may be used for dips, appetizers and snacking.

CREAM CHEESE DROP COOKIES

1 cup butter
3-ounces cream cheese
1 cup sugar
1 egg yolk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon orange rind
2½ cups flour
½ teaspoon salt (optional)
¼ teaspoon cinnamon

Soften butter and mix with cream cheese. Add sugar. Mix. Add egg yolks and vanilla. In another bowl, mix orange rind, flour, salt, and cinnamon. Add to other ingredients. Mix well. Food coloring can be added if desired. Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Bake on ungreased cookie sheet for 12-15 minutes.

My husband Jim and I live in Southern Lancaster County on our farmette. We enjoy riding our Tennessee walking horses and also raising emus. Other outdoor pastimes include gardening, golfing, and water sports. I also enjoy baking, canning, and reading.

As the Northampton/Lehigh County dairy princess, Shannon Semmel often visits schools to tell the students about farm life and the need to use real dairy products.

HOT FUDGE FANTASY PIE

Hot fudge sauce:
1 cup sugar
½ cup unsweetened cocoa powder
1 cup whipping cream
¼ cup butter
1 teaspoon vanilla

Filling:
1 cup chopped pecans
1 quart vanilla, mint or mocha ice cream
1 cup whipping cream
9-inch pie shell

For sauce, combine sugar and cocoa in saucepan. Add cream and stir until well blended. Cook over medium heat until sugar is dissolved. Add butter and cook until mixture is smooth and thickened, about 5-10 minutes. Stir in vanilla. Keep warm until ready to use.

Sprinkle half the pecans over the bottom of pie shell. Spread softened ice cream into shell. Top with remaining pecans with hot fudge sauce. Freeze until firm. Garnish with whipped cream.

I am the Northampton/Lehigh County Dairy Princess. I reside with my family at Excelsior Farm in Schnecksville where we raise approximately 200 registered Holsteins. I have been keeping myself busy attending college full time and being a full-time dairy princess. I can hardly believe that almost a whole year has gone by since my crowning. I have learned so much about our wonderful industry that I take great pride in the title. I have met many interesting people along the way. When I visit the classrooms, it's hard to believe how much the children know and don't know. It has been a year of personal growth and I am so glad that I was able to represent two great counties.

This recipe is sure to please. Remember to use real dairy products.

WHOLE WHEAT BUTTERMILK PANCAKES

2 cups buttermilk
4 tablespoons vegetable oil
2 eggs

Combine in a bowl. Mix together in separate bowl:
⅔ cup whole wheat flour
⅔ cup white flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar

Mix together and fry in lightly greased skillet. We like them made with all whole wheat flour

These are our favorite pancakes. My husband, Robert, and son, Shawn, 15, are hungry when they come in from our turkey house.

Our daughters, Michelle, 13, Stephanie, 9; Lisa, 6, and son Ryan, 2, also enjoy helping with 10,000 baby turkeys.

We also have two large gardens to keep us all busy, but not too busy to enjoy Lancaster Farming.

PUDDING

6 cups milk, scalded
Beat together:
2 eggs
2 heaping tablespoons flour
2 heaping tablespoons cornstarch
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup granulated sugar

Stir slowly to hot milk and bring to boil. Cool and beat pudding about one hour before serving.

We live on a 132-acre dairy farm. We have two children, ages 2½ and 11 months. We find living on a farm is an educational place for the children to grow up and we also enjoy working in the garden and watching the tiny seedlings grow into fruit-bearing plants that are all a handiwork of God.

SNITZ AND KNEPP

1½ pound ham, cut into bite-size chunks
12-ounces tart snitz (dried apples)
¼ cup brown sugar
1 pound bread dough (may be frozen)

Soak apples in water to cover overnight. Cook ham, apples, and water in large, wide pot for one hour. Add brown sugar. Place golfball-sized dough balls on top of boiling apple mixture. Cover tightly and cook 30 minutes. Serve one cup apples and ham with two dumplings on top for each serving. Serves 12.

Cream Of The Crop

ZIPPY BEEF CASSEROLE

1 pound macaroni
1½ cups dry macaroni
1 can cream of mushroom soup
¾ cup milk
⅔ cup catsup
¾ cup grated cheese
¼ cup green peppers, chopped
1 medium onion, chopped
Salt and pepper to taste

Brown meat and onion. Cook macaroni. Mix together all ingredients. Pour into buttered 2-quart casserole dish. Top with buttered bread cubes. Cover and bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes.

We like this casserole and it's very easy to make. I usually double the recipe and freeze one dish. It freezes well.

We have three children. Joshua Anthony, 6; Jonathan Clare, 3; and Joellen Faye, 5 months.

Harvey works at night and we farm about 30 acres of alfalfa, which we feed to our 60 plus steers.

QUICHE

1 cup shredded cheddar (mild or medium) cheese
1½ cups milk (skim, 2%, or whole)
¾ cup Bisquick
3 eggs
1 cup turkey ham (optional, sliced and cubed)
2 tablespoons onion
Dash salt and pepper

Mix together everything. Put mixture into a greased 9-inch pie pan.

Bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes or until a fork inserted comes out clean and top is light brown.

I am a graduate of this year's class at Northern Lebanon. I live on a farm raising beef cattle and work at two local farms milking cows. I'm running for Lebanon County dairy princess on June 10.

I enjoy swimming, riding horseback, playing piano, singing, and having fun with my friends.

RHUBARB CREAM DELIGHT

Crust:
1 cup flour
¼ cup sugar
½ cup butter
Rhubarb layer:
3 cups rhubarb
½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon flour
Cream layer:
12 ounces cream cheese, softened
½ cup sugar
2 eggs
Topping:
8 ounces sour cream
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

For crust, mix flour, sugar, and butter, pat into 10-inch pie plate. Set aside. For rhubarb layer, combine rhubarb, sugar, and flour, toss lightly and pour into crust. Bake at 375 degrees for 15 minutes. Meanwhile, prepare cream layers by beating together cream cheese and sugar until fluffy. Beat in eggs, one at a time, then pour over hot rhubarb layer. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes or until set. Combine topping ingredients. Spread over hot layers. Chill.

Our family is fond of rhubarb so when it's in season, I make every recipe that I can find. This is one of our favorites so it's usually the first one I make.

We live on a farm and have Jersey cows. At the time, we're milking 43. We raise all our own heifers so that keeps us very busy.

We have a family of five boys. I like to cook, bake, and collect recipes. I always look forward to B section in Lancaster Farming.

MINI SAUSAGE QUICHES

½ cup butter, softened
3-ounces cream cheese, softened
1 cup all-purpose flour
½ pound sausage
1 cup shredded Swiss cheese
1 tablespoon fresh snipped chives
2 eggs
1 cup half and half
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash cayennne pepper

Beat butter and cream cheese in medium bowl until creamy. Blend in flour, refrigerate one hour. Roll into 24 (1-inch) balls; and press each into mini muffin cups.

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. To prepare filling, crumble sausage into small skillet. Cook over medium heat until browned, stirring occasionally. Drain off any drippings. Sprinkle evenly into pastry shells in muffin cups. Sprinkle with Swiss cheese and chives. Whisk eggs, half and half, salt and cayenne until blended; pour over sausage into pastry shells. Bake 20 to 30 minutes or until set. Remove from pans. Serve hot. Refrigerate leftovers. Makes 24 appetizers.

Hi to all the Lancaster Farming folks. It's hard to believe it's dairy month again. We here at our little Berks County Farm are sure enjoying the spring now that the trees have leaves and it is mostly warm.

Jessica, now 4, has a little goat that she feeds with a bottle. And, Anne will be three tomorrow. She likes to feed Putty our cat. She has kittens, but we don't know where yet. She had to hide them well to keep them from all the Dalmatians that roam on this farm. We have chicks again and lots of brown Moos in the pastures.

Wishing you all a happy healthy summer.

TUNA CASSEROLE

Cook 1½ cups broken noodles in unsalted water. Drain and mix with the following:
½ cup cream of chicken soup
½ cup cream of mushroom soup
½ cup evaporated milk
7-ounces can tuna, drained and flaked
¼ cup cut up onion
1 cup sharp cheddar cheese, shredded

Save about ¼ cup to sprinkle on top. Pour into greased 1½ -quart casserole. Top with ½ cup broken crackers and ¼ cup shredded cheese. Bake at 375-400 degrees for 30 minutes.

Tasty Beef Casserole: Use 1½ cups cut up dried beef or 1½ cups cut up corned beef in place of tuna.

I'm a mother of three and grandmother of eight, expecting the ninth one any day. My grandchildren really like this casserole.

My hobbies are growing flowers inside and outside and bird watching. I also enjoy reading and trying some of the recipes in "Home On The Range."

MOLASSES COOKIES

¾ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
¼ cup molasses
1 egg
2 teaspoons baking soda
2 cups flour
½ teapsoon cloves
½ teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Cream shortening and sugar. Add molasses and egg. Mix flour, baking soda, salt, and spices. Add to shortening mixture.

Roll dough into walnut size balls and roll in sugar.

Bake at 375 degrees for 8-10 minutes.

Cool on cookie sheet slightly before removing.

These molasses cookies are my husband Philip's favorite.

We've been married 27 years. He's a good friend, a fine dad to son Jeff and daughter Neilie, and a wonderful grandpa to Miss Amanda. Between the animals (10 cats, dogs, llamas, sheep, and goats) and the rowboat rides in the pond, Miss Amanda always goes home tired. She leaves a sleepy grandpa behind.

We love the paper — classifieds, cook's section, real estate — we love it all!

GREEN PEPPER MOUSSE

6-ounces lime Jell-O
2 cups boiling water
2 cups cottage cheese
1 cup evaporated milk
4 tablespoons chopped green pepper
½ cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons chopped onion

Dissolve Jell-O in boiling water. Set aside to cool. In blender or food processor, put evaporated milk, cottage cheese, and mayonnaise. Blend until smooth. Add cooled Jell-O and blend. Stir chopped onion and green pepper into mixture and pour into a mold or pretty bowl. Refrigerate until firm.

This salad and dessert is cool and light, just right for hot weather meals.

Our family lives in Upper Bucks County, 3 miles from the Delaware River. We have three children and 2 granddaughters. Our son Benjamin, 6, has cerebral palsy, and is homeschooled.

I enjoy gardening, sewing, and our family. My husband is director of transportation at Plumstead Christian School.

ENGLISH MONKEY

1 cup bread crumbs
1 cup milk
1 egg
1 tablespoon butter
¾ cup grated cheese
1 teaspoon salt
6 pieces hot, buttered toast

Soak bread crumbs in hot milk for 15 minutes. Melt butter in the top of a double boiler and add cheese. When cheese is melted, add the soaked bread crumbs and seasonings. Add the beaten egg and cook for three minutes. Pour over hot, buttered toast and serve at once. Serves 6.

My husband Albert and I have a dairy farm in southeast New York.

DANISH COOKIES

1 cup sugar
1 cup butter
1 teaspoon baking powder
2 eggs
3 cups flour
Lemon oil to taste

Cream together sugar and butter. Add flavoring and eggs. Sift flour and baking powder. Add to first mixture. Chill dough. Roll to ¼-inch thickness. Place on ungreased sheets. Bake at 350 degrees for 10 to 15 minutes.

A friend of my aunt visited Denmark and brought this recipe home with her. These cookies are very nice for Christmas cookies when sprinkled with colored sugars.

1 can milk or cream
¼ cup sugar or sweetener

This is a recipe that we can't make in Florida. We're here for our grandson's wedding and a visit to relatives and friends. I found this recipe interesting when I heard it on a Pennsylvania radio station.

My mom just got snow off the roof when I was little and mixed it for us.

I'm a retired farmer's wife of 65 years of age. We recently sold our farm and most of the machinery. I had a lot of disabilities — hip replacement, ear surgery — but I love to wrok and give away pies, cakes, etc.

We have the Lancaster Farming sent here.

If you are looking for a recipe but can't find it, send your recipe request to Lou Ann Good, Cook's Question Corner, in care of Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. There's no need to send a SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible.

Answers to recipe requests should be sent to the same address.

QUESTION — Edith Long would like a recipe for blueberry dessert that uses grape Jell-O.

QUESTION — Kathleen Flagg, Sellersville, writes that her aunts from Middletown and Lebanon used to make "Birdie Beans." They'd cook beans until tender and serve buttered. She would like to know what kind of beans were used and where they may be purchased.

QUESTION — Maryann Santini, Alpha, N.J., would like a recipe to make sauerkraut in a five gallon crock and another recipe to make Kosher dill pickles in a 5-gallon crock.

QUESTION — Katie Stoltzfus, Christiana, would like to know how to make Spam, which is available in cans at the store.

QUESTION — Arlene Snyder, Manheim, would like a recipe for Horehound candy made with horehound flavoring.

QUESTION — Arlene Snyder, Manheim, would like a recipe using banana creme flavoring.

QUESTION — A Berks County reader would like a recipe for granola cereal that tastes like that sold by Dutchway Store in the bulk food department.

QUESTION — Judy P. Looney, New Castle, is looking for a cake recipe with a hot milk dressing served over it. It was one of her favorite foods made by her grandmother.

QUESTION — B.W. Pue, Rocky Ridge, Md., would like directions for making realistic gingerbread people that are used in crafts. Some are puffy and others are thick and flat. How is the dough made and colored and the features painted?

QUESTION — B.W. Pue, Rocky Ridge, Md., would like the recipe and directions for Slow-Ball Dip that appeared in Woman's Day on July 5, 1983, page 98. She recalls that it contained 3 cans chopped clams and cream cheese. It is baked in a round loaf of bread that has been scooped out.

QUESTION — Sarah Clark, Breezewood, would like a candy called Decadent, which she thinks is made in North or South Carolina. She'd also like a bread recipe called Arkansas Travelers Bread, and a cherry pie made with red Kool-Aid.

QUESTION — A Chambersburg lover of Section B would like recipes for "all fruit" jellies without artificial sweeteners and granulated sugar. She'd like details on using a smoker. Do you burn charcoal or wood? How do you keep the fire hot while adding wood? How do you keep ashes off the meat? How can you tell if it's hot enough?

QUESTION — Nancy Price, Jarrettsville, would like a recipe for fruit sauce such as they serve with ham at Horn and Horn Restaurant. She has tried other recipes but none is as good as Horn and Horn's.

QUESTION — Dick Taylor, Allentown, N.J., would like a recipe for hot pepper sauce using lime juice and carrots as opposed to the traditional method of using vinegar and tomatoes. He writes that lime juice enhances the pepper flavor more than vinegar.

QUESTION — Dee Crowder, Gettysburg, is looking for a recipe similar to Rotel or Chi-Chi's Tomato and Green Chilies.

QUESTION — Lena Hoover, Shippensburg, would like recipes for instant vanilla, chocolate, and butterscotch puddings.

QUESTION — Brenda Scott, Bellefonte, wants a recipe for cabbage slaw to put on ham and pork barbecues.

QUESTION — Sue Werner, Lebanon, would like a recipe for alfalfa jelly. She writes that her family tasted it at the Farm Show. Although she felt like she was eating grass, her son loved it.

QUESTION — Karen Kinnane, Shartlesville, would like a recipe for cranberry candy, which is made with canned cranberry sauce, red Jell-O, and chopped nuts. It's poured into a pan to chill, cut into bars and rolled in granulated sugar. It's a very pretty, bright red with a sparkle from the sugar.

QUESTION — Janet Rutz, Carlisle, would like recipes to use dried cranberry beans.

QUESTION — Frank T. Cat of Millerstown, would like a recipe for English toffee cookies like those sold by Weis Markets. The cookies are great tasting and don't crumble for children.

QUESTION — Karen Kinnane, Shartlesville, would like a recipe for clear cranberry jelly that can be molded in shapes.

ANSWER — Dorothy Wilson, Middletown, wanted a recipe for No Peek Chicken. Thanks to Wilma Kuzemchak for sending a recipe.

No Peek Chicken

1 cup uncooked rice
2 cans cream soup
2 cups water
1 package onion soup mix
4-6 pieces raw chicken

In a bowl, mix the first three ingredients and half of the onion soup mix. Mix well. Pour into a well-greased 13x9-inch pan. Lay chicken pieces on top and sprinkle remaining soup mix on chicken. Cover with foil. Bake at 350 degrees for 2 hours.

ANSWER — Brenda Scott, Bellefonte, wanted a recipe for a basting sauce to baste a 225-pound roasting pig as it's being cooked in a large pig cooker. Thanks to Jean George, Rimesburg, for sending a recipe that she used for a smaller pig, which turned out very good. She did not include instructions, but I imagine, the ingredients are heated and used frequently for basting while the pig is roasting.

Basting Sauce

1 gallon apple cider vinegar
1 3-ounce jar dried hot pepper
1 small can black pepper
2 ounces salt
1 can bay leaves

ANSWER — Sarah Clark, Breezewood, wanted a recipe for Autumn Soup. Thanks to Diane Tomenchak, Neshanic Station, N.J., for sending a recipe. She said it is an inexpensive and hearty vegetable soup that is quick and easy to make.

Autumn Soup

1 pound ground beef
1-2 tablespoons fat
1 cup chopped onion
4 cups hot water
1 cup carrots
1 cup celery
1 cup potatoes
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
1 bay leaf, crumbled
Pinch basil
6 whole tomatoes, stems removed

Brown beef in hot fat in heavy skillet. Add onions, cook 5 minutes more. Add water, carrots, celery, potatoes, and seasonings. Bring to a boil. Cover. Simmer 20 minutes. Add tomatoes. Cover and simmer 10 minutes longer. Serves 6.

ANSWER — A reader wanted a recipe for Dutch Loaf. Thanks to Sarah Clark, Breezewood, for sending a recipe.

Dutch Loaf

1¼ pounds ground beef
¼ pound ground pork
½ cup minced onions
1 cup crushed crackers
2½ teaspoon salt
1 egg, slightly beaten
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon mustard
¼ cup ketchup
1 cup tomato juice
Bacon slices

Mix together ingredients except for the bacon slices. Form into a loaf. Place bacon slices on top. Pour additional tomato juice over all. Bake at 350 degrees for one hour.

Glaze:

½ cup brown sugar
1½ teaspoon prepared mustard
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce

Mix together ingredients. Add enough vinegar to make a paste. Spread the glaze over loaf.

OREO COOKIE DESSERT

1 small box instant chocolate pudding
1 small box instant vanilla pudding
3 cups milk
8-ounces cream cheese
8-ounces whipped cream topping
1 package Oreo cookies, crushed

Mix pudding together with milk. Let thicken, add cream cheese and whipped cream topping. Line large dish with crushed Oreo cookies. Pour pudding in dish and top with whipped cream and Oreo cookies.

CHEDDAR CHOWDER

2 cups water
2 cups diced potatoes
½ cup diced carrots
½ cup diced celery
¼ cup chopped onion
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

White sauce:

¼ cup butter
¼ cup flour
2 cups milk
2 cups cheddar cheese, grated
1 cup cubed ham

Combine water, potatoes, carrots, celery, onion, salt, and pepper in large kettle. Boil 10-12 minutes. Meanwhile in small saucepan, make white sauce by melting the butter. Add flour and stir until smooth, about 1 minute. Slowly add milk; cook until thickened. Add grated cheese to white sauce, stir until smooth. Add white sauce and cubed ham to undrained vegetables. Heat thoroughly.

This soup is very good. I am eight years old. My sister Jennifer is 6, and my brother Kevin is 3. We live on a dairy farm. My job is feeding calves.

PARMESAN CHICKEN

½ cup butter, melted
2 teaspoon mustard
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup dry bread crumbs
¼ cup grated parmesan cheese
6-8 boneless, skinless chicken breast halves

In a pie plate or shallow bowl, combine butter, mustard, worcestershire sauce, and salt. In a plastic bag, combine crumbs and Parmesan cheese. Dip chicken in butter mixture. Bake at 350 degrees for 40-45 minutes or until chicken is no longer pink and juices run clear.

We live on a dairy farm and have a lime and fertilizer business. Our family drinks a lot of milk and loves cheese.

We have three sons, Darryl, 8; Brian, 5; and Anthony, 15 months.

Boil vinegar, eggs, sugar, butter and flour. When cool, add salt and pepper to taste and parsley and onion. Add cream to thin. Refrigerate overnight.

Cook's Question

ANSWER — Jennie Schlegel, Fleetwood, send a recipe for Viginia Unger of Winchester, who wanted a recipe for sauce made from pigs' feet.

Pig Feet Sauce

3 or 4 pigs feet
Small piece of cheap pork steak

Wash pigs feet. Put pigs' feet and pork steak in a kettle with water to cover. Add salt to taste. Cook until you can stick a fork in pigs' feet and it is tender. Remove pork from pan and place on a platter until cool. Cut pork into small pieces. There is not too much meat on the pigs' feet. Put meat and broth into a deep glass pie plate. Add some vinegar, heat and taste until sauce tastes sour. Put into refrigerator until sauce is stiff.

ANSWER — Sarah Clark, Breezewood, wanted a recipe for ice box fruit cake. Thanks to Josephine Matenus, Dallas, for sending a recipe.

Ice Box Fruit Cake

1 pound box seedless raisins
3 cups pecans
10-ounces marshmallows
8-ounces coconut
1 pound box graham crackers
13-ounces evaporated milk
Red cherries, optional
Pineapples, optional

Heat milk and add mashmallows. Let melt and mix well.

Crush crackers and add raisins, pecans, and coconut. Pour milk mixture over cracker mixture. Mix well with hands.

Add cherries and juice. Mix again. Pack fruit cake mixture into the empty graham cracker box using a waxed paper lining. Put rubber bands around the box to maintain shape and refrigerate.

Farm Safety Camp For Kids

OREGON (Lancaster Co.)—What do an unused steel cattle gate, a grain wagon and grain dust all have in common with children? These hidden dangers kill many farm children each year. Due in part to the high farm density and more hands on mechanization used here, Lancaster County has the highest farm accident rate in the state.

The Lancaster County Coalition of Safe Kids and Farm Safety 4 Just Kids, Cargill Inc. and Oregon Dairy teamed up together to do something about it. Earlier this month they held a day camp for 174 children ages eight to 13 on farm safety.

Maybe you think safety is boring, however, these kids were fascinated by the demonstrations.

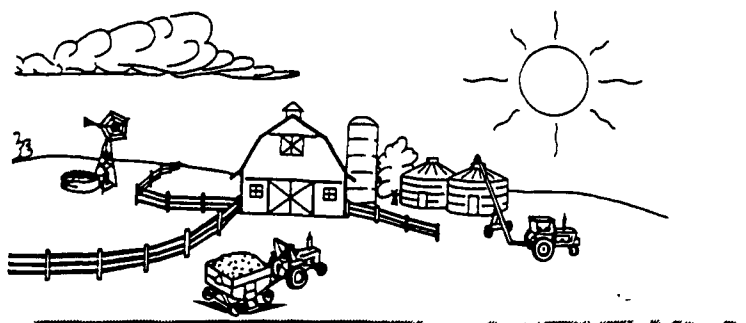
The day started with registration where the kids divided into teams. These teams rotated through 12 demonstration stations. Some of the stations are what you would expect, like showing what happens to a hand (artificial of course) when it gets caught in a drive chain. A strong emphasis was placed on hidden dangers. Consider the unused cattle gate leaning up against the barn...until your three-year-old brother decides to climb it and it falls over on him. To illustrate what would happen when a three-year-old climbed on it the instructors pulled a steel gate over and let it fall on top of a ripe cantaloupe. The kids got the idea.

Other demonstration areas were all terrain vehicles, animal handling, chemicals, electrical systems, fire prevention, first aid, flowing grain, hidden hazards, tractors, lawn mowers, pto roadway safety, and skid loaders.

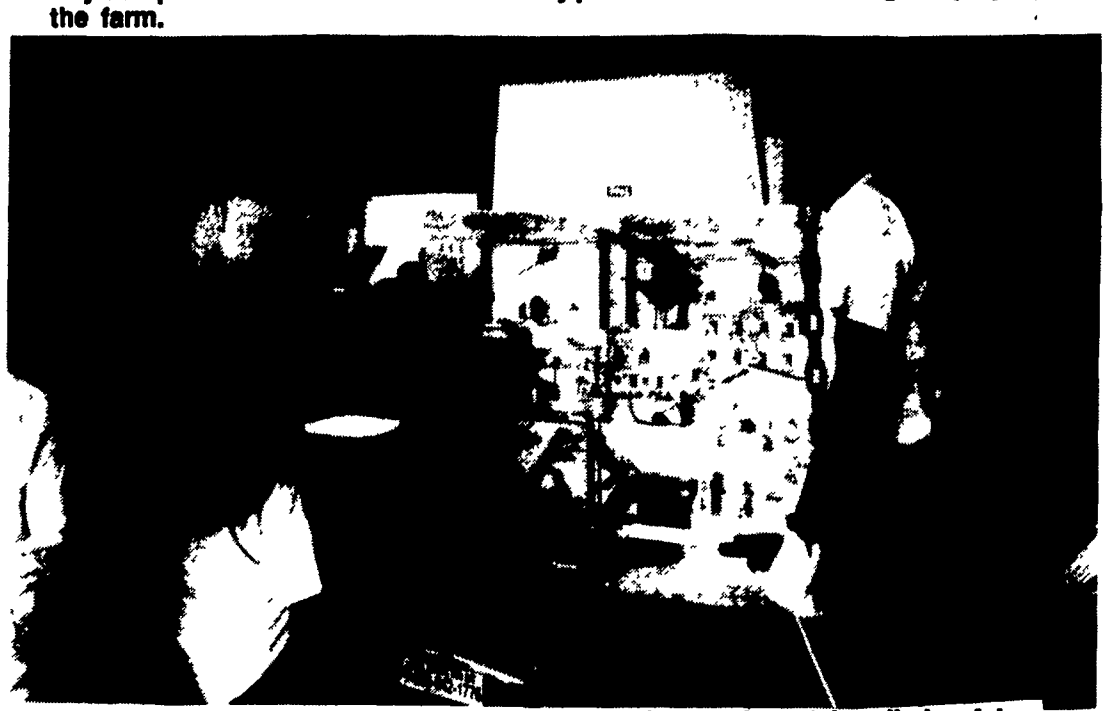
Lunch was provided by Oregon Dairy Restaurant. Snack and distribution of farm safety books and participation certificates were given to conclude the camp. Each participant received a t-shirt and a door prize.

More than 50 volunteers helped to conduct the Farm Safety Day Camp. These included volunteers from Cargill Inc., PP&L, area doctors, nurses, firemen, and police, New Holland, Case Uniloader, and FFA Chapters.

This demonstration shows what would happen if a toddler attempts to climb an unused cattle gate propped against the barn. Notice the busted cantaloupe.



Lancaster County has the highest farm accident rate in the state. The Farm Safety Day Camp was held to teach children safety precautions when working and playing on the farm.



Demonstrations show what happens when equipment is not handled safely.

CHEESY BROCCOLI CASSEROLE

1½ pounds fresh broccoli
2 slightly beaten eggs
¾ cup cottage cheese
½ cup shredded cheddar cheese
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon butter, melted
¼ cup fine dry bread crumbs

Wash and trim broccoli, cut stalks into spears. Cook, covered in a small amount of boiling unsalted water for about 10 minutes or until crisp, drain. Meanwhile, combine eggs, cheeses, onion, Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper.

Arrange broccoli spears in a shallow 1½ quart baking dish, spoon cheese mixture on top. Stir together bread crumbs and melted butter. Sprinkle over cheese mixture. Bake uncovered at 350 degrees for 15-20 minutes or until heated thoroughly and egg mixture is set. Serve immediately. Makes 4-6 servings.

My husband Tom and I have a wonderful son Tyler, who is 15 months old.

I work full time as a data entry clerk for the City of Reading. In my sparetime, I love to do counted cross-stitch, bake, and cook. Tom loves broccoli and the cheesy broccoli casserole is one of his favorites.

Tom is a partner in his family's dairy farm located in Amity Township, Berks County. They milk 175 cows and farm 600 acres.

Tyler loves the farm. As soon as we drive down the lane and he sees the four large silos, he moos and proclaims, "Dad!"

BANANA MILK

2½ frozen bananas
2 cups milk

Chop bananas into fourths, then put into blender with milk. Blend until smooth. Serve immediately or chill until time to serve. Especially good when served with hamburgers.

I am 13 years old and live on a pig and beef cattle farm. Although we don't have cows, we still use lots of milk and milk products.

I have three sisters and two of them are married. I have one niece and one nephew.

EDDIE'S GOURMET GOBBLER

Line an 8x11-inch baking dish with:
4 ounces dried beef
Arrange over beef:
8 thick slices turkey breast, cooked
Sprinkle over turkey: 8 slices cooked bacon, crumbled
Mix together:
1 pint sour cream
2 cans cream of mushroom soup

Pour mixture over turkey and bake uncovered until bubbly. Sprinkle with 1½ cups corn flake crumbs. Toast in oven for 2-3 minutes.

This makes a delicious meal with a vegetable, salad, and rolls. Um-um!

My husband John and I have three children, Jason, 4; Dawn, 3; and Michelle, 8 months. We live on a dairy farm and milk about 70 cows and farm 100 acres of crop ground.

PRETZEL DESSERT

Step 1:
3 tablespoons sugar
2 cups pretzels, crumbled
¾ cup butter, melted
Step 2:
2 cups confectioners' sugar
8-ounces cream cheese, softened
8-ounces whipped cream topping
2 cups miniature marshmallows
Step 3:
2 3-ounce boxes strawberry Jell-O
2 cups boiling water
1 cup cold water
10-ounces frozen sliced strawberries

Mix together step 1 ingredients and put into a 9x13-inch baking pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 12 minutes. Chill. Mix together the strawberry Jell-O and water in step 3 and put into refrigerator until it is syrupy but not firm. Add sliced strawberries, mix well and refrigerate. While Jell-O chills, mix together step 2 ingredients of confectioners' sugar and cream cheese. Fold in whipped cream and miniature marshmallows. Refrigerate until set. Layer Step 1, Step 2, and Step 3 ingredients in a baking dish to chill.

This dessert I got from my sister Loretta Ernst, who makes it a lot. My family loves it. I am married to Norman, my husband of 29 years in June. I have two sons, David and Michael. We have 19 acres and love to raise turkey and chickens. My son Michael raised some pigs. He likes animals too. My son David is married and has one son.

TOMATO CHEESE BREAD

1 medium onion, minced
2 tablespoons butter
½ cup sour cream
¼ cup mayonnaise
1 cup grated cheddar cheese
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon oregano
⅔ cup milk
2 cups biscuit mix
3 medium tomatoes, peeled, seeded, and sliced ¼-inch thick

Prepare topping by sauteeing onion in butter until tender. Blend in sour cream, mayonnaise, cheddar cheese, salt, pepper, and oregano. Set aside.

Stir milk into biscuit mix to make a soft dough. Knead lightly on floured board for 10-12 strokes. Pat dough into bottom of greased 9x13-inch pan. Push dough up sides to form shallow rim. Arrange tomato slices over dough. Spoon on topping. Sprinkle with paprika. Bake at 400 degrees for 25 minutes. Let stand 10 minutes before cutting.

This bread is good served with salad for a light summer meal.

My husband Glenn and I live on a hog and steer farm. We have three daughters, Krista, 11; Emily, 9, and Stephanie, 4, and a son Jared, 18 months.

COCONUT CREAM PIE

1 cup sugar
½ cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
2½ cups scalded milk
3 egg yolks
¾ cup shredded coconut
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 egg whites, well beaten

Line 9-inch pan with graham cracker crumb crust and chill.

Mix together ¾ cup sugar, flour, and salt. Stir gradually into scalded milk and continue stirring over boiling water until mixture thickens. Beat in egg yolks quickly, one at a time. Continue stirring 2 minutes. Stir in ½ cup coconut and vanilla.

Pour mixture into crust. Put remaining sugar in stiffly beaten egg whites and pile egg whites on top of pie. Sprinkle with remaining coconut. Bake at 425 degrees until browned.

SUN Area Contestants To Compete For Crown

WATSONTOWN (Northumberland Co.)—Rebecca Dugan and Eve Smith will be competing tonight for the 1995 Sun Area dairy princess crown, to represent Snyder Union, Northumberland, and Montour counties.

Boscov's and the Sun Area Dairy Promotion Committee will be sponsoring a three-day event at the Susquehanna Valley Mall in Selinsgrove.

Saturday, June 24, will be a very busy day starting at 9:30 a.m. with cattle arriving for the petting zoo, ending with the pageant and fashion show, sponsored by Boscov's, and a new 1995 dairy princess.

Music for the evening will be by Karen Auker, vocalist from Drums. Master of Ceremonies will be Mike Daniels, from WIGGLE Radio, Selinsgrove.

•Rebecca (Becky) Dugan, Northumberland County, daughter of George and Barbara Dugan. Becky is a 1993 graduate of Warrior Run Area High School. She is now farming with her father, and works part time for W. Dale and JoAnn Lose at their Watsontown, R.D. Dairy Farm. The "Field of Dreams Farm" consists of 15 milking cows and eight heifers, Jersey, and Guernsey.

Rebecca Dugan

Eve Smith

Becky is certified by NRA as a basic firearm instructor. She is an active 4-H leader in Montour County clubs: 22 Rifle, Air Rifle, and North-Mont Dairy Club. She is also a board member of the Montour-DeLong Fair Association and serves as lecturer/youth adviser for Delaware Grange. She has recently been certified by Atlantic Breeders Coop. for successfully completing their artificial insemination course. Her hobbies are competition shooting and showing registered Jersey and Guernsey cattle at local fairs. Becky has two sisters, Michelle and Melissa, at Watsontown.

•Eve M. Smith, Snyder County, daughter of Ricky and Dawn Smith. Eve will be a senior at Middleburg High School, studying agri-business. She works full time for Keister Keys. Her school and community activities are FFA, Hummel's United Methodist Women, Youth Group, Choir, and Branches Gospel Group. Eve enjoys singing, working in the garden, working with flowers, and working with animals. She has a brother Jeremy. She lives on a 75-acre farm with 60 Holsteins, at Middleburg, R.D.

Cumberland County Chooses Dairy Princess

BETH MILLER
Cumberland Co. Correspondent

CARLISLE (Cumberland Co.) — Cumberland County has a new Dairy Princess for 1995. Her name is Lori Brownewell, the daughter of Robert and Debra Brownewell of Carlisle.

Judging from her performance at her coronation at the Embers Convention Center, Lori will do a good job during the year she will spend promoting the dairy industry.

Lori, who was the county's only contestant for the princess crown this year, is a senior at Big Spring High School and helps out on her parent's Lower Frankford Twp. farm.

She said she plans to attend college to study to become a veterinarian.

Her immediate plans include continuing to be active in the Big Spring FFA and to spend the summer working as a waitress.

Lori showed her concern for the future of the dairy industry when she chose "The Extinction of the Dairy Farmer" as the topic of her coronation speech.

"Imagine for a moment a world without dairy products," Lori said. "Without milk, remaining healthy and fit would be impossible."

Yet every year more and more dairy farms are disappearing, she said. All the milk produced today comes from 650,000 cows on 13,000 dairy farms, she said.

"That's right, only 13,000. That's all that's left," Lori said. "We talk about the extinction of animals and trees. But what about dairy farms? Should we allow one of the most important industries in the state to become extinct?"

Imitation food products are hurting the dairy industry. Even they are poor substitutes for real dairy products, she said.

"Imitation is like second best. I don't know about you but I don't want to give my family second best."

Cumberland County's 1995 Dairy Princess Lori Brownewell is flanked to the left by Dairy Maid Rebecca Cornman and 1994 Dairy Princess Kimberly Orris and to the right by Dairy Maid Julie Fulton.

That is why everyone should look for the Real Seal, she said.

"By buying products with the Real Seal, you are also backing up our dairy farmers. We need dairy farmers and their products. Help keep dairy farmers from becoming a statistic, look for the Real Seal," Lori said.

For presentation, Lori pretended to be a wife who had just finished shopping. She made believe that she was talking to her husband in another room who was thirsty for his chocolate milk.

She told how she always buys products with the Real Seal and talked about the nutritional benefits of the dairy products she pulled out of her shopping bag.

However, as she talked about the products, she took sips of her husband's chocolate milk so that by the time she finished the milk was gone and she had to run out and get him some more.

Lori was crowned by the 1994 Dairy Princess, Kimberly Orris, who thanked everyone who had helped her during her year. The experience of being dairy princess was "an education in itself," Orris said.

Like Lori, she was worried about the future of dairy farming.

"A lot of older farmers are retiring. But for those that are retiring, only a few are taking over to replace them," Orris said. That is sad, because "without us the grocery stores would be empty," she said.

"Don't let us be a cloud in the sky. Let us be as real as the seal."

Brownewell will be assisted in her dairy prinncess duties by two dairy maids.

Dairy Maid Rebecca Cornman is the daighter of Steve and Debbie Cornman of Carlisle. Dairy Maid Julie Fulton is the daughter of Robert and Rebecca Fulton of Shippensburg.

HONEY BUTTER

¼ cup chopped nuts
⅓ cup honey
⅓ cup butter, melted
2 tablespoons brown sugar
¾ teaspoon cinnamon
10-ounces refrigerated big biscuits
2 tablespoons butter, melted

Combine nuts, honey, and ⅓ cup melted butter. Pour into ungreased 8x4-inch or 9x5-inch loaf pan. Separate the biscuits.

Combine brown sugar and cinnamon. Pat one teaspoonful of the sugar mixture on one side of each biscuit.

Stand biscuits on edge, slightly overlapping in two rows of 5 biscuits each in prepared pan.

Drizzle with 2 tablespoons melted butter. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Cool 3 minutes. Turn out of pan on flat dish.

HEALTHY KIND OF POTATO SALAD

4-5 cups red potatoes, cubed and boiled
1 cup diced celery
½ cup diced red onion

Dressing:

½ cup no-fat sour cream
2-ounces no-fat cream cheese
¼ cup reduced fat mayonnaise
2 tablespoons vinegar
½ teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon fresh parsley
Salt and white pepper to taste

Combine veggies in a large bowl. Prepare dressing and blend with veggies. Garnish with green pepper sliced with a cherry tomato in center. Cover and refrigerate one hour or overnight. Makes 10 ½-cup servings.

ANGEL DELIGHT

1 pint vanilla ice cream
1 cup milk
1 package instant vanilla pudding mix
1 pint strawberries

Combine ice cream and milk. Blend. Add vanilla pudding mix. Beat for one minute or until mixed.

Fold in strawberries, which have been stemmed, washed, and sliced.

Let stand in refrigerator until thickened. Serve over slices of angel food cake.

May be easily doubled to serve 15-16 people.

May also be served over a 9x13-inch cake pan. Cut into squares. Split the squares.

Mmmm! Enjoy.

We were dairy farmers for more than 25 years, until ill-health forced us to sell out.

However we are still on the farm. We now sell the hay and straw to the public and also sell produce in front of the farm. This upcoming season will be our 50th year of selling it.

We have five grown children and 9 grandchildren, but only one son lives nearby. Two daughters live in Jersey with their husbands and children. One unmarried son lives in California, and our youngest daughter lives in Dallas, Texas.

I always enjoy B section in Lancaster Farming and share it with our son who is a general contractor and lives nearby.

CRESCENT CREAM CHEESE SQUARES

2 packages crescent rolls
2 8-ounces cream cheese
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 egg, separated
¼ cup sugar, optional
¼ cup chopped nuts

Spread one package rolls on bottom of 9x13-inch pan. Mix cream cheese, sugar, vanilla, egg yolk, and spread on crescent layer.

Lay second package of rolls on top of cheese mix. Beat egg white and spread on top. Sprinkle with nuts and ¼ cup sugar. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

I am 13 years old and live on a dairy farm in Bel Air. We milk about 130 cows.

PINEAPPLE SALAD

1 large can pineapple
2 oranges or apples
Small marshmallows
1 cup nuts
1 cup whipped cream
2 tablespoons flour
2 eggs
½ cup sugar

Drain juice from pineapple and heat. When hot, add sugar, flour, and beaten eggs to juice and cook until thickened. Let cool. Whip the cream and add to mixture. Pour over fruit.

We live on a farm. My father's name is Lloyd and my mother's is Elizabeth. I have two brothers and three sisters.

We have 48 cows, 6 horses, 2 dogs, and lots of cats. My best hobbies are baking and crocheting. Living on a farm is fun.

LEMON ANGEL FOOD CAKE DELIGHT

1 angel food cake, cut into bite-sized pieces and put into a 9x13-inch cake pan
2 small boxes instant lemon pudding
5½ cups milk

Mix together and add:

8-ounces whipped cream topping

Combine pudding, milk, and whipped cream topping. Spread on top of cake pieces. Put in refrigerator until pudding is set. Spread lemon pie filling over the top.

This dessert is very refreshing and one of our family's favorites. Enjoy.

MOM'S TEABERRY ICE CREAM

3 packages plain gelatin
2 cups scalded milk
3 cups cream or evaporated milk
4 eggs
2½ cups sugar
¼ cup candy teaberries

Soak gelatin in a little of the cream; stir. Let set 5 minutes until it starts to thicken. Add gelatin mixture to the 2 cups milk, which has been scalded. Stir in the remaining ingredients except teaberries. Put teaberries and ¾ cup milk in saucepan. Heat on low until melted. Mix into milk mixture. Freeze in 4-quart freezer.

This is a special recipe of my mom's that brings back a lot of fond memories of our dairy farm in Sugar Valley. We had plenty of milk so we made ice cream often. Teaberry was one of my favorites and we can't get it here Southeast Colorado where I've made my home for nearly 14 years.

I have two daughters, Justine, 9, and Mikaela Jo, 1, who are both little balls of fire who love animals and living in the country. Justine has rodeoed since she was 6 and has won numerous trophies and ribbons.

We will all have a big change as we're moving back to the family farm next month so I can help my parents with the farm work and they can help me with the girls. We'll be moving our two quarter horses, 2 dogs, and a cat as well.

My parents, Joe and Doris Heggenstaller, have gotten Lancaster Farming since I was a little girl on the farm. My mom told me of the recipe contest and sent a stamped addressed envelope so I'd enter!

APRICOT SALAD

2 3-ounce packages apricot gelatin
⅔ cup sugar
⅔ cup water
2 4¾ -ounce jars apricot baby food
20-ounce can undrained crushed pineapple
14-ounce can evaporated milk (chilled)
8-ounce package cream cheese, softened
¾ cup chopped nuts

Topping:

8-ounce package cream cheese, softened
1 cup sour cream
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
¾ cup chopped nuts

Combine gelatin, sugar, and water. Bring to a boil, add softened cream cheese to mixture, blending well. Add strained baby food and pineapple. Set aside to cool. Beat the chilled evaporated milk and fold into chilled gelatin mixture. Add nuts and chill until set.

Topping:

Blend topping ingredients except nuts over chilled gelatin mixture and sprinkle with nuts.

ZUCCHINI-SAUSAGE CASSEROLE

1 pound bulk sausage
4 cups sliced zucchini
½ cup chopped onion
1 pound cottage cheese
2 eggs
¼ cup grated parmesan cheese
½ teaspoon garlic powder
1 cup grated cheddar cheese
2 tablespoons butter

Brown sausage, drain on paper towel. Melt butter and saute zucchini and onion. In a medium bowl, mix together all ingredients except cheddar cheese. In a 9x13-inch pan or a 2-quart casserole, place the drained sausage. Add half of zucchini-onion mixture. Top with remaining zucchini. Bake at 350 degrees for 30-40 minutes. Remove from oven, sprinkle on cheddar cheese. Return to oven long enough to melt cheese.

CHERRY DELIGHT

1¼ cups graham cracker crumbs
¼ cup melted butter
¼ cup granulated sugar
8-ounces cream cheese, softened
1 cup confectioners' sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ pint whipping cream, whipped
1 can cherry pie filling

Mix crumbs with sugar. Pour melted butter over mixture and toss lightly to coat. Pat firmly over entire bottom of 9-inch square baking dish. Cream cheese well, add vanilla and confectioners' sugar and beat until fluffy. Blend in whipped cream. Spread mixture over crumb crust. Pour pie filling over top. Refrigerate 8 hours or overnight.

We live on a dairy farm. We have three children, Jessica, 13; Rachel, 10, and Jonathan, 9.

MARBLE-OUS PEANUT BUTTER DESSERT

½ cup brown sugar
½ cup peanut butter
¼ cup butter
1 cup flour
8-ounces cream cheese
½ cup sugar
¼ cup peanut butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs
1 cup whipping cream, whipped
1 cup chocolate chips

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Cream brown sugar, peanut butter, and butter until light. Add flour and blend until crumbly. Sprinkle in an ungreased 9x13-inch baking pan. Bake for 10-12 minutes.

Set aside 1 cup baked crumbs for topping. Press remaining crumbs in pan. Combine in a bowl, cream cheese, sugar, peanut butter, and vanilla. Beat until smooth.

Add eggs and beat. Fold in whipped cream. Pour filling over crumbs in pan. Melt chcolate chips and drizzle over filling. Using a knife, cut vertical lines through filling to marble.

Sprinkle reserved crumbs on top. Freeze at least 2 hours. Remove 15 minutes before serving.

My husband and I moved to Clarion County from Cumberland County in 1990. We live on a 200-acre strip-mined farm. By working with it and learning how to farm it, it is responding. We milk 40 to 45 cows.

We have four children, Elmer, 6; Cindy, 4; Joyce, 2; and Bethany, 8½ months.

Along with being a farm wife and mother, I enjoy gardening and flower beds in the summer.

GRAHAM CRACKER PUDDING

1 pound marshmallows
1 pint milk
1 pint whipped cream
1 medium can crushed pineapples
½ pound cinnamon crisp crackers

Heat milk and marshmallows long enough to melt marshmallows. Cool. Drain pineapple. Add whipped cream and pineapple. Add some pineapple juice if too stiff, maybe all of it. Roll crackers and line glass dish with crumbs, reserving approximately ¼ cup for topping. Pour pudding over crumbs and sprinkle reserved crumbs on top.

SIMPLE SPAGHETTI

2 tablespoons oil
1 cup onion
1 pound ground beef
4 cups tomato sauce
3 cups water
3 teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons dried parsley
1 teaspoon basil
½ teaspoon pepper
8-ounces uncooked spaghetti
1 cup Velveeta cheese

Brown meat. Add all but spaghetti and bring to a boil. Add spaghetti. Cover and simmer for 25-30 minutes. Add cheese and allow to melt. Also very good reheated.

I'm a dairy farmer's wife. I help a lot in the barn plus manage the household. We have nine children, 3 of them are married, and making us grandparents six times over.

SNACK CAKE

Cake batter:
2 eggs
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup milk
2 tablespoons butter
Topping:
¾ cup brown sugar
½ cup butter (melted)
2 tablespoons cream
1 cup shredded coconut

In large bowl, beat eggs, sugar, and vanilla until creamy. Combine flour, baking powder, and salt. Add to egg mixture. Beat on low until all mixed through. Heat milk and butter until butter is disolved. Add to batter and beat well. Pour into square 9-inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 20-25 minutes. Cool a while.

For topping, stir all the ingredients well and spread over warm cake. Put under broiler about 4 inches from top of cake for about 3 minutes, until lightly brown. Serves 8-9.

APPLE GOODIE

¼ -½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon flour
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
2 cups pared and sliced apples

Topping:

½ cup oatmeal
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup flour
¼ cup butter, softened
¼ teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt

Sift together sugar, flour, salt, and cinnamon. Combine with sliced apples. Place in a 9-inch pan. To make the topping, combine dry ingredients and rub in butter to make crumbs. Put crumbs on top of apple mixture. Bake at 375 degrees for 35-40 minutes. Serve hot or cold with plenty of cold milk

This recipe is an old favorite. Whenever, we have lots of apples that are getting spots, we make them into apple goodie. Then we take the the above recipe times six.

INSTANT SHREDDED CREAM OF WHEAT

2¼ cups milk
½ cup plus 1 teaspoon instant cream of wheat

Mix the cream of wheat in the cold milk. Cook on high, stirring constantly. As it heats, lower heat, continue stirring until it starts to thickened. Remove from heat and stir in 1½ -2 round crumbled shredded wheat biscuits (Quaker is round).

Return to heat and cook slowly about 30 seconds. We sweeten with equal and add milk to taste. We use 2% milk. We also slice some banana over it and maybe a little of our favorite cold cereal — rice chexs. We just put together this recipe this past winter and we never get tired of it. Gerald makes it while I do other things. It's so easy and good.

CHEESECAKE

3 eggs
¾ cup sugar
2 8-ounce packages cream cheese
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon lemon juice (blend together)

Use cheesecake pan or angel food cake pan that lifts out. Bake ½ hour at 350 degrees. Then top with the following mixture:

1 pint sour cream
½ cup sugar

Return cake to hot oven that is turned off and let set 15 minutes.

Cool. Mixture will settle.

This is the most delicious and simple cheesecake I've ever tasted. Topped with fresh berries is a great hit. We enjoy this recipe especially at strawberry time.

Heather Oberholtzer Reigns As Lancaster County's Dairy Princess

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — When Heather Oberholtzer's cow gave birth to twins, she celebrated by handing out Hershey candy bars to her classmates.

The pride, the devotion that Heather feels about her cows extends to the dairy industry and she promises to be a competent spokesperson for the industry in her new role as Lancaster County Dairy Princess.

Alternates Andrea Kreider and Monica Rohrer with the help of four dairy darlings will assist Heather with county dairy promotion.

The three contestants for the pageant prepared a presentation or skit to perform in front of the audience. Each also needed to answer the impromptu question: What advice would you give parents of teen-agers today?

Heather said that she believes that the most important thing for parents to give teen-agers is to show them love so that they don't need to look elswhere for it and that parents should be willing to talk.

For her presentation, Heather posed as a city girl who moved to the country and stopped by a neighboring farm for a drink. At the farm, she learned about cows and the nutritional value of milk and other dairy products.

Heather is the daughter of Clair and Laverne Oberholzer of Elizabethtown, where they milk 75 cows.

Heather's sister Jesslyn, 19, served as Lancaster County's Alternate Dairy Princess two years ago.

Other siblings include twins Brent and Brian, 14, and Delmar, 12.

Heather is the president of the FFA at the Elizabethtown High School. She was a recent national FFA winner of a writing contest. Heather also participates in ODE to Youth, marching band, girl's soccer, National Honor Society, Northwestern 4-H Dairy Club, Saddle Cinches 4-H Horse Club, and Risser's Mennonite Church Youth Group. She works part time for Wenger's Meats and Fine Foods.

Alternate Andrea Kreider is the daughter of Herbert and Darlene Kreider of Quarryville, where they are one of the owners of the 220-cow dairy operation by S&A Kreider and Sons.

Monica Roher is the daughter of John and Bonita Rohrer of Lancaster where they have an 85-head dairy.

Four dairy darlings who will help with promotions during the upcoming year are Alison Glick, daughter of Merle and Denise Glick of Quarryville; Brenda Hoover, daughter of Gordon and Carol Hoover of Gap; Heidi Benner, daughter of Herbert and Melanie Benner of Gap; and Sarah Linde, daughter of Axle and Sue Linde of Kirkwood.

Dairy of Distinction awards were given to Brubaker Farms of Mount Joy; Fountain Hill Farm of Gap, Kat-Lin Farm of Lititz, and David and Olna Stoltzfoos of Leola.

Amy Espenshade gave a teary goodbye speech. She spoke of the highlights and the honor she had in representing the dairy industry as the county dairy princess during the past year.

(Turn to Page B17)

Lancaster County Dairy Princess Heather Oberholtzer is surrounded by her family that includes parents Clair and Laverne, and siblings Jesslyn, 19, twins Brent and Brian, 14, and Delmar, 12.

Dairy Darlings for the upcoming year are Alison Glick, Brenda Hoover, Heidi Benner, and Sarah Linde.

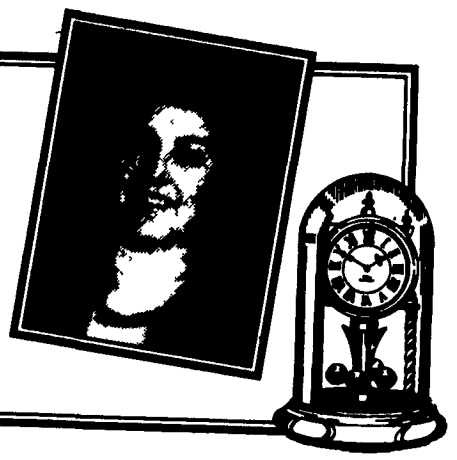
Evening festivities began with Dairy Darlings Crystal Brubaker, 10; Andrea Shellenberger, 9; Jodi Delong, 11; and Jenna Martin, 9, serving milk punch, cheese and crackers to guests.

Taking Time by Rebecca Escott



In the last decade, the number of children living with their grandparents has increased by almost 40 percent, according to the most recent U.S. Census. A documented 3.2 million children live with their grandparents full-time, and there are millions of other grandparents who assume child-rearing responsibilities on a part-time basis.

Add to these "part-time" arrangements the tens of millions of kids who will spend a week or a month with Grandma this summer, and you have lots of grandparents who are faced with new discipline, communication, feeding, and entertainment challenges.

Grandparent caregivers experience increased demands—financial, legal, physical, social. Some also confront their own child who may be abusive or drug addicted. If you are a grandparent caregiver, part-time or full-time, you need to seek support. Some of that support will come from your own grandchildren. Their hugs and smiles can refuel you. Additional help comes from the community—friends, support groups, family service agencies, and local communities services like the public library.

These places and people will help you fill a critical role in your grandchild's life. You certainly make a difference and have an opportunity to positively affect your grandson or granddaughter's future.

As I reflect on the times I spent with my grandparents, I think two of their greatest gifts to me were the gift of listening and the gift of encouragement—needs that are often neglected in a crazy world! As you spend time with your grandchild this summer, look for ways to communicate how special she is to you. Make yourself available for conversation.

The conversation may come more easily if you're busy doing something together. With younger children, plan a scavenger hunt. Before going outdoors, make up a list of things to look for—a robin, a yellow leaf, a daisy, a green roof, etc. Then walk together. Ask your pre-teens to teach you a song, a dance, or a group cheer. Make homemade pogs with your grandchildren. Showing an interest in the things of their generation really communicates that you care.

Pogs is a reminder to me that some things change. As grandparents you see that. Now car seats and bike helmets are both mandated realities in Pennsylvania. The hot TV shows and toys come and quickly go, but some things don't change. Kids still like to be hugged, to be the center of attention occasionally, to laugh and to run. They want to be liked; they want to fit in. They also need to know limits.

Providing reasonable limits for children may be a challenge for grandparents especially if the children's parents don't do that consistently. It is not helpful for grandchildren to get everything they want or to be able to do anything at any time. Children benefit from some rules and guidelines.

It it's been a while since you last disciplined a youngster, here are a few strategies to try:

Separation—If you care for more than one child, have them go to separate areas if they begin to fight with each other. Use this as a time to calm down.

HOT MILK SPONGE CAKE

2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
4 eggs
2 cups sugar
½ cup butter
1 cup hot milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift together flour and baking powder; add butter to milk until melted (don't boil). Beat eggs until light and fluffy. Gradually add sugar. Alternately add flour mixture and milk, butter and vanilla to egg-sugar mixture.

Bake in greased and floured tube pan at 350 degrees for one hour or in a 13x9-inch pan for 35 minutes or in a 9-inch square pan for 25-30 minutes.

Topping:

Melt 1 teaspoon butter on warm cake. Mix 2 tablespoons cinnamon with ¼ cup sugar. Sprinkle on warm cake. Or, sprinkle confectioners' sugar on warm buttered cake. Or, spread thin layer of jelly between two 9-inch cakes and frost with chocolate or vanilla icing.

SCALLOPED POTATOES

1 can condensed cream of mushroom or cream of celery soup
½ cup milk
Dash black pepper
4 cups sliced potatoes
1 small onion, sliced
2 tablespoons butter
Dash paprika

Blend soup, milk, and pepper. Arrange alternate layers of potatoes, onions, and sauce in buttered 1½ -quart casserole. Dot top with butter. Sprinkle with paprika. Cover.

Bake at 375 degrees for one hour. Uncover. Bake 15 minutes more. Serves 6.

STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE

⅓ cup shortening
2 eggs
1 cup sugar
⅓ teaspoon vanilla
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup milk
1½ cups flour

Cream shortening, sugar, and eggs. Add remaining ingredients. Bake at 350 degrees for 25-30 minutes. Serve with milk and fresh sliced strawberries.

Sandra Nolt
Peach Bottom

CRACKER PUDDING

4 cups milk
2 eggs, separated
½ cup sugar
2 cups coarse cracker crumbs
1 cup shredded coconut
1 teaspoon vanilla

Scald milk in top of double boiler. Beat egg yolks and add sugar. Add this mixture gradually to scalded milk. Stir constantly. Allow to cook for one minute and then add cracker crumbs and coconut. Stir until cracker crumbs are soft and mixture is thick.

Remove from heat and add vanilla. Pour into a buttered baking dish. Spread with meringue made by beating 3 tablespoons sugar into stiffly beaten egg whites.

Bake at 350 degrees until meringue is golden brown. Makes 6-8 servings.

EASY BAKED LASAGNA

1 pound ground beef
6 cups spaghetti sauce
12-ounces lasagna noodles, uncooked
24-ounces small curd cottage cheese
2 cups shredded mozzarella cheese
¼ cup grated parmesan cheese
4 eggs

Brown ground beef; drain; set aside. Heat spaghetti sauce, set aside. Mix together cottage cheese, mozzarella, parmesan, and eggs for filling. Pour ¾ cup sauce on bottom of 13x9x2-inch pan. Arrange layer of uncooked lasagna noodles (about 4) over sauce. Spread ¾ cup sauce over noodles, ½ cup browned ground beef, ½ of the cheese filling, and additional ½ cup sauce.

Repeat layers of lasagna, sauce, ground beef, cheeses, and sauce twice, gently pressing lasagna noodles into cheese mixture. Top with layer of lasagna noodles and remaining sauce. Sprinkle with additional parmesan cheese. Bake, covered with foil, at 375 degrees for one hour. Remove foil, bake about 10 minutes longer. Allow to stand about 10 minutes before cutting for easier handling.

Lasagna will expand during cooking to fill the empty spaces.

In all the ice and snow of January 1994, we moved to Juniata County from Lancaster County. Our whole family is involved in dairy farming. Our son, Dan, 18, and daughter, Judy, 15 are very involved with FFA and 4-H. I grow flowers for fresh and dry bouquets in the summer and sew wall hangings during the winter. We enjoy watching the seasons change on the Tuscorora Mountain across the Juniata River as we live and work on the dairy farm.

ORANGE AND CHEESE DESSERT

2 cups crushed graham crackers
¼ cup melted butter
1 tablespoon sugar

Mix crackers, butter, and sugar together and press into the bottom of a cake pan or pie plate.

Mix together:

8-ounces cream cheese
1½ cups confectioners' sugar

Add:

1 cup whipping cream, whipped

Put mixture on top of crust. Drain:

15 ounces Mandarin oranges

Add sugar and a little water to the drained orange juice. Thicken with clear jel and add some orange Jell-O. Cool. Arrange orange slices on cream cheese mixture and pour Jell-O mixture on top.

Delicious!

RHUBARB PIE

2 cups granulated sugar
⅓ cup flour
5 eggs
⅓ stick butter
3 cups milk
3 cups chopped rhubarb

Mix sugar and flour: add eggs and butter and beat well with mixer. Add milk, mix at low speed. Add rhubarb and stir. Pour into unbaked pie shell and bake at 375 degrees for about 35 minutes. Do not overbake. Pie will be a bit shaky when removed from oven. Makes 2 pies.

This is our family's favorite recipe for rhubarb pie.

ICE CREAM PIE

18 chocolate sandwich cookies, crushed
⅓ cup butter

Melt butter and mix with crushed cookies. Press in buttered pie pan and fill with 2-quart vanilla ice cream.

Topping:

½ cup sugar
2 unsweetened chocolate squares
1 teaspoon butter
1 small can evaporated milk

Melt chocolate squares in double boiler. Add sugar and butter. Slowly add milk and cook until thickened. Before serving pie, top with the warm topping.

We just recently moved to a farm and started milking cows in January. We enjoy working together as a family. We have two children, Lucille, 3, and Anthony, 1. Both enjoy going to the barn watching and playing with the animals.

MEXICAN BISCUIT BAKE

2 tablespoons butter
1 large can refrigerated buttermilk biscuits
1 small can refrigerated buttermilk biscuits
16-ounce jar medium thick and chunky salsa
1 cup salsa for garnish, optional
3 cups shredded Monterey Jack cheese or mozzarella.
½ cup chopped green pepper
½ cup sliced scallions
2¼ ounces sliced black olives, drained

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Melt butter in a 9x13-inch baking dish. Evenly coat dish with butter. Separate all of the biscuit dough into 13 biscuits. Cut each into 8 pieces and place the pieces in a large bowl. Toss with 1¼ cup salsa. Spoon evenly into baking dish. Sprinkle with cheese, peppers, scallions, and olives. Bake 35 to 40 minutes or until edges are deep golden brown and center is set. Let stand for 15 minutes. Cut into squares. Serve with additional salsa if desired.

This is great for a snack for company.

CHOCOLATE BAR CAKE

8-ounces milk chocolate bar, broken into chunks
¼ cup butter
1⅓ cups boiling water
2½ cups unsifted all-purpose flour
2 cups light brown sugar
2 teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
2 eggs
½ cup sour cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
Chocolate frosting

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Combine chocolate, butter, and water in a mixing bowl; stir until chocolate is melted. In a separate bowl, combine flour, brown sugar, baking soda, and salt. Gradually add chocolate mixture, beating for several minutes with electric mixer on medium speed until well blended. Add eggs, sour cream, and vanilla, continuing to beat on medium speed for one minute. Pour into greased, floured 9x13-inch pan. Bake for 35-40 minutes. Cool; top with your favorite chocolate frosting. Serves 12.

My husband Todd has a dairy farm in Perry Township, Berks County. We have 70 cows and raise all the replacement heifers. I work part time as a church secretary. We have one daughter Tracie, who is a senior at Hamburg Area High School. She will attend Alvernia College in the fall. We have two sons, Brandon and Marc. Brandon, 16, is a sophmore at Hamburg and helps on the farm after school and on weekends. Marc is in third grade at Hamburg Elementary School. Both boys are active in 4-H and show animals during the summer.

BRUNCH EGGSTRATA

12 slices week-old bread, cubed
1 cup chopped onion
2 cups cubed ham or cooked bacon or sausage
1 cup shredded Swiss cheese
1 cup shredded cheddar cheese
8 eggs, well beaten
4 cups milk
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper, preferably white

Butter 9x13-inch baking dish and place bread cubes evenly over bottom.

On top of bread, layer ham, onion, and both cheeses.

Beat together eggs, milk, and seasonings. Pour over ingredients in baking dish. Let stand for 15 minutes at room temperature or covered, overnight in refrigerator.

Bake at 350 degrees for 45-50 minutes.

I am married and a high school German teacher. I enjoy vegetable gardening, reading, my beloved Rottweiler, and escorting high school students and adults on study tours of Germany and Austria.

1½ cups sugar
4 eggs
2 cups sour cream
1 cup heavy cream
2 tablespoons bottled lemon juice
½ tablespoon vanilla
Graham cracker crust
2 cups graham crackers
½ cup melted butter
3 tablespoons sugar

Combine crust ingredients and press into bottom and sides of 9-inch springform pan with 2-inch sides.

Mix together cheese and sugar until well blended. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add remaining ingredients, one at a time, beating well after each. Pour into pan and bake one hour in preheated 350 degree oven. Turn oven off and let cake set one hour longer with oven door closed. Open door and let cake remain in oven 20 minutes longer. Remove, cool, and refrigerate.

If desired, top with canned blueberry or cherry filling.

My husband David and I have a herd of 40 Jersey dairy cows. With our two sons, David, 13, and Mike, 9, we farm about 130 acres. Our cows are all registered and we really enjoy working with the Jerseys. We grow hay, corn, and oats.

We are hoping to start haying next week but our first crop will be small due to the lack of rain in our area. We just finished planting a big vegetable garden so hopefully, for the sake of all the crops, that will change.

LEMON SQUARES

Crust:
1 cup butter
2 cups all-purpose flour
Dash of salt

Combine all ingredients and press into a 9-inch by 13-inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes. Set aside.

Filling:
4 eggs
2 cup white sugar
¼ cup all-purpose flour
6 tablespoons lemon juice

Combine eggs and sugar; beat well. Add flour and lemon juice. Pour over crust and bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes. When cool, sprinkle with confectioners' sugar and serve.

This recipe is very quick and easy and delicious! For a better flavor, we also add the lemon rind and sometimes a bit more lemon juice.

APPLE FRITTERS

2½ cups mashed potatoes
1¼ cups sugar
1¼ cups butter
6 eggs
4-5 cups chopped apples
5 pounds flour
3 cups warm water
2 tablespoons yeast
2½ teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1½ cups raisins

Soften yeast in water. Mix together all ingredients. Let rise until double. Pat out to ½-inch thickness on floured surface. Cut in 1½-inch square pieces. Let rise again. Deep fry in 350 degree oil. Brown on both sides. A few minutes after they are out of the fryer, dip them in glaze. (Use the same glaze as used for donuts. Line on racks or paper to dry.

VANILLA ICE CREAM

1½ quart of milk
2 cups sugar
¾ cup cornstarch
¼ teaspoon salt
6 egg yolks
1½ quarts thick cream
1½ teaspoons vanilla
6 egg whites
1½ package gelatin

Scald milk and add sugar, cornstarch, and salt, which has been blended with one cup milk. Cool until thick. Add egg yolks which have been beaten with two tablespoons milk. Cook one minute. Add gelatin mixture which has been soaked in three tablespoons cold milk. Remove from heat and let cool. Then add cream, vanilla, and well-beaten egg whites. Freeze.

For chocolate ice cream add:

3½ cups sugar
1 cup cocoa or 2 squares chocolate

We have eight in our family, three boys and three girls. We usually like to make ice cream and have it for our dessert with cake. Every now and then we invite our aunts and uncles and have some for a treat. Good luck with your ice cream!

SPINACH PIE

1 package (10 ounces) of spinach, slightly steamed.
½ cup chopped onion
1 cup shredded cheese
3 eggs
1½ cup milk
¾ cup Bisquick baking mix
½ teaspoon salt (optional)
¼ teaspoon pepper.

Heat oven to 400 degrees. Lightly grease a 10-inch by 1½-inch pie plate. Slightly steam spinach until tender. Drain thoroughly.

Mix spinach, onion, and cheese in pie plate. Beat remaining ingredients until smooth (15 seconds in blender on high or one minute with hand blender). Pour into plate. Bake until knife, inserted into center, comes out clean, about 30 minutes. Cool 5 minutes. Garnish if desired.

We enjoy the variety of recipes featured each week.

FRUIT DIP

Mix together:

8 ounces cream cheese
1 cup marshmallow creme
1 teaspoon lemon juice

Chill about one hour. Serve with fresh fruit. It's very good!

Our family loves this dip at holidays, picnics, or any occasion. I'm Erin Williams, Lebanon County Li'l' Dairy Princess. I live on a dairy farm with my parents David and Christine Williams, a sister Lauren and a brother Matthew. On the dairy farm I leave the cows out in the evening. Sometimes I help to feed calves. Also I have a bunny rabbit that I received for my eighth birthday in April. I have enjoyed my year as Li'l' Miss, especially doing school promotions.

SPAGHETTI PIZZA

1 pound spaghetti, cooked
1 egg, beaten
⅓ cup milk
¼ cup butter, melted
2½ cups shredded mozzarella cheese
14-ounces spaghetti or pizza sauce
¼ cup Parmesan cheese
1 cup sliced pepperoni

Combine spaghetti, egg, milk, and butter with ½ cup mozzarella in a bowl, mixing well. Place on greased 10½x15-inch baking sheet. Spread sauce on top. Top with parmesan cheese, remaining mozzarella cheese, and pepperoni.

Bake at 350 degrees for 35-40 minutes or until bubbly. Serves 6-8.

Conodoguinet 4-H

The Conodoguinet 4-H Sheep Club held its annual sheep workshop on Saturday, June 10 at home of Mark Myers.

The workshop started with a demonstration of trimming a sheep. All members took turns shearing the animals.

Instructions were given to the new members on how to show their animals at the roundup. A picnic lunch was served followed by a stockman's contest.

The next meeting is set for July 19 at 7:30 p.m. at the home of John Witter.

Franklin County Selects Dairy Princess

BETH MILLER
Cumberland Co. Correspondent

CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin Co.) — Anne Eliza Main of Mercersburg has won the right to wear the crown as Franklin County's 1995 dairy princess.

She captured that title during the county's 28th Annual Dairy Princess Pageant held at the Lighthouse Restaurant.

Anne, who goes by the nickname of Libby, is the daughter of Charles and Liza Main. She is a 1995 graduate of the James Buchanan High School.

She will be attending Gettysburg College this fall.

Anne has plenty of experience with the dairy industry because her family farms 225 acres and has 175 head of Holstein cattle.

She is the "support staff" on the farm, meaning that she helps with everything needed to keep the operation going.

In addition to working on the farm, Anne's activities have included serving on her high school's student council and participating in the Cherish Chain.

As part of the pageant, Anne and the other contestant, Tia Crider of Chambersburg, had to answer the question, "How do you feel being raised on a dairy farm will impact your life?"

Anne said she felt her farming experience would affect all the decisions she will make because she has a great respect for the hard work needed to run a farm and for the importance of following through with a job.

She said she also has learned how important it is to be responsible for what you do.

The skit Anne staged during the pageant presentation competition was geared toward elementary school students who are fans of the "Mighty Morphin Power Rangers" television show.

She dressed as a giant white milk drop and called herself the "Mighty Morphin Milk Drop."

During her entertaining program, she pulled different dairy products from her costume and talked about their nutritional advantages. After each product, she made a karate move like the Power Rangers do.

Anne was crowned by 1994 Dairy Princess Larissa Mellott.

Crider, who will be alternate dairy princess for the coming year, is the daughter of Dennis Crider of Crider Dale Farms, a 130-acre operation with 110 Holstein cattle.

She will be a senior at Chambersburg High School in the fall. She is a member of her local 4-H club, the county 4-H Council, a participant in the 4-H Dairy Bowl, and is a member of her school's Art Club and volleyball team.

Tia answered the question about how living on a farm has affected her life by saying the experience "has taught me responsibility, not to neglect things and to stay with the job and do my best at it."

Her skit focused on how milk helps to strengthen muscles.

To make her point, Tia came out dressed in a baseball uniform and began to exercise to get ready for a game. After getting her two to four servings of milk a day she had plenty of strength to hit a home run right out of the park.

Franklin County's 1995 Dairy Princess Anne Eliza Main, right, and the 1995 Alternate Dairy Princess Tia Crider.

Her Favorite? 'Red Cookbook'

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

MOUNT JOY (Lancaster Co.) — Sandy Witmer has a stack of Pennsylvania Grange Cookbooks, but her favorite is the "Red Cookbook" published in 1984.

She and some other members of the Elizabethtown Grange petitioned the state organization to reissue the "Red Cookbook."

Last week, the Grange's petition became reality when the reprinted cookbook became available for purchase.

The brightly colored cookbook with more than 1,500 recipes and 480 pages sells for $13 plus $3 for shipping and handling.

"I like the cookbook because the recipes are simple and easy to read," Sandy said.

A special diet foods with heart healthy recipes and microwave cooking sections and an easy-to-reference index have led to this cookbook being nicknamed "the cook's helper."

The recipes found in the "Red Cookbook" are not available in other cookbooks. The "Red Cookbook" also contains a section with household hints, measurements, substitutions, and cooking equivalents.

Other Grange cookbooks, which are used as fund-raising projects, include the 1925 green hardbound cookbook ($9), the 1972 white cookbook ($13), and the 1992 green softbound cookbook ($11.50). A limited supply of the National Grange Glory of Cooking cookbook is also available for $8.

The State Grange has more than 33,000 members and is a rural, agricultural, and community service organization dedicated to improving the lives of Pennsylvanians.

Sandy said that she and her husband Dennis joined the Grange in 1984.

"I love to meet people and it's a community organization that is always doing things for the community," Sandy said.

The E-town Grange raises funds at the E-town Fair Milkshake stand.

Sandy grew up on a Bainbridge area dairy farm. Although she no longer lives on a farm, she continues to hold an interest in agriculture and is pleased that the Grange works to pass legislation favorable to farmers.

The cookbooks are available through Grange members or send a check to the Pennsylvania State Grange Cookbooks, 1604 N. Second St., Harrisburg, PA 17102, or call (800) 552-3865.

Taking Time

Redirection—If your grandchild is misbehaving, stop them. Explain why you dislike the action, and then suggest a better action or different game to substitute.

Fix-Up—When your grandchild causes trouble or hurt, expect her to fix it up or at least help. If this is a new idea, he may need you to show him how.

Be Firm—Clearly and firmly state that your grandchild do what needs to be done. Don't be wishy-washy. Speak in a tone that lets your grandchild know that you mean what you say. This doesn't mean yelling or threatening.

Being consistent in your expectations for behavior is the trick. If you are predictable in your expectations and in your response to behavior, children will get the message.

Finally, as a grandparent, know when to say "No." I always say to parents that it's hard to be a good parent if you are not taking care of yourself. The same thing goes for grandparents. Take good care of yourself. Make sure that you are able to rest when you need to and that your schedule still allows time for you to visit with your friends. This allows you to give the best to your grandchildren when you're together, whether that's one day a month or every afternoon.

HAPPENINGS

Broken Bit 4-H

The Broken Bit 4-H Horse and Pony Club held its May meeting on May 18 at the Mt. Airy Fire Hall.

Seventeen members and one leader were present.

Dr. Jeff Edelson gave a talk on worming and vacciantions. Samara Shuster-Edelson and her kids did a demo on Horse Show Fashions.

The club will be sponsoring an open show on June 18 at Lower Hopewell Farm. Mark Smith will be the judge.

This show is open to the public. No one under the age of 8 is allowed to ride because of insurance regulations. For more information, contact Helen Farrington at (717) 626-7258.

The club is planning a July trip to Penn National.

4-H Day Camps

Montgomery County 4-H will be offering two day camps this summer. All youth ages 8-12 as of January 1, 1995 are welcome to attend the Nature Quest Day Camp, which will focus on the earth, water, plants, wildlife, and the important role each of these plays in our environment and lives.

Workshops will consist entirely of fun, hands-on activities. The day camp will be offered July 11-14 from 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at the 4-H Center in Collegeville on Route 113 one mile south of Skippack.

To defray the cost of materials, a fee of $20 for the first child and $15 for each additional child will be charged. Scholarships are available.

Also, an Animal Science Day Camp will be offered this year. Youth ages 9-13 as of January 1, 1995 are welcome to attend, and will be given opportunities for hands-on activities and learning.

At the 4-H Center and on field trips, campers will explore the world of various animals, ranging from rabbits and guinea pigs to horses and cows. Animal Science Day Camp will be held July 17-21 from 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. A fee of $35 will be charged to defray the cost of field trips and materials.

All day campers will become 4-H'ers by participation, and are especially encouraged to exhibit in the Montgomery County 4-H Fair, which runs August 10-12. For more information or to request a brochure, contact the 4-H Center at (610) 489-4315.

You ask You answer

This column is for readers who have questions but don't know whom to ask for answers.

"You Ask—You Answer" is for non-cooking questions. When a reader sends in a question, it will be printed in the paper. Readers who know the answer are asked to respond by mailing the answer, which will then be printed in the paper.

Questions and Answers to this column should be addressed to You Ask—You Answer, Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. Attention: Lou Ann Good.

There's no need to send a SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible.

QUESTION — Mrs. Joseph Boll, Harleysville, would like to know where to pruchase mendettes, a small disc with a screw that fits a small hole in pans and holds the other side on.

QUESTION — Eva Eby, Manheim, would like to know how to get climatis vines to bloom.

QUESTION — Lois Burkholder, Washington Boro, wanted to know why her iris does not bloom.

QUESTION — Lois Burkholder, Washington Boro, wanted to know why her rhubarb goes to seed as soon as it starts growing.

QUESTION — Margaret Diamond, Kunkletown, would appreciate information on hair embroidery, instructions on the craft, items owned with a history, or items for sale. Send it to 80 Evergreen Lake, Kunkletown, PA 18058-9329.

QUESTION — Norma Jean Yankey, Mt. Solon, Va., has a Burpee pressure canner Model #AR 1525. The screw in the control valve is weak and the pressure will not register properly. Does anyone know where she can find another control valve. The canner is approximately 40 years old.

QUESTION — Yvonne Lawrence, Newburgh, N.Y., would like to know where to purchase a rhubarb and soda mixture used for indigestion. She used to purchase it in a pharmacy but finds the New York pharmacies don't stock it anymore.

QUESTION — Mrs. William Pierce, Palmyra, would like to know where to purchase antique two-bottom dishes for crock-type chicken water fountains. Must be white with 10-inch top and 8-inch bottom.

QUESTION — Esther Miller, Coatesville, and Edgar Jackson, Ligonier, would like to know how to puff wheat, rice, corn, and other grains for making cereal. Esther writes that when she visited Europe, the Austrians especially served puffed cereals and one of her favorites was puffed peas served with soup.

QUESTION — Patricia Varchol, Reinholds, writes that she started plants from seed for her large garden. She used a commercial planting mix for starting the seed, grew the plants under lights for 15 hours a day, watered from the bottom and watered only enough to keep them from drying out. She had a great germination rate, but since then has lost almost all the seedlings to damping off. Every time she has tried to start seeds, the seedlings met the same fate.

She knows it's too late this season, but are there tips or tricks to try next year to keep this from happening?

QUESTION — Kay McGrath, 68 Hunter St., Tamaqua, Pa., writes that she found an antique in the attic of a deceased relative. She believes it is a spinning wheel loom. She has a picture of it if someone collects such objects.

QUESTION — Paul Early, R.R. 1, Box 632A, Annville, Pa. 17008 has a hopper to a wheelbarrow grass seeder that was made in the 1920s. He would like to hear from someone who has the wheelbarrow part or he would be willing to sell the hopper.

QUESTION — Ruth Dundore would like the book with the following poems: Brier Rose, The Old Man Goes To School, The Station Agent's Store, and The Last Hymn. It was published about 1900.

QUESTION — Maxine Tutton, Fort Royal, Va., would like the address for a mail order company that sells patterns for clothing that fits cement lawn geese that are so popular now.

QUESTION — Julia Rissler, Mohnton, would like Sue Barton books by Helen D. Boylston, especially Sue Barton, Superintendent of Nurses. Call (717) 484-0515, or write to Julia at 448 Orchard Rd., Mohnton, PA 19540.

QUESTION — George Rousis, Bally, hopes to move to the Midwest or Montana in a few years. He'd like to know how to find out weather temperature highs and lows, rainfall, and snowfall for the individual states during the past 10 years.

QUESTION — Jenny Palovitch of Lancaster County would like to purchase a wrought iron bench that wraps around a tree. It may be new or used.

QUESTION — Several years ago, Harold R. Stoudt of Hamburg purchased aluminum-clad electric fence wire by direct shipment from South Star Industries in Tenn. The dealer discontinued his business. Does anyone know of the company or one that sells similar high quality aluminum clad maleable steel wire? It did not recoil when unspooled and could be hand spliced.

QUESTION — A Lehighton reader would like to know the market price for goose and duck eggs.

QUESTION — Marian Mosemann, Summit Hill, would like to know where to purchase gift boxes for jellies and breads. Candy boxes are too small.

ANSWER — George Ueltzen, Saylorsburg, wanted to know how to get rid of carpenter bees in his barn and out buildings, which are full of holes. Nothing but a tennis racket seems to stop them. Thanks to Rhoda Sauder, York, who writes that the solution is to use a hand sprayer with a solution of 2 teaspoons liquid Sevin to a gallon of water. Spray the holes where there is little activity in early morning or evening. Sevin has a residual effect. Bees entering or exiting the holes will die. Usually spraying once every two years is sufficent. This will also get rid of wood boring bumblebees.

Housefly Hassles

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Warm spring temperatures bring not only barbecues and baseball, but also unwelcome pests — particularly house flies. You can help minimize flies near your home by understanding their behavior and using sanitation and other measures, says a Penn State entomologist.

"House flies are not just annoying, they are a potential hazard," says Charles Pitts, professor of entomology in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences. "They're suspected of transmitting at least 65 human diseases, including typhoid fever, dysentery, cholera and tuberculosis.

"They feed on fecal matter, discharges from wounds and sores, and decaying matter such as spoiled eggs, fish and meat. Then they spread disease organisms by regurgitating and excreting wherever they land. The tiny specks on many surfaces visited by house flies are the excreted wastes."

The insects vary in length from ⅛ to ¼ of an inch and have four dark, longitudinal strips on the top of the middle body, Pitts says. Because their mouthparts are adapted for sponging up liquids, they cannot bite. They feed on solid food by vomiting on it. The saliva liquefies the solid food, which the fly then soaks up.

While house flies live only about 2.5 weeks during the summer, they can survive up to three months at lower temperatures. Flies normally stay within one-half to two miles of their point of origin, but may travel up to 20 miles to find food and egg-laying sites.

"Female flies deposit 100 to 150 eggs in decaying matter such as grass clippings, garbage or human and animal waste," Pitts says. "Depending on how warm it is, the eggs hatch into maggots between eight hours and two days later. Mature maggots burrow for protection in drier surrounding areas, where they form pupal cases and mature into adult house flies. Adults mate within two days of emerging, and the cycle begins again."

There are four basic approaches to controlling house flies, Pitts says. "Sanitation is most important, because flies can't breed in large numbers if their food sources are limited," he adds. "Don't let garbage, grass clippings, weed piles or other decaying organic matter pile up.

"Keeping trash cans clean and tightly covered also helps. Do not wash the cans where the rinse water might drain into the soil, because flies may breed in the soil. Maggoty garbage should be dried out or disposed of in fly-proof containers or landfills."

Excluding flies is also important. "Window or door screens can at least keep flies outside," Pitts says. "Make sure screens fit tightly and have no holes. Keep doors closed, with no openings at the top or the bottom. Caulk or plug any openings around water or gas pipes or electrical conduits that go into the building. Flies also can enter a building through ventilation holes, so use screening to exclude them."

Non-chemical control measures can take care of a few flies that slip into the house. "Ultraviolet light traps, sticky fly traps, fly swatters, baited fly traps and other devices can eliminate many flies inside a home," Pitts says. "But a fly swatter remains an economical way to control the occasional fly."

If you have many flies in your home, chemical control should be a last resort. "Most pesticides are poisonous, and sprays give only temporary relief, Pitts says. "If you have recurring fly problems, find out why and relieve the problem through sanitation and exclusion.

Princess Comes From Cow-Tech University

LOIS SZYMANSKI
Maryland Correspondent

WESTMINSTER, Md. — Christina Harper, a junior at Francis Scott Key High School, in Union Bridge, Maryland was crowned the 1995 Carroll County Dairy Princess recently at a ceremony held at the Carroll County Agricultural Center in Westminster. As a part of the contest she had to give a short biographical speech, answer a "fish-bowl" question about the importance of the dairy industry in Carroll County, and perform a short, creative skit about the dairy industry.

Dressed in a lab coat, bifocal glasses and a name tag that read "Cow-Tech University," Harper acted out the skit she had written. In it she was a science professor in search of the ultimate beverage. But, by the end of the skit she discovered that nature has already provided the best drink of all in the form of milk.

Harper is an intelligent young woman who is concerned about the future of the dairy industry. She worries that people do not realize how much milk and other dairy products have to offer.

"Over twenty-seven million people in America suffer from osteoporosis," said the new Carroll County Dairy Princess. "It is a crisis...a bone crippling disease that can immobilize its victims." Harper believes that the calcium milk provides will reduce those numbers, and that the answer lies in educating our youth. "I believe in promoting the dairy industry. There is a real need for agricultural education, especially in elementary age children," she said.

Christina Harper works with her parents, Bill and Jean Coshun, to keep their 200-acre Union Bridge farm running smoothly. They milk about 50 head of cattle, mostly Hosteins. Harper says that she helps milk in the evenings during the school year, and mornings and evenings during the summer and on weekends. She has three Brown Swiss cows and a Brown Swiss heifer that are hers to show. She loves the Brown Swiss breed and believes they have a lot of potential as an up-and-coming breed."

Harper is a member of the Maryland Brown Swiss Association, her school's chapter of Future Farmers of America (FFA), and of the Carroll County 4-H Dairy Club. She was on the 1994 FFA Dairy Judging Team that won first place at the Eastern States Dairy Expo in Springfield, Massachusetts, and placed second at the Maryland State Fair Dairy Judging Contest.

Christina Harper's dark eyes turned serious when she talked about how important it is to preserve the dairy industry. "Even if you are not a dairy farmer, so many jobs are created by the dairy industry. There are the milk truck haulers, farm hands, the salesmen of sanitary equipment...all the way down to the stores that sell the milk. Did you know that Carroll County alone produces more than 250 million pounds of milk annually?" she asked.

"I guess I'm just a farm girl. I love working on the farm," Harper said, "and I like milking the most!" But milking cows isn't the only thing this 17 year-old does on the farm.

Christian Harper's family's home is surrounded by pine trees and perched on top of a hill overlooking the farm buildings and fields below. With 28 acres of their farm planted in Christmas trees, winter finds Harper helping with the daily chores of a choose-and-cut Christmas tree farm. Her duties include helping run a baler that wraps the trees into easy-to-haul packages, or making some of the hundreds of Christmas wreaths and decorations the family sells each winter. Their house is a beautifully decorated, magnificent log structure that welcomes visitors with the warmth and strength of home. Harper confided that building the house was a family effort, and she helped too.

Harper hopes to become a large animal vet, and she already has several colleges in mind out... "Virginia Tech or the University of Maryland."

She said, "I want a strong education, but I also want to work outside. I enjoy physical work as well as the sciences."

Christina Harper will represent Carroll County at the Maryland State Dairy Princess Contest to be held on July 25.

Alloway Gardens Blooms With Ideas And Plants

BETH MILLER
Cumberland Co. Correspondent

LITTLESTOWN (Adams Co.) — The Alloway Gardens and Herb Farm is going to be getting a special guest today.

That guest is Sharon Lovejoy, the author of the best-selling books "Sunflower Houses" and "Hollyhock Days," who will come to the garden center on June 24 to present the program "Herbs as Ornamentals."

It has been that way since owners Barbara Steele and Marlene Lufriu started Alloway in 1976 simply as "friends doing something together that they both really liked."

"We started out with herbs for sale and some classes," said Marlene. "For a while we were doing a lot with dried herbs and flowers, making bouquets, wreaths and such, but the interest is not quite as high as it used to be.

"But now a lot of attention has turned toward the medicinal use of plants," she said.

In addition to Lovejoy's program, other summer programs include "Fragrance Fantasy" on July 7 and 8, "Majolica Decorated Tiles or Trivets," on July 11, "Flower Pressing with Violet," on July 12, "Mud College Mud Earthenware," on July 18, "The Cutting Garden," on July 22, "Herbal Flavors and Savors," on Aug. 11, "Botanical Wreath" on Aug. 12, and "Nosegay of Dried Flowers" on Aug. 16.

Alloway's offerings of plants also have grown considerably. The center specializes in all sorts of herbs, perennials, and annuals, roses, ferns, ornamental grasses, vines, small trees and hostas, many of which are hard to find.

"We try to offer the unusual plants that you can't find at the local greenhouse," Marlene said.

Not only does Alloway supply the plants, the staff there shows customers how to plant them and combine herbs and flowers for successful gardens, like the kind that abound at Alloway.

Steele and Lufriu make a point of field testing plants before they offer them. They grow a new plant in their display garden for at least a year before they offer it for sale to examine its hardiness and characteristics. If it passes the test, they proceed to propagate the plant or find cuttings from the same source to grow in their outdoor beds or greenhouse.

One of the newest additions at Alloway is a greenhouse which, like all the greenhouses there, is used as a cold house to hold and grow perennials until they can be acclimated to the out of doors.

All the growing at Alloway, which is open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays and from noon to 4 p.m. on Sundays, is done on three very busy acres.

Marlene said the aim at Alloway is not only to sell plants, but to fertilize the enthusiasm of area gardeners.

"What we really want to do is educate — that is the basis for what we do," she said.

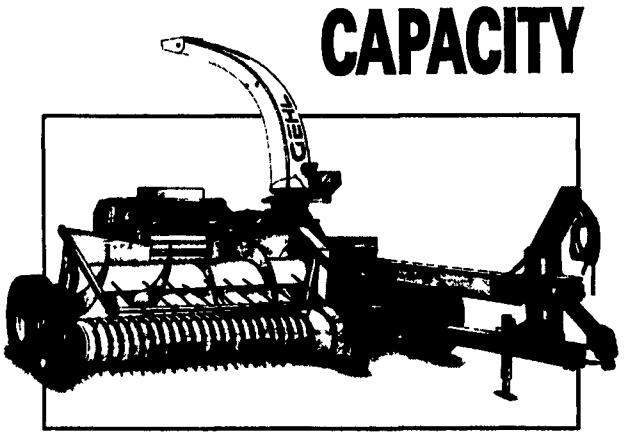
GEHL

UNMATCHED CAPACITY



Gehl forage harvesters get the job done faster with these performance features:
- Exclusive Auto-Max Load-Sensing System — Increase capacity by up to 20%. Lets you operate at top capacity without the fear of downtime due to overloading.
- Metal-Stop Metal Detector — Prevents machine damange and hardware disease.
- In-head Hydraulic Knife Sharpener — Lets you sharpen knives in the field.
- Patented One-Sided Cutterbar Adjustment — Makes adjusting the cutterbar quick and easy.
- Three Models To Choose From — Including the largest capacity pull-type forage harvester on the market.

COMMON SENSE MOWER CONDITIONERS

- Full-width intermeshing conditioning rolls with intermittent ribs deliver thorough, uniform conditioning.
- Simple sickle drive with pivot-arm design provides more cutting force.
- Fewer moving parts than competitive models for worry-free performance.
- Three-point flotation support protects the cutterbar from rocks and uneven terrain.
- 9'3" cutting width.

REAL ESTATE AT PUBLIC AUCTION

Fri. Eve., July 7, 1995
7:00 PM

Property located approximately 1½ miles from Mifflintown, Juniata County, along the Cedar Spring Road BUT WILL BE OFFERED FOR SALE, at Juniata Markets, Jct. of Rts. 75 and old 22, at the blinking lights, 1 mile north of Port Royal.

This two story frame home is conveniently located only minutes from Mifflintown at the corner of Industrial Park Road and the Cedar Spring Road. It offers a nice size .89 acre corner lot with on lot sewage and a drilled well.

It has a living room, family room, kitchen/dining room combination, den or bedroom, and full bath on the first floor. The second floor has four bedrooms, all with ample closet space, and a full bath.

This home has a one car attached garage with washer and dryer hook-up and a full concrete basement. Electric or gas heat, and central air conditioning keep this home comfortable year around.

A screened-in porch, small storage building, paved driveway, and cable TV are just a few extras. If you are looking for a home with lots of room and a great location, be sure and check this one out on these show dates—Saturday, June 17 from 10:00 AM–2:00 PM and on Wednesday evening, June 21 from 5:00 PM–8:00 PM or for an appointment call (717) 436-2514.

Super All Traction 23°

R-1

- New top-of-line bias-ply tractor rear, featuring our long bar/long bar design for tread stability, and heavy bar bracing to extend tread life.
- Long wearing and smooth riding, due to the more uniform, flatter contour of the long bar/long bar design.
- Proven 23° bar angle for traction and open center for self-cleaning.
- Bead and rim protector shields the rim to help keep stubble and soil from getting between the bead and rim flange.

What Makes Good Liming Material?

NORCROSS, Ga. — Liming is the process by which farmers control soil acidity. Agricultural liming materials contain calcium and magnesium compounds in various combinations which react in the soil to neutralize unwanted soil acidity.

Agricultural limestone (aglime) is the major liming material used today. Aglime is composed primarily of calcite (Calcium carbonate) or dolomite (calcium-magnesium carbonate) or a mixture of the two. It reacts with soil acidity, neutralizing that acidity and increasing soil pH. As acidity declines, soil pH increases. The soil's pH value alone does not determine the amount of aglime needed. The amount of aglime required to neutralize soil acidity is determined by measuring its pH and its resistance to change; that is, its buffering capacity. Buffering capacity is directly related to the amount and kind of clay and organic matter in the soil.

Quality and value of aglime sources are dependent upon three factors:

- Particle size
- Chemical reactivity
- Moisture content.

The speed of the reaction between aglime and soil acidity is dependent upon contact of the liming material with the soil. The smaller the particle size, the faster the rate of reaction. It is generally best to use an aglime that will react completely with the soil acidity within two to three years. Since the rate of reaction is related to fineness of grind, the finer the lime is pulverized, the more contact it has with the soil, and the more rapid the rate of reaction or neutralization of soil acidity.

Aglimes have a range of reactive particle sizes ranging from very fine, passing a 100 mesh sieve (100 mesh to the inch) to larger particles which pass a 60 mesh sieve. Particles of these sizes produce a rapid and an extended reaction with soil acidity.

The chemical effectiveness of a liming material is measured by its calcium carbonate equivalent. This is defined as the acid neutralizing capacity of the material expressed as weight percent of calcium carbonate or calcium carbonate equivalent (CCE). Aglimes containing primarily calcium carbonate usually have a CCE of 80 to 90 percent. Pure dolomite (calcium-magnesium carbonate) has a CCE of 108 percent. Aglime containing a mixture of calcium carbonate and calcium-magnesium carbonate (dolomitic lime) usually has a CCE greater than that containing only calcium carbonate (calcitic).

Moisture content is important because water replaces an equivalent weight of liming material. The more water in the aglime, the lower the content of reactive materials per ton of product.

Combining the CCE with reactivity factors based on particle size determines the effective calcium carbonate equivalent (ECCE) of aglime sources.

Be sure the aglime that you purchase meets specifications spelled out in state or provincial law that governs aglime quality. This ensures that the liming material you purchase has a high ECCE.

Remember, control of soil acidity through liming is the foundation of profitable crop production. Remember, too, that soil testing is the only means of determining the need for liming and the capital improvement investment it represents.

Even With Late Planting, There Are Awards In National Corn Yield Contest

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — Corn may have been planted late this year in most growing areas due to constant wet weather, but the National Corn Growers Association (NCGA) encourages farmers not to let that stop them from entering the National Corn Yield Contest (NCYC).

"Due to later planting, potential for lower yields exists, but that puts most U.S. corn farmers on a level playing field," said Richard Peterson, NCYC chairman and a farmer from Mountain Lake, Minn. "The opportunities to learn from using new or different production methods and earn rewards remain the same in this year's contest as in a year of record yields like 1994. In addition, the contest helps farmers compare their own proven corn production capabilities with other farmers in their state and across the country."

Though yield remains the focal point of the contest, the major role of the contest has always been to educate farmers on alternative methods of production that increase profitability and address environmental concerns.

"The NCYC encourages farmers to try new resourceful production methods, such as no-till or new techniques of nutrient management, on a contest plot before adopting them on a large scale," said Peterson.

Not only will entrants gain knowledge on which production techniques that work best on their farm, but they will also be rewarded for their efforts. Entrants can look forward to winning trophies and recognition from the NCGA, along with up to $10,000 in cash, a new car, free trips, or free seed from participating seed and crop protection companies.

Although all entries postmarked by the final deadline of August 15, 1995 will be included in the contest, a reduced entry fee is available for those entering by July 1, 1995. Entry and harvest forms can be obtained by contacting the NCGA at (314) 275-9915 or your local seed company representatives.

Winners in the contest will be announced January 15, 1996 and recognized at the Commodity Classic, the first combined convention and trade show of NCGA and American Soybean Association, on February 25-27, 1996 in Phoenix, Ariz. Trophies will be awarded to the top three winners in each class by state and on the national level.

Last year, 471 trophies were awarded in nine contest classes, including dryland and irrigated acres in conventional or mulch-till, no-till and ridge-till production programs. Because farmers only compete with those in similar growing regions, the prospect of winning is just an entry form away.

National Dorset Sale Coming To New England

WEST SPRINGFIELD, Mass. — The 53rd New England Sheep Sale is hosting the National Dorset Sale for the first time this year on July 14-15 here at the BIG E Agricultural Complex.

The New England Sale is sponsored by the New England Sheep and Wool Growers Association (NESWGA) and is held in conjunction with the Northeast Youth Sheep Show. The sale, to date, has more than 200 head entered with almost 100 head of Polled and Horned Dorset Sheep consigned. Top breeders from the Northeast, Mid-Atlantic, Midwest and Canada are bringing sheep to the sale.

Things get started Friday, July 14 at 9 a.m. with the showing of the sale sheep. Gary Saylor, a Polled Dorset breeder from Belle Center, Ohio will be placing the classes. The show order will be in the following order: Cheviots, Corriedales, Polled Dorsets, Horned Dorsets, Hampshires, Merinos, Montadales, Natural Coloreds, Romneys, Shropshires, Southdowns, Suffolks, and Tunis. At 5 to 7 p.m. that same day, the NESWGA will put on a family barbecue that will feature grilled lamb. Reservations must be made ahead for this event by contacting Launie York, 140 South Shelburne Road, Shelburne, MA 01370 or by calling her at (413) 625-2424 on or before Monday, July 10. Cost for the barbecue will be $9 for adults and $5 for children. Also at 5 p.m., the New England Sheep and Wood Growers Association will hold its annual meeting in the Agricultural Complex.

At 7 p.m. Friday evening, the supreme-champion selection show for the sale will be held. The breed champions vie for top honors and a $100 cash award that is presented to the supreme champion ram and supreme champion ewe of the sale. Also at this time a Scotch Auction is held for raising funds for the NESWGA Scholarship Fund. Several interesting items are donated, tickets sold, and drawings made. All proceeds go directly into the NESWGA Scholarship fund that supports two college scholarships every year.

Immediately following the supreme selection an ice cream social is scheduled. Sugarloaf Dorsets (Warren Cook), the New England Sale Committee, and the Northeastern Dorset Association are providing the free ice cream and all the toppings for this event.

Saturday morning at 7 a.m., the Continental Dorset Club and the Northeastern Dorset Association will be holding a breakfast in the rotunda area of the Agricultural Complex on the fairgrounds. Following the breakfast, the annual meeting of the Continental Dorset Club will also be held in the same area. All interested breeders are welcome to attend. Reservations for the breakfast can be made through Pat Poitras (413) 283-9852. Price for the meal will be $6.50.

The New England Sheep sale will start at 9 a.m. with Dan Schlichter, Washington Courthouse, Ohio calling the sale. NESWGA President Doug Gillespie and Gary Saylor will be reading pedigrees. Prior to the start of the sale buyer registration will take place and a buyer's raffle will be held. Sale credits of $200 and $100 will be raffled off to help buyers toward the purchases of their animals. Sale order will be as follows: Hampshires, Southdowns, Corriedales, Polled Dorsets, Horned Dorsets, Romneys, Natural Colored, Cheviots, Merinos, Montadales, Suffolks, Shropshires, and Tunis. Immediately following the sheep auction there will be a used sheep equipment auction held.

This event has grown since its inception a few years ago to where there is a lot of useful equipment being consigned. Any sheep related item may be sold through the sale and consignments are taken up to early Saturday morning.

For more information on the activities and sale catalogs, contact Debra Hopkins, 1125 Danielson Pike, North Scituate R1 02857, (401) 647-7281.

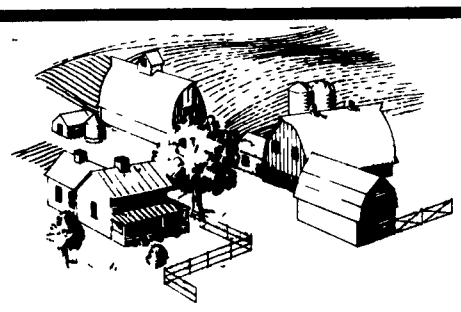
Farm Bureau Urges Senate To Pass Clean Water Act

ALBANY, N.Y.—The 25,000-member New York Farm Bureau is calling on Senators Alfonse D'Amato and Daniel Patrick Moynihan to support a reauthorization of the Clean Water Act that mirrors the recently approved House legislation, HR 961.

According to NYFB President John Lincoln, "New York farmers need common sense brought to the Clean Water Act. We believe the House version of the Clean Water Act does just that."

Lincoln said, "The final version of the Clean Water Act should contain a wetland definition that protects true wetlands, compensation for diminished use and value of the land, and establishes a non-point source pollution program that maintains state primacy and emphasizes voluntary incentive-based solutions."

Lincoln said, "Farmers can ill-afford a wetlands policy that continues that continues to protect every 'mud puddle' in America. We support the protection of true wetlands and need public policy that allows only true wetlands to be protected."



FARM MANAGEMENT

CHOOSING A GUARDIAN

Alan W. Strock
Extension Agent
Farm Management

Death and taxes may not be anyone's favorite topics, but consumers seem more willing to plan for them than the illness and disability that may occur anytime. Most people are sensible and stoic enough to accept that they will eventually die.

Consequently, they plan for death by having a legally valid will. However, most people seem reluctant to provide for someone to take care of matters while they are still alive but incapable of managing their affairs.

A legal guardianship assigns the financial responsibilities of one person to another, enabling the guardian to have access to bank accounts and other investments, pay bills, make purchases, and in general take care of the ward's financial transactions.

People who need a guardian because they are physically or mentally unable to manage their finances get one by two methods: 1.) They can assign one themselves or secondly, 2.) Do nothing.

By doing nothing, the person is leaving this important decision in the hands of a court. When a court decides, they consider kinship and geographical proximity. Even so, the court may appoint a guardian that the person would not have chosen for themselves.

In addition, a court-appointed guardian faces a tremendous burden of paperwork and bureaucracy. Each purchase and many financial transactions must be justified to the court's satisfaction. Using the ward's money to purchase a new nightgown for an incapacitated sister can become a nightmare of paperwork and running around for the court-appointed guardian.

The solution is easy. With the help of a lawyer, perhaps the one who wrote your will, draw up a simple, durable power of attorney that will assign responsibility to a guardian of your choice. This makes things easier for the ward and the guardian.

The problem with a durable power of attorney is that it can be drawn up only when the person is still capable of making important legal decisions. When you're incapacitated, it's too late.

So protect yourself and your family by drawing up a durable power of attorney. Why not do it today?

Feed Dealer Joins White Oak Mills

ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster Co.)—White Oak Mills has announced its newest dealer. Mike Anderson, Schellsburg, services Bedford, Blair, Somerset, and Fulton counties with a complete line of feeds.

Anderson's responsibilities include taking phone orders and delivering bagged feeds to area customers from his warehouse facility.

Having earned an associate degree in swine confinement management from Ellsworth Community College, Iowa, in 1986, Anderson worked for White Oak Mills from 1986 to 1989 as an assistant manager and manager of several swine production units. For the past six years, he managed a family-owned 120-sow farrow-to-feeder pig and crop farming operation.

Mike Anderson

He serves as a member of the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau and the Bedford County Fair Board.

Preventive Maintenance Saves Tire Repairs

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — Don't let a leaky tractor tire rob hours from your workday. Take a preventive maintenance approach by using a tire sealant to stop air loss, protect against flat tires, and reduce downtime.

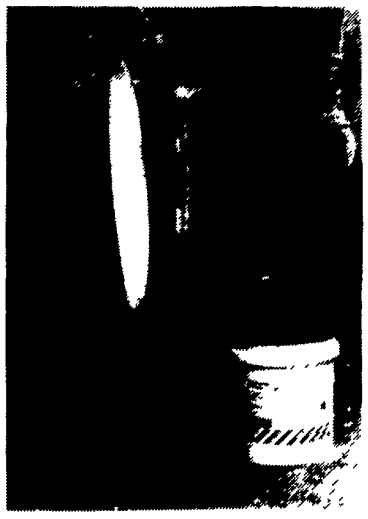
Tires remain the number one cause of downtime for farmers, said Carmen Martin, product and pricing analyst, New Holland Parts and Service Operations. However, a tire sealant can help farmers save on their service repair bills plus, provide longer, maintenance-free vehicle work hours. Practicing preventive maintenance with tire sealants costs little compared to the time and money it saves.

According to Martin, many New Holland dealers, as standard operating practice, install tire sealant in new equipment tires prior to delivery, so the equipment is ready to go when customers are. It's also a good idea for farmers or dealers to install tire sealant as part of a pre-season equipment checkup.

"When a puncture of up to three-sixteenths of an inch in diameter occurs, the escaping air forces the sealant directly to the leak, making a solid, permanent repair from the inside out. However, if the tire's structure is destroyed by a slice or large puncture, the tire can not seal," Martin said. "Our sealants are guaranteed to perform for the life of the tread, always maintaining air pressure in the tire.

"Use a sealant that conditions the inner-liner to prevent dry rot and cracking, which can lead to chronic slow air loss and early tire failure," Martin said. "The sealant helps the tire maintain a constant recommended air pressure."

Martin said a major rubber company has verified the compatibility of New Holland sealants with inner-liner compounds. The special chemical formulation of the New Holland sealant protects the liner from degradation and keeps it resilient. The sealant also protects the tube in the same manner, helping to prevent tube rot.



Using quality tire sealants, such as those available from New Holland, can help save on service repair bills while providing longer maintenance-free work hours.

DMI Takes Bold Step For Safety

GOODFIELD, Ill. — DMI, Inc. has taken a bold initiative by adopting, as standard equipment with no deduct option, warning and taillights on all of its fall pull-type primary tillage products.

This product decision was in response to DMI's goal to improve visibility of the implement during transport.

In support of industry self-regulation, equipment standards have been developed by ASAE, FEMA (Farm Equipment Manufacturers' Association), and EMI (Equipment Manufactures' Institute). DMI urges and recommends other farm equipment manufacturers to adopt these standards. By moving forward with this initiative, DMI makes health and safety a key criteria in its product development process in addition to durability, reliability, and performance.

DMI, Inc. has adopted as standard equipment with no deduct option, warning and tail lights on all of its fall pull-type primary products.

These warning and tail lights are designed to comply with ASAE/ANSI Standard S279.9-JUL93. When properly installed, as explained in the accessory instrumentation manual, owners will receive the following benefits:

- The location of the lights will show approaching traffic the approximate width and length of the implement. (These lights are in addition to reflectors and SMVs.)
- The amber warning lights, which are visible from both the front and the rear, will flash in unison with the tractor's turn signals.
- A storage socket is provided on the implement for storage of the seven pin connector on the implement wiring harness to keep the electrical contacts clean.
- Implements that are designed to pull other implements or wagons will be equipped with a harness including a rear mounted seven pin receptacle for the trailing equipment's light system.

Asgrow Launches Roundup Ready Soybean Varieties

KALAMAZOO, Mich. — Soybean producers have another option in their weed-control programs with the introduction of six new Asgrow Roundup Ready™ soybean varieties. The introductions come on the heels of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency approval in late May allowing Roundup® herbicide to be sprayed over Roundup Ready soybeans.

The six Asgrow Roundup Ready varieties are positioned in Group III through Group VI maturities, and are being produced this year for planting in 1996. For '96, Asgrow will have the widest range of varieties available and more than 80 percent of the supply of Roundup Ready soybeans, according to Wayne Hoener, Asgrow soybean product manager.

Asgrow Roundup Ready varieties will be designated with the prefix "AG" followed by a four-digit number ending in "01", i.e. Asgrown AG3001. This distinguishes them from traditional Asgrow varieties, which carry an "A" before a four-digit number.

Asgrow will have hundreds of Roundup Ready demonstration plots planted in soybean production areas throughout the U.S. In addition, trials will be planted at all Asgrow Concept Farms, which will host Technology Days and other events this summer to introduce Roundup Ready soybeans to customers.

"Our research team began crossing with Roundup Ready germ plasm in 1991," said Alan Walker, Ph.D. Asgrow director of soybean research. "We've been putting the Roundup Ready gene into our new soybean genetics and the effort has paid off."

Roundup Ready soybeans offer growers more weed-control options by allowing use of Roundup herbicide in a crop where it previously could be used only in precise spot sprays or in rope-wick applications.

- AG3001. AG3001 is an early group III Roundup Ready variety that has very high yield potential and excellent emergence. It is adapted to conventional and no-till environments, with moderate tolerance to Phytophthora root rot. AG3001 is an indeterminate plant type with an open canopy. It has average protein and oil contents.
- AG3501. AG3501 is a mid Group III Roundup Ready variety with high yield potential and good emergence scores. It offers excellent standability with moderate plant height. Disease resistance characteristics of AG 3501 include multi-race resistance to Phytophthora root rot with the Rps_1^k gene, moderate tolerance to brown stem rot and resistance to powdery mildew. It is adapted to conventional and no-till environments. AG3501 is an indeterminate plant type with an intermediate canopy and average protein and oil contents.
- AG4401. A mid group IV Roundup Ready variety, AG4401 offers high yield potential and very good standability in a tall plant type. It has a moderate emergence score. AG4401 is resistant to Race 3 of soybean cyst nematode and moderately resistant to Race 14. It also offers moderate tolerance to Phytophthora root rot. AG4401 is an indeterminate plant type with intermediate canopy. In research trials, it has shown above-average protein content and average oil content.
- AG4701. AG4701 is a late Group IV Roundup Ready variety with high yield potential and moderate standability in a tall plant type. It has very good emergence and is a good choice for double cropping. AG4701 is resistant to soybean cyst nematode (Races 3 and 14). It also offers moderate tolerance to Phytophthora root rot and moderate tolerance to charcoal rot. AG4701 is an indeterminate plant type with a bushy canopy and average protein and oil contents.

Ingersoll-Rand Acquires Melroe Company, Other Clark Units

WOODCLIFF LAKE, N.J.—Ingersoll-Rand Company announced that it completed the acquisition of Melroe Company, as well as other business units owned by Clark Equipment Company, for $86 per share, or approximately $1.5 billion.

Melroe, based in North Dakota, manufactures a line of self-propelled spraying vehicles under the Spray-Coupe brand name for use in applying agricultural herbicides and pesticides. Melroe also makes Bobcat skid-steer loaders, which are multi-purpose utility vehicles ideal for use in a variety of excavation, earth moving, or material handling applications.

The boards of directors of both companies approved the acquisition on April 9. With the acquisition, Ingersoll-Rand also gains Blaw-Knox pavers, Clark-Hurth axles and transmissions, and Club Car golf carts and light-utility vehicles.

"The Melroe product lines enjoy excellent reputations within their market segments. Not only are they complementary to Ingersoll-Rand's businesses, but they are market leaders with strong potential for growth around the world," said James E. Perrella, chairman, president, and chief executive officer of Ingersoll-Rand Company.

Kuhn Introduces New Shredder Line

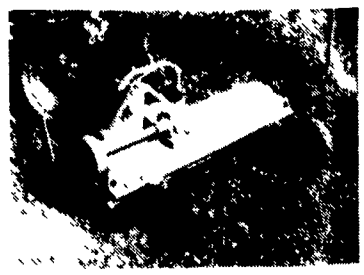
VERNON, N.Y.—A new line of shredders has been released from Kuhn Farm Machinery, Inc., Vernon, New York, and Kuhn S.A., Saverne, France.

The new WMU shredder line is ideal for topping pastures and meadows, shredding of set-aside land and scrub, and also for mowing parks and gardens.

The new WMU shredders are extremely versatile and are available in working widths from 7 feet 6 inches to 9 feet 11 inches. Smaller units are also available and are part of the "VK" and "VKD" ranges.

The operation of the WMU shredders projects the residue behind the roller to develop a mulch foundation that will protect the ground from dryness.

The forged scoop hammer knives are universal and can be used for shredding grass and light wood. These knives ensure fine shredding and even distribution of irregular growth and scrub.



A new line of shredders has been released from Kuhn Farm Machinery, Inc., Vernon, New York, and Kuhn S.A., Saverne, France.

The new WMU shredder line is ideal for topping pastures and meadows, shredding of set-aside land and scrub, and also for mowing parks and gardens.

The WMU shredders offer a low profile design which makes it easy to pass under low tree branches. With the standard mechanical or optional hydraulic side shift shredding near tree trunks or stumps is made easy.

Limousin Breeders Attend National Conference

ENGLEWOOD, Colo.—If education is the road to success, then Limousin breeders from 18 states and Canada were on the fast track May 31-June 2 in Oklahoma City for a national beef education short course which focused on industry realities and opportunities for the Limousin breed.

"Having cattlemen from across the nation and Canada invest the time and money to attend such a conference speaks highly of Limousin breeders' commitment to not only improving their genetics, but to understanding the total industry, from commercial cow/calf, to feedlot, to packer, to retailer," said John Edwards, executive vice-president for the North American Limousin Foundation (NALF).

Participants from Pennsylvania included Roy Neer-Quail Run Ranch, Slippery Rock and Tom Soboleski-Windridge Farm, Waterford.

For their time, these cattlemen received a bird's eye view of the industry and the changes going on within it. While there were no easy answers, industry themes revolved around product and price discovery.

As an example, Tom Meyer, corporate sales and training manager for Excel, one of the nation's top three beef packers explained, "Quality is where we're headed today...it's not just the retailer who needs to sell beef."

Ralph Chain, owner of Chain Land and Cattle, a sprawling commercial cow/calf, stocker and feedlot operation based in Oklahoma added that if cattlemen want a premium, they have to be willing to build a superior product first.

Glenn Dolezal, professor of meat science at Oklahoma State University, explained, "First, you have to know what type of cattle you are producing."

In fact, that's how breeders spent much of two days, learning more about their product live and on the rail. As well, they found out more about NALF's Commercial Marketing program which helps breeders offer their commercial customers marketing alternatives while collecting feedlot and carcass data.

The Limousin breed is the number one Continental breed in the United States as measured by annual NALF registrations. The breed is noted for its calving ease, leanness, cutability, and feed efficiency.

John Edwards, center, executive vice-president of the North American Limousin Foundation led breeders from 18 states and Canada through live cattle evaluation of breeding stock and market steers. Participants followed the market animals on to the rail, learning more about the needs of each industry segment.

Romney Association Announces National Show, Sale

CORVALLIS, Ore.—Some of the best Romney sheep in the United States will be on view in September at the Eastern States Exposition, Springfield, Mass., where the American Romney Breeders Association will be conducting its annual show.

The prestigious show takes place only once every three years, and this is the first time it will be on the East Coast. In conjunction with the show, the ARBA is sponsoring its first-ever National Sale.

The National Show to be judged by Tom Brown of Troy, Ohio, will feature both white and natural-colored Romney lambs and yearlings, and will take place Sept. 23. The Youth Show will run concurrently with the National Show. White and natural-colored Romney fleeces will be judged on Sept. 23. For an entry booklet and form, contact the Eastern States Exposition, 1305 Memorial Ave., W. Springfield, (413) 787-0124. All entries are due by 5 p.m. on Aug. 15.

The ARBA's annual meeting and banquet will follow the natural-colored show, beginning at 5 p.m. at the Storrowton Tavern on the Exposition grounds.

The National Sale for white and natural-colored yearlings and lambs, will follow the ARBA's annual meeting, the evening of Sept. 23. To enter sheep in the sale, or to obtain a sale catalog, contact Banner Sale Management, PO Box 500, Cuba IL 61427, (309) 785-5058. The deadline for entries is Aug. 1.

For information about Romney sheep and the ARBA, contact John Landers, Secretary, American Romney Breeders Association, 29515 Weslinn Dr., Corvallis OR 97333, (503) 753-7603.

PLANNING FOR 1995 FEED STORAGE... WILTED HAY...SILAGE...HI-MOISTURE GRAINS

"The major costs on dairy and livestock farms are related to FEED: production - harvesting - storage - purchases - delivery to animals." "As Margins Narrow, Dairymen Need To Invest In Efficiency: This Can Have As Great An Influence On Profit As Milk Price Changes."

Protect your valuable forages from rain, sleet, snow, mud, ice and wind. Reduce the stress! Increase the efficiency of your feeds, labor, and livestock.

At SOLLENBERGER SILOS CORP. we know a lot about feed storage and handling... we've been in the business since 1908. If you are thinking about new or additional feed storage, give us a call. We'd like to contribute to your success.

Rural Economy

Build with Centurydrain roofing and siding and you've built a money-wise structure. Full-hard, high tensile galvanized steel, and an exclusive drain channel for a dry interior give you a building that'll handle years of hard duty and hard weather. Good looking, too. Crisp lines and plenty of bright, long-lasting colors make Wheeling Centurydrain as handsome as it is economical.

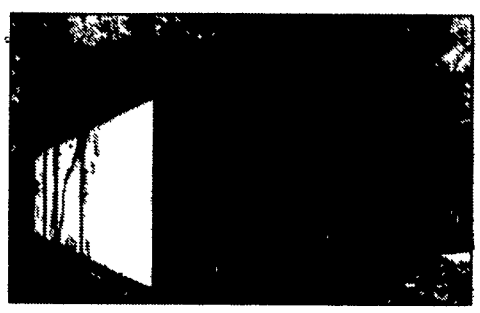
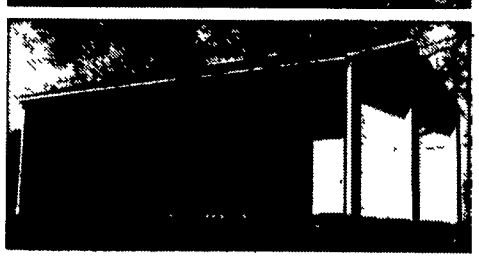
Side with Alumax ALU-TUFF Steel





When you put up a building, you expect it to be attractive and to last. A building constructed with ALU-TUFF will meet those expectations. That's because ALU-TUFF is made using top-quality materials, super-tough protective coatings, and a unique rib design that's both functional and attractive.

Years from now when other buildings are starting to show their age, your building will still look good.

- A STRONG PROFILE
  High 3/4-inch ribs on nine-inch centers give ALU-TUFF exceptionally high spanning properties for its weight and thickness, while stiffening ribs in flat areas prevent rippling.
- MADE TO LAST
  To keep Alu-Tuff working hard and looking good for years to come, we protect it with an oven-cured system of four different coatings.
- A GREAT LOOKING PANEL
  You don't have to sacrifice good looks to get a tough steel panel.
- MORE QUALITY FEATURES
  Each ALU-TUFF sheet is 38 inches wide to provide 36-inch coverage. That's wide enough to minimize the number of side laps, yet narrow enough to be easy to handle.

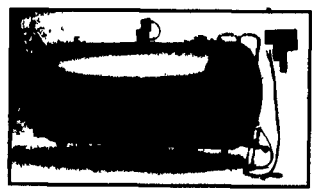
MUELLER DAIRY FARM EQUIPMENT

Scroll-Compressor Technology
New in 1994



You may pay less for some dairy farm equipment... but it can cost you more!

Equipment cost is not the only cost of cooling milk

In the long run, total operating costs of a Mueller® milk-cooling system are generally substantially less than those of "bargain-brand" milk-cooling equipment.

Example	Mueller	Competition
Cost of equipment	$41 000	$28 000
Cost of electricity @ .08 kW for 12 000 lbs milk/day for 10 years	$17 550	$22 850
Total operating cost for ten years	$48 550	$50 850
Savings	$ 2 300

Cut stall clean-out time by 50% with a Millcreek Compact Spreader.

"The spreading efficiency sure outweighs the price. This is a wonderful machine. I couldn't be more pleased."
EARL SINKS - Brock, Texas

Say "Good-Bye" to back-breaking manure handling and cut stall clean-out time in half. Hook an affordable Millcreek Compact Spreader to your 10 hp garden tractor, take it right to the stall for easy loading. No more wheelbarrow.

Millcreek Spreaders last and last

Since spreaders are our specialty, we put more into each one. For example our 20-year guaranteed floor will never rust or rot. Positive chain drive provides excellent spreading action. And tough steel construction holds up to rugged farm use. Seven sizes, for 1-horse barns to 50-horse stables. PTO and ground drive models available.

Filth-Breeding flies cause disease ...

THE SOLUTION:
Filth-Breeding Fly Parasites!

We're offering three mixed species of tiny, nocturnal, non-swarming parasitic wasps: Muscidifurax zaraptor, M. raptorellus and Spalangia endius.

These tiny parasites work by laying their eggs in the pest flies' pupae. The eggs then hatch, and as they develop, they consume their host the immature filth-breeding fly.

Instead of a new pest fly hatching out, a new parasite will hatch out instead. The cycle will repeat.

Positive fly control can be obtained without the use of chemicals. And the use of these parasites, with adult fly trapping, has proven itself a safe and effective means of coping with a potentially severe problem

Use this approach in any operation: beef, equine, dairy, poultry, swine, canine and many more

For information pertaining to setting up a season-long program, pricing, or any questions, please call ... C & M FARM SERVICES.

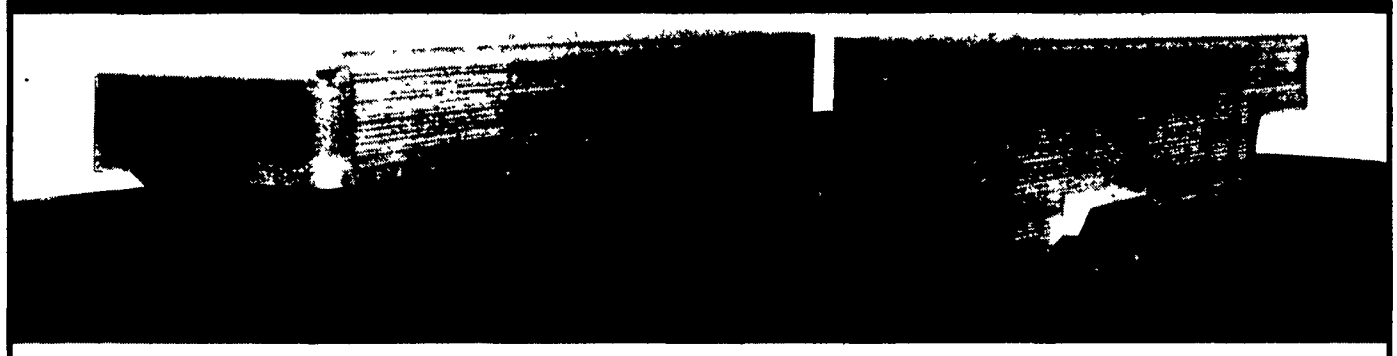
Anything Less Isn't Good Enough



If livestock is your business, Eby Gooseneck Trailers include these features to protect the livestock you transport:
- Durable all-aluminum construction with less weight for more payload
- Axles, wheels, tires and brakes that are designed to carry the weight the trailer will hold
- Gates and doors designed for easy loading/unloading
- Proven post and slat design to control airflow and easily close up for winter conditions
- Aerodynamic design to improve fuel economy

Eby Gooseneck Trailers are available in lengths from 12 to 32 feet with a choice of widths and inside heights. We offer every custom option, including stainless steel front end for great looks.

Whatever kind of livestock you transport, you can rely on EBY products to do the job right.

We hear you.

We know that making hay can be one of the hardest, hottest, dustiest jobs a farmer has to face. And a big gamble, too, when bad weather is on the horizon.

So when you asked for a tractor with the power and versatility to handle every haying operation from cutting and conditioning to baling and transporting, we heard you.

And when you told us you needed the kind of reliability and durability that'll never leave another windrow stranded in a wet field, we heard you.

And we responded with even more improvements to the industry's most advanced mid-range tractors, the Case International MAXXUM® 5200 Series.

That's why you'll now find a handy "neutral" position built into the standard full-power MAXXUM shuttle shift, allowing you to put the tractor in neutral without using the foot clutch - a real convenience when tying off round bales.

The MAXXUM cab is now more monitor-friendly than ever, with easy rear-window cable access and two new mounting points in the cab - a definite advantage when working with productive, monitored haying equipment.

And as always, every MAXXUM is built big-tractor heavy, with 2 1/2 in. thick cast frame rails, 7700 lbs. of rear-hitch capacity, and an expansive cab with 44 sq. ft. of glass - an indispensable benefit when keeping an eye on the windrow or working with high-productivity tools like the Case International 8312 Disc Mower Conditioner.

What size MAXXUM is right for you? With four models ranging from 80 to 112 PTO hp, you'll have a lot to discuss with your Case IH dealer. And remember to ask about Total Product Support, our commitment to the service and parts that turn a sale into a true partnership.

AVIAN INFLUENZA

Barrett S. Cowen, MS
Dept. Of Veterinary Science

Avian influenza (A.I.) is a constant threat to the commercial poultry industries of Pennsylvania, the nation and the world.

A.I. in chickens, turkeys, guinea fowl, ducks, and other migratory waterfowl can range from an infection with no signs of disease to an acute fatal disease.

When one focuses on the commercial poultry industry, that segment of the U.S. industry which has historically been at greatest risk for A.I. has been the turkey industry because of the management practices followed (such as open-range rearing). In the case of commercial chicken/egg production, A.I. has only been a sporadic problem because of confinement rearing practices.

Risk of A.I. in these production sectors is directly related to opportunity for and frequency of exposure to avian influenza virus (AIV) — for example, high for range reared turkeys and low for chickens reared in confinement.

AI is caused by type A avian influenza viruses which have two different surface structures composed of hemagglutinin (HA) and neuraminidase (NA), of which there are 14 and 9 subtypes, respectively. In turkeys, A.I. is usually a mild to moderate respiratory or reproductive disease caused by numbers of different HA and NA subtypes, but can be considerably more severe (up to 77 percent mortality) in poults when secondary pathogens (for example, e. coli) are involved. A.I. in chickens can also be caused by several different subtypes of AIV and can be symptomless, mild, or very severe with signs ranging from decreased activity and egg production, respiratory distress, diarrhea, swelling of the face and head, nervous disorders and high mortality.

The most severe form of this disease is called "highly pathogenic A.I. (HPAI)" and has been most frequently associated with H5 and H7 subtypes of AIV.

AIV may be transmitted directly through contact with infected birds or indirectly through contact with contaminated feed, water, equipment, cages, insects or motor vehicles. Transmission has also been associated with live bird markets, haulers, dealers, and auctions. Humans are also frequently involved in flock-to-flock spread of AIV through movement of contaminated clothing, footwear, or other items.

Only a few documented outbreaks of HPAI have occurred in poultry in the last 20 years. The 1983-84 outbreak of H5N2 in Pennsylvania was the first HPAI in the US since 1929. More recently, HPAI has been reported in Australia (1985, 1992) and England (1991). Currently HPAI outbreaks are in progress in Mexico (H5 subtype) and Pakistan (H7 subtype). Such information confirms that no area of the world is immune to this potentially devastating disease of poultry.

The outbreak of A.I. in Mexico creates some risk for the introduction of HPAI or potentially highly pathogenic A.I. into U.S./Pennsylvania poultry, but this risk is probably considerably smaller than the ongoing threat of AIV introduction presented by wild birds, particularly migratory waterfowl (an important AIV reservoir).

In general, there are four sources of primary AIV infection in domestic poultry: wild birds, other species of domestic poultry, exotic captive birds, and mammals (such as swine). Wild birds, primarily waterfowl, historically have been incriminated in A.I. outbreaks.

Surveillance of waterfowl and shorebirds has demonstrated that a large AIV reservoir does exist in these birds, as antibodies to nearly every AIV subtype have been detected. Although confined poultry are generally at less risk of AIV exposure, it can occur, especially if a pond or other waterfowl habitat is located on the premises.

Another important source of AIV infection for the commercial poultry industry is other species of domestic poultry, especially those sold at auctions and in live bird markets. AIV exposed domestic birds or environments contaminated by them (e.g., live bird markets) are potential sources of AIV for Pennsylvania's commercial poultry industry. A good example of this threat was the documented H5N2 outbreak in commercial poultry of Pennsylvania in 1985-1986 which was traced back to a New York City live bird market.

Biosecurity and surveillance are key ingredients in the prevention and control of A.I. Good biosecurity practices should reduce the risk of A.I. or other important poultry disease introduction and spread. Although optimal biosecurity practices cannot be followed in all poultry premises, the ideal practices should include:

- "All-in, all-out" poultry management.
- Removal of all organic material followed by the cleaning and disinfection of houses between flocks.
- Prevent poultry from coming in contact with stored equipment or trash.
- Keep other animals, such as pets, wildlife and livestock, out of contact with poultry.
- Maintain locks on poultry houses and gates on farm access roads.
- Clean and disinfect motor vehicles prior to coming to the premises.
- Keep human traffic to a minimum and permit only necessary personnel into poultry houses.
- Require that clean coveralls and disinfected boots be worn by all personnel entering poultry houses.
- Require persons having recent contact with other poultry to shower before entering your poultry houses.
- Thoroughly clean and disinfect any equipment used within a poultry house.

Wild birds, and domestic birds in live bird markets, are ongoing sources of AIV and a potential threat of HPAI for Pennsylvania's large commercial poultry industry. Such a threat demands a constant surveillance program for this important industry.

Pennsylvania's A.I. surveillance program is one of the best in the U.S. and insures poultry producers that A.I. is not circulating undetected in their flocks. Maximum participation in the program is important if maximum reliability/benefit is to be realized. Therefore, it is very important that the industry submit sick birds to their regional state diagnostic laboratory in a timely fashion and that samples for testing be forwarded to the appropriate laboratories on a regular basis.

Further, the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture (PDA) asks that producers of broilers, turkeys, and roasters submit 10 blood samples per flock for AIV antibody testing. Ten eggs per month per house are recommended for commercial layers and mature breeder flocks. PDA also monitors and samples auctions, poultry shows, and live bird markets in Philadelphia for the presence of AIV.

Iowa, Neb. Youth Exhibit Limousin Champions

ENGLEWOOD, Colo. — Youth from seven Midwestern states made for stiff competition at the 1995 Heartland Regional Junior Limousin Show in Council Bluffs, Iowa on June 1-3.

A 984-pound Limousin steer exhibited by Andrea Luedtke, Wisner, Neb. was named grand champion steer by judge Neal Thompson of Springfield, Mo. Reserve champion steer honors went to a 996-pound steer exhibited by Adam Nielson, Arlington, S.D.

Debra Vorthmann, McClelland, Iowa joined the winner's circle with the grand champion bred and owned bull, VORD Donitello 435D. The 9/1/94 bull is sired by YKCC Top Cop 232B.

SLVL Angel Cookie 140D, exhibited by Jamie Straight, Logan, Iowa, won grand champion female after topping Division III. The 1/23/94 female is a daughter of Wulf's Quarterback 4222B. Also from Division III, taking reserve champion female honors was SLVL Senorita, a 2/6/94 daughter of Polled Sonic exhibited by Karen Harrod, Flat Rock, Ind.

In Division I, Debra Vorthmann exhibited VORD Daniella 425D to championship honors. The 4/5/94 female is a daughter of YKCC Top Cop 232B. Reserve champion honors in Division I went to C L Gretchen, a 9/12/94 daughter of Wulf's Rambler 8400X exhibited by Billy Biscoe, Cottage Grove, Minn.

Erica Vorthmann, McClelland, Iowa led out the top in Division II with VORT Delight 417D, a 3/21/94 daughter of LKCC Tomahawk's Touchdown. For reserve champion in Division II, judge Thompson selected ROMN Dominique 1D, a 3/28/94 daughter of YKCC Medallion 342Y exhibited by Adam Nielson.

In the showmanship competition, senior champion honors went to Debra Vorthmann while junior champion honors went to Andrea Luedtke.

Outside the show arena, youth participated in public speaking, extemporaneous speaking and sales talk contests to accumulate points, in addition to points earned for showing, for overall sweepstakes awards. Topping the sweepstakes divisions were junior - Megan Rolf, Leroy, Kan.; intermediate - Jamie Straight; and senior - Debra Vorthmann.

First Of Its Kind

The 8315 is the first mower conditioner of its kind to combine a center-pivot tongue and mechanical drive with 15'3" (4.65m) rotary disc cutting performance. With its wide cutting width, the 8315 is designed to handle large acreage hay production.

A hydraulic center-pivot tongue and swivel gearbox hitch enables the 8315 to cut fields in both directions or turn corners with ease. Its rotary disc header features a heavy-duty spur gear cutterbar and 10 oval cutting discs that are powered by a belt and gearbox drive. High-speed discs are heat treated spring steel for durability and spin at 2,600 rpm to slice through the toughest crop conditions. Header tilt is also hydraulically controlled from the cab.

The wide 110" (2.79m) steel-on-steel intermeshing conditioning rolls feature automatic separation for non-plug operation, and adjustable roll spacing and pressure. A swath baffle and adjustable windrow forming shields are standard.

A premium quality galvanized auger designed for low maintenance operation.

Mayrath introduces the all new "InLine Drive" series of portable grain augers. Mayrath has combined operational efficiency with long term dependability providing you with a high quality, GALVANIZED auger at a very affordable price. The revolutionary "InLine Drive" system minimizes the number of moving parts . . . greatly reducing costly downtime and maintenance in the future.

The unique "InLine Drive" design features an internally mounted gearbox inside of an expanded, bell shaped tube housing. Auger flighting is positioned to allow a high volume of unrestricted grain flow around the internal gearbox. A new intake design utilizes double flighting and a cupped intake guard to offer a high capacity, complete cleanout operation. A specially engineered hopper bolts directly on top of the intake guard, further enhancing the augers capacity.

Best Buys in Used Equipment

We Stand Behind Every Axial Flow Combine Reconditioned by Hoober Combine Specialists!

Don Carper Says,

"When a salesman trades an Axial Flow Combine, he has my men prepare a detailed report of everything needed to repair the machine so it is ready to work with no or minimal downtime during the year's grain and corn/bean season. My men and I want the combine fixed right! We're the one's who stand behind it when a farmer buys it"

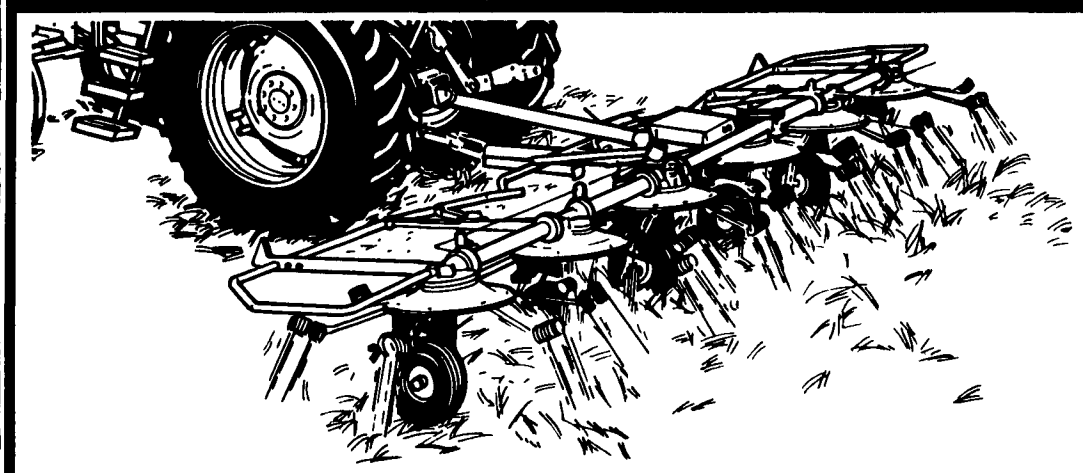
22'8" WIDE



FLUFF 3 WINDROWS IN ONE PASS

You'll cover acres fast, and bale or chop sooner with the Model 169 tedder. It uses six rotors to ted a wide 22'8" area. That's wide enough to fluff three windrows from a 9' mower-conditioner. Yet transport width is a narrow 9'8" for easy maneuvering. The frame of the "169" is fully articulated, so it hugs the ground to fluff all of your crop for fast drying.

Beat the weather with the Model 169. Stop by for details.

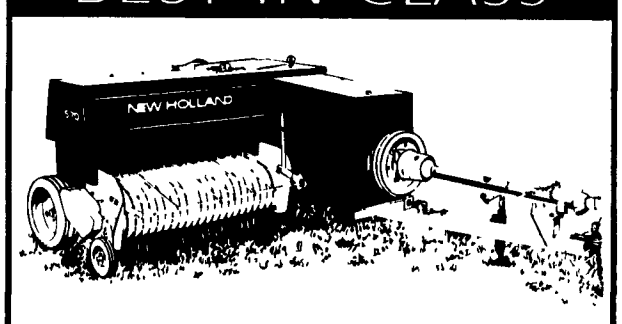
CAPACITY AND CONVENIENCE

The Model 499 Haybine® mower-conditioner gives you 12-foot capacity with pivot-tongue convenience, plus:
- Patented Rolareel header—no auger needed.
- Fast, clean cutting from dual sickles.
- Thorough, plug-free conditioning from chevron-design rolls

Put a "499" to work for you

NEW HOLLAND

BEST-IN-CLASS



PERFORMANCE AND CAPACITY

The "570" New Holland square baler brings together performance, reliability and capacity.
- Rotary feeding system. Adds consistency and bale quality.
- Faster plunger stoke. 93 SPM. A Cat. six drive-line and increased slip clutch setting add capacity.
- Wide Super-Sweep™ pickup. 65" wide to get those big scattered windrows.
- Stronger materials. In bale case and plunger.
- Gear-driven tying mechanisms. Wire or twine

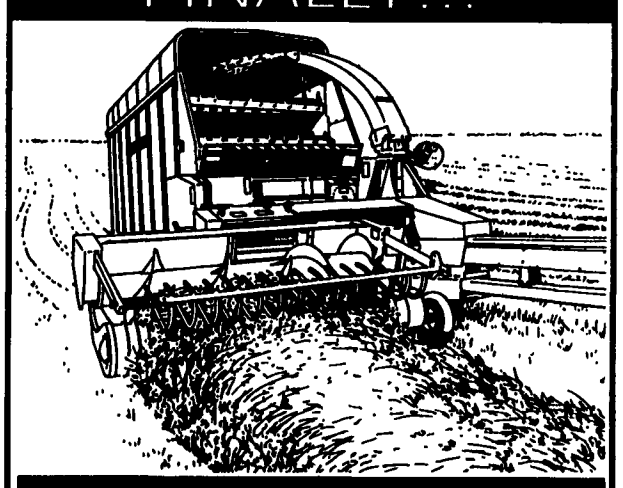
FINALLY...



YOU'RE IN CONTROL

The Model 900 forage harvester puts you in control of your harvest:
- Rugged 21-inch, 12-knife cutterhead for a uniform chop.
- Exclusive flip-up feedrolls provide convenient access to the shearbar and smooth roll scraper.
- Electromagnetic clutches provide instant response in controlling feedroll and attachment drives.
- Optional Metalert® 11 metal detector protects cutterhead and your valuable animals.

Look To Massey-Ferguson First.

If your crop and harvesting conditions were always ideal, you might be able to get by with a lessor combine. But in the real world of down, tangled crops, rocks, weeds, wet weather, soft ground and early winters you need M-F 8450 and MF 8460 combine performance and reliability.
For example, an efficient conventional cylinder is teamed with a Positive Separation Process for greater harvesting capacity.
And Mercedes Benz diesel engines are respected world wide for their reliability, torque reserve and fuel economy.
But most of all, owners like the overall quality and reliability that make harvesting quick and profitable.

For The Way You Farm Today

The advanced air-cooled engines in the 7600 Series eliminate 40% of the parts that cause engine downtime. No gaskets, no radiators, no water pumps, no hoses, no thermostats, no anti-freeze. Just hassle-free maintenance Precision individual Bosch fuel injection pumps provide quicker starts, better fuel economy and greater productivity. These high performance 89 to 128 PTO hp tractors also come with 24F/12R transmissions for more versatility. With all-wheel drive and comfortable operator cabs, you get maximum efficiency. Plus, they're backed by a strong AGCO warranty – four years or 4,000 hours as standard See your local AGCO Allis dealer today, and ask about flexible AGCO financing.

PURINA

SUPER-EXT PERFORMS

Clover Hill West, owned by the Bill Johnson family and managed by Scott Spencer, milk 150 Jersey dairy cows on their farm in Stuarts Draft, VA. The cows are fed a TMR consisting of corn silage, alfalfa haylage, alfalfa hay, ryelage, and Purina Super EXT Complete.

Pictured here is Scott Spencer, Purina dairy agent Jon Almarode, and Dynamic Sooner Vicki, who is in her third lactation, with a 305 day projected milk of 24,224 lbs.

PERFORMS RESULTS

DATE	RHA	FAT	PRO	LBS. MILK	DIM
OCT. 93	14491	703	539	41.6	159 (Started Purina)
OCT. 94	15820	745	556	52.2	140
MAY 95	17068	769	596	58.7	151

- Scott's comments are: "I can't get a concentrated energy source as convenient or economical anyplace else. Super EXT helps the cows keep body condition , and reproductive efficiency has not been hindered, even with the higher production."
- Purina would like to thank Scott and Mr. Johnson for sharing their records.
- In 1994, the top 4 Jersey herds in Virginia for milk fed Purina. To learn more about Purina dairy products and how we can help you achieve top production, contact --
